Local Politics.

There will be another session of the Assembly. It does not require great ability as a prophet to discern the signs pointing in that direction. In all human probability it will be nearly a year before the provincial elections are called on. Premier Robinson is credited with the statement that he intends to meet the present house.

The Opposition are going ahead as if they meant business, their latest bid for power being a flirtation with the lumbermen, promising to reduce the stumpage. So place hungry have the opposition become that if they thought they could secure a majority by doing so, the leaders would agree to cut the stumpage in two. With them it is a case of getting office at any cost.

Mr Hazen may curry favor with the rich lumbermen by promising cheap stumpage, but the farmers of Carleton County will resent any such effort to sell them out to the lumber lords.

There is not likely to be an Attorney General appointed for a few weeks, perhaps not until Sir Wilfrid fills the federal vacancy from New Brunswick. No doubt the local premier feels that the New Brunswick federal minister, whoever he is to be, should be consulted in the matter of reorganizing the provincial executive.

It turns out that Mr Hubbard addressed an enthusiastic and representative opposition public meeting last week in the bustling town of Chatham, which has five thousand inhabitants. Although the gathering had been well advertised less than a dozen electors showed up at the appointed hour. Either the Opposition cause needs much bolstering in the North Shore metropolis, or Mr Hubbard is a poor drawing card.

The following editorial, from the Moncton Transcript, has the proper ring:

The provincial opposition claims to make a magnificent showing in Northumberland County, but when it is recalled that only the Hon L J Tweedie was elected in Northumberland County, and the opposition carried three seats, it seems very doubtful if there is much cause for rejoicing. There is a cure, however, for the situation in Northumberland County; but it is an heroic one. The friends of the local government in that constituency should make up their minds to abandon the farce of running a separate political party for provincial politics and another for the Dominion. Under existing circumstances whatever might be the result of the provincial election in Northumberland County, whether it be one way or the other, it would not have the slightest bearing upon the wider interests of ordinary practical politics. Until the friends in Northumberland County make up their minds to form into line with the rest of the province and divide in provincial politics upon straight party lines, they must expect confusion in their ranks, and apathy elsewhere in their provincial political contests.

The Smith Case.

Some weeks ago we advised everybody to keep cool while discussing the log case. The trial is now over, and fair comment upon the evidence is within the right of any person. It is not our purpose at the present moment to enter into an exhaustive resume from its various bearings. If the necessity arises we shall not spare anyone in laying before the public just what has been accomplished in the recent trial. It will be sufficient for the present to give the exact status of the case. Mr Smith is bound over to appear for trial at the next term of the County Court. If the Attorney-General and the Log Driving Corporation decide that a second trial is necessary, Mr Smith will be put on his defense at the next County Court. Should the Log Driving Company, on the other hand, decide that in the interests of their business a second trial is not necessary, no more court proceedings will be taken. What we wish to make plain is the fact that the case is not in the hands of the Clerk of the Peace, and that no person save the chief law officer of the Crown has any authority to say whether it shall be re-tried.

Mr Connell Contradicts the Press.

Editorial.

SIR:—My attention having been called to the headlines in the last issue of the Press wherein I am made to say that the Smith case will not come up again, I wish most emphatically to say that I gave no person authority to make any such statement.

On the contrary as everyone should know, the Attorney-General will have the case brought to his attention, and his decision, not mine, will determine whether a second trial shall take place.

Yours truly,

W M CONNELL.

Clerk of Peace, and Clerk County Court.

Base Ball.

Monday was a Red Letter Day at Benton. Fair sky and balmy breeze greeted the arrival of the Bullet Nine from Woodstock, who went down to line up against the pride of the prosperous village, the Benton Roses. The struggle was a good one, going the full nine innings, but ended in the utter rout of the Roses. Every petal was destroyed by the Bullets of the enemy. When all was over but the shouting, the statistics were collected, and proved the Bullets winners by 22 to 5. McNelly and Godsoe were in the points for the winners, while Connolly and H Godsoe were battery for the home team. The visitors soon got a lead, and never let up, getting stronger as the game continued. The visitors all did good work, and the most of the Roses did pretty good work too, but luck was with the other chaps. Poor support contributed very largely to their defeat. They are first class sports, every man of them, and when the return game is played here there should be five or six hundred to see it. As it was there were 300 admissions to the Benton game. The Umpires were Glew and Muce.

The following summary has been sent in:—

HINTS FOR PANCAKE MAKING.

A good way to prepare the pan for pancakes, fritters and such things, is to put the butter in a clean cloth, and rub the little bundle all over the pan. The heat, melting the butter, will let it just enough through the cloth to butter evenly and prevent waste. For the pancakes themselves, there is an increasing use of Blended Flour, which, good cooks agree, is without an equal for making light, tasty pancakes. It can be had from any good mill and is a scientific blend of Ontario fall wheat and Manitoba spring wheat. Freed, as it is from waste matter, this Blended Flour is richer in flavor and food value than either of the wheats could give alone. It contains just the proportion of those elements in flour which prevent the food becoming soggy and indigestible.

The blending of flour is an old trick, taught good housekeepers by their mothers and grandmothers. It is convenient to have this by-no-means-easy task shifted from our burdened shoulders onto the broader, sturdier ones of the dustless millers of to-day. And they should certainly do the blending more accurately, with all the modern machinery, than could be accomplished by the most painstaking work at home.

Careful housekeepers are using Blended Flour for bread and pastry, too.

The David Case.

Mrs Thomas David, the Assyrian woman from Lowell, Mass., who was shot by her husband here in jail, was but eleven years old when married. The women was only twenty-two years old when she died and she had been married eleven years.

That is the information which the woman's mother gave to C P R Constable Gardner at McAdam Junction a few days ago, when she was there en route to Woodstock after the shooting had occurred.

Constable Gardner was in the city yesterday along with Dr Butler of McAdam, the C P R physician there, and Drs Rankin and Grant, of Woodstock, who were guests at the Barker House. Last evening they left for their homes, the preliminary examination having been postponed until Thursday morning.

Mr J Douglas Hazen, M P P, who is to act as counsel for David, is expected here to-morrow from St John to have a conference with the prisoner and the preliminary examination will commence on Thursday morning.

From Thursday it is expected that the further hearing of the case will be adjourned until Tuesday next, it being understood the Woodstock doctors yesterday completed arrangements to return here on that day.

It is now said that it is quite likely that the examination will proceed without a stenographer in attendance to take down the evidence.

Yesterday Constable Gardner handed over to Col Marsh $9.45, the amount of money found on the prisoner in the several searches made after his arrest. The revolver with which the fatal shooting was done, a 38 calibre gun manufactured by the Barrington-Richardson Arms Company, two razors and a knife, were the weapons taken from the prisoner by Constable Gardner. (Tuesday's Gleaner.)

"Well, well, that's the smoothest thing I've tasted this spring." The above remark was made by a man who had just eaten some of Holyoke & Brown's delicious Ice Cream. (tf)
