The Church at Wakefield.

The new Episcopal church at Wakefield was consecrated on Sunday last by His Lordship Bishop Richardson in the presence of a large congregation. The consecration service began at 10.30 a m in which the bishop was assisted by the rector, the Rev A W Teed and the Rev C Maimann. The service was very impressive and as the majority of the congregation had never attended a consecration service, it was followed and taken part in with much earnestness. The bishop's sermon pointed out that the object of church building was to inculcate reverence and be a visible witness to a higher life. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock a confirmation service was held, and again the capacity of the church was overtaxed. Four were confirmed. The bishop's addresses on confirmation were plain, forcible and practical. In the evening at 8 o'clock, evensong was said at which the Rev Mr Maimann officiated. This was a red letter day as it was a joyful ending of years of labor in the construction of the building, and the beginning of religious exercises and spiritual work in God's own house in this community.—Com.

The County Court.

There was a very large attendance at Court from all sections of the county this week. The chief interest centred of course in the case against B Frank Smith, who was accused of fraudulently receiving a quantity of saw logs without the consent of the owners.

His Honor Judge Carleton in his charge to the Grand Inquest of the County took occasion to comment quite severely upon the recent escape of one Sam Hudlin from the jail. There was an indictment before the Court charging Hudlin with assault and with escaping by breaking jail. This was the only criminal matter besides the Smith case.

The Grand Jury answered to their names as follows: George McLeod, Banford Colpitts, George Arnold, J T G Carr, J J Hale, Geo L Mallory, Enoch Phillips, Harry G Noble, Walter Treacartin, Frank Boyer, Charles B Snow, Charles R Watson, Charles F Rogers, William Lilley, Charles L Smith, Henry Tedlie, Gilford Perkins, George F Burpee, Hedley V Mooers, Warren Lindow, Reginald Dibblee, George Sharp, Albert Fields, Arthur Gibson.

After going into their room for the purpose, they returned and announced that they had selected Charles L Smith for their foreman. At this point adjournment was made for dinner.

After a short delay the jurors returned to their duties, and began hearing witnesses. There was some testimony in the Hudlin case, and a true bill found without much ceremony. In the Smith case there was a protracted examination of the Crown's witnesses. Lewis H Bliss, J Fraser Gregory, A R Foster, Tize Dyer, Geo Cushing and Wm Hopkins were called, after which there was some little discussion as to what course should be followed. Grand juries of course do their work in private, yet it is generally believed that a motion to throw out the indictment was made, but received scant support, after which a motion to bring in a true bill was carried without division.

The Foreman announced that the Grand Jury had called the Sheriff to testify concerning the escape of Hudlin and were satisfied that no blame could be attached to that official. His Honor thanked them for their report and attention to public duty, after which he was pleased to discharge them from further attendance. Wm M Connell, Clerk of the County Court, in the absence of the Solicitor General, appeared in behalf of the Crown. Mr F B Carvell K C, M P announced that he was present representing his clients the St John River Log Driving Corporation. Mr J Chipman Hartley, representing Mr Smith, said as it was so late in the afternoon, nearly half past four, he would ask for adjournment until the following morning, when he would perhaps move for the quashing of the indictment. The Judge, after consulting with all concerned, agreed to the postponement, and cautioned the defence to have their bail present at the opening of the trial proper.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

There was a large attendance at the opening of Court Wednesday morning. Wm M Connell, clerk of the peace, announced that he appeared for the Crown, and moved for trial in the case of B Frank Smith, who was ordered to stand up while the indictment was read. When asked what he had to say in answer to the charge, Mr Smith replied in a loud voice, "Not Guilty."

Calling the petit jury was then begun, and continued until the panel was exhausted, with the result that eleven good men and true were accepted by both sides. The panel turned out as follows:—Allan McLean, objected to by Mr Hartley.

James Watson, sworn.

Joseph Palmer, sworn.

Frank Burpee, sworn.

William Hayden, sworn.

Elisha Palmer, sworn.

Israel Kinney, objected to by Mr Hartley.

John J Rogers, objected to by Mr Carvell.

Geo W Melville, sworn.

James Barter, objected to by Mr Hartley as over sixty years of age.

Matthias Watson, objected to by Mr Carvell.

Fred Britton, sworn.

Daniel Gallagher, objected to by Mr Hartley as over 60.

Albert Bell, absent.

Edward Kearney, objected to by Mr Hartley.

Allison Shaw, sworn.

John W Plummer, stood aside and finally objected to by Mr Carvell.

Charles R Carman, sworn.

Odbur Shaw, objected to by Mr Hartley.

Howard Clark, sworn.

David Alexander, sworn.

At this stage the Judge said Court would take adjournment until noon in order to give the Sheriff an opportunity to secure a new panel. His Honor said it would be well to give the Sheriff time to get men not present, as those who were mere spectators, although easy to get at, were apt to have some learning either way. The Sheriff was instructed by the Court to secure five talesmen.

According to law, each side is allowed four peremptory challenges, and in the first panel Mr Hartley took advantage of all four, Mr Carvell on behalf of the Log Driving Company, objecting to three.

Messrs J Fraser Gregory and John Kilburn, were in Court, watching the proceedings for the Log Driving Company, occupying chairs at the barristers' table.

At twelve o'clock the Court met again, and the Sheriff announced the following additional talesmen:—

Edward London

John Emery

Stanley Harper

Wilmot Johnston

Samuel H Havens

Mr Carvell raised the point that Albert Bell, who was absent when the first panel was called, had since arrived, and was now present. He doubted if Bell could be passed over now that he was present. After some discussion between Judge and Counsel, it was decided to drop Bell and proceed with the new panel. Two had not arrived, consequently there was another lull in the proceedings. Upon resumption, Wilmot Johnston was stood aside by the Crown and John Emery was called, with no objection, and sworn as the last juror. Upon the jury being called by name, the clerk read the usual charge, after which Mr Carvell briefly sketched the case for the Crown. He said the case was one instituted at the instance of the Log Driving Company, who for some time felt that some of their logs were being taken unlawfully by parties in the County. For the past few years there had been a big leakage. Two years ago they started to get inspectors, this year appointing Albion R Foster. Mr Gregory, President of the Company, would under oath explain the connection the deputy and he (Carvell) had in the suit. It would also be shown that no member of the Log Driving Co had given either Smith or Dyer permission to pick up their logs.

Mr Carvell went on to relate the circumstances in connection with how the information came into the possession of the Inspector, and the subsequent steps taken in connection therewith. He also related what took place when Foster secured the joint in question. In so far as he personally was concerned he, (Carvell) was simply acting for the lumbermen, the same as he would for any other client. Dyer's return was followed by information against Smith, after consultation with the Driving Company.

Confirmation Service.

After the consecration of the church at Wakefield, His Lordship Co-adjutor Bishop Richardson arrived in town on Sunday afternoon and preached in St Luke's church at the evening service.

On Monday afternoon a reception was held in the Parish Hall from 4 to 6 o'clock, at which there was a large attendance. The following address of welcome was read to the Bishop by F Byron Bull, Senior Church Warden, to which the Bishop made a suitable reply:

To The Right Reverend John Andrew Richardson, D D., Bishop Co-Adjutor.

MY LORD,—On behalf of the Parishioners of the Parish of Woodstock and of the Mission in connection therewith, we beg to extend to you a hearty welcome on this, your first official visit to us since your elevation to the Episcopate.

We are not forgetful that in the time of our great sorrow, a few months ago, Your Lordship came to this town to assist at the last sad rites in connection with the death of our late beloved Rector, and we can assure that your coming to us on that occasion was deeply appreciated, and that the words you spoke to us found a deep place in our hearts and will not be soon forgotten.

On all sides we hear of the energy, ability and devotion you are bringing to bear on the affairs of the Diocese, and we can assure you from no parish or mission will you receive more hearty support in the arduous labours of your high office than from this which you are now visiting.

We can only express the hope that in your zeal for the progress of the work of the church you will not fail to remember that you owe it to us all that you take good care of your own health and that you do not allow yourself to be overworked.

We look for great things in the Church's work and influence during your Lordship's Episcopate which we trust may be extended for many, many years.

Signed on behalf of the Parishioners,

F BYRON BULL, Church Warden, and members of the Vestry.

Woodstock July 8th 1907.
The wives and daughters of vestry provided refreshments during the reception to the members and friends of the congregation.

Hymeneal.

COLE—HUNTLEY.—Rockland, July 3, by Rev Robert Sutcliffe, Harold G Cole and Miss Lillian M Huntley, both of Rockland.

Readers of the SENTINEL will be interested in the above announcement which we clip from the Rockland Courier-Gazette. The groom is a popular Woodstock boy who learned his trade in the SENTINEL Office and has since made a name for himself outside. All Mr Cole's friends will wish him and his bride many years of wedded bliss.

A Dramatic Treat.

Ten nights in a Bar Room," was presented on Friday evening, July 5th, by the Woodstock Dramatic Company, in Graham's Opera House, before a large audience; a most realistic and finished performance was given. The easiness and perfect manner of each artist would do credit to any professional company.

The Misses Ada Boyer, Jean Riordan, Margaret Hughes and Mildred Riordan and Messrs R F Waddleton, Marshal Kelly, Charlton Berrie, Arch Cole, M J Savage and W Lawrence Gallagher, all did splendid work. Miss Dot Brewer, Bert Harvey, Miss Maude Henderson, Mrs Troy and children, contributed the musical excellence.

A Good Result.

Under the operation of the new Pure Food Laws, baking powders now generally bear on the labels a statement of the ingredients. This is of utmost importance because of the harmful ingredients used in many cases.

Royal Baking Powder is known to be the only baking powder made of Royal Grape Cream of Tartar, and this no doubt explains its greatly increased sale here.

Careful housekeepers are taking advantage of the protection which the Laws afford, and are examining all the reading matter on the back of the label before adopting any brand for use in the home.

When in place of the words Cream of Tartar the words "alum" "aluminum" or "phosphate of lime" appear among the ingredients, they heed the warning and avoid baking powders containing these substitutes.
