Why the Sheriff was Removed.

1. As sheriff having the appointing of deputy returning officers, it is a well known fact that he did not select from the various polls in the county, the men who had the reputation even in his own party as the most honorable and worthy men for the position; he has no excuse to offer for he had the sole right to choose good men.

2. The deputy returning officers are supposed to appoint their poll clerks, but Mr Hayward appointed the returning officers, clerks and possibly constables, every one of whom were opposed to the party in opposition to that of the party of the sheriff; he followed strictly the motto of his leader Mr Carvell, M. P., for no enemy need apply.

3. In the recent election the government workers were unable to find out from the sheriff until three days before the election where the polls were to be held or who the returning officers were.

4. The action of the sheriff in refusing to accept J. R. H. Simms' nomination papers giving as a reason that that wonderful watch, which "had not been touched for many years" said the hour for receiving the same had passed, notwithstanding that the delay was caused by the missing court house bible, which should have been in its place.

5. The action of the sheriff in the case where his opponents were not allowed to add some hundreds of names by his refusal to open his court after an agreement had been made that the court would be considered an adjourned court and such opportunity to add names would be given them.—Press.

The above "reasons" for the failure of the government to re-appoint Wm A Hayward as sheriff are given in Monday's Press. Let us analyze them separately.

Boiled down, the first excuse is that he appointed poor deputy returning officers. Very well, take a few of these gentlemen and see how they compare with the average citizen. Here in town W B Nicholson, John Stairs and John Atherton are quite as highly respected as even the man who wrote the scholarly article defaming them, while in the rest of the constituency the deputy returning officers were by no means inferior persons. All in all they will measure well up to the common standard, and we challenge the Press to name one such officer who is not a fair man, or who did a single act at variance with the statutes.

"Reason" Two is the thinnest of all. Has any deputy complained that his prerogatives were usurped by the sheriff? A glance at section 69 of the Elections Act will surely convince the scholarly inventor of alleged reasons that the deputy has not the power to name the clerks. The law specifically states that the sheriff shall name them. Of course the Press will be too proud to plead ignorance. What other defence will it be able to set up for such a blunder?

When the Press or some person who was refused information will point to any section of the N. B. Elections Act requiring the Sheriff to give out beforehand a list of deputies no doubt there will be an ample apology from ex Sheriff Hayward. The Press admits he gave the list three days prior to the election. We respectfully request Sheriff Tompkins to bear in mind the charge set forth in Reason No 3, so that he may not leave himself open to dismissal in the eyes of his newspaper friends.

As to the fourth "reason," the exhaustive and very clear judgment of Mr Justice Barker completely put the quietus on the whole Simms episode, greatly to the disgust of those who hatched the plot to annoy the Hon W P Jones and the Sheriff.

Regarding the last count in the indictment we have only to say that not even the most bitter Tory lawyer in the county could point to a single clause of the statutes violated by Sheriff Hayward in his capacity as judge of the court for the revision of the voters' lists. The action complained of was merely the prevention of something which the law said should not be done. Is that a crime?

These "reasons" are about the cheapest even from the factory which has such a reputation for cheapness. As usual the percentage of froth and wind runs very high.

Another Fire.

Very early Monday morning the Lynch Building was discovered on fire. The hose companies were quickly on the scene, and after two hours hard battling, gained the mastery. The blaze was confined to the upper portion of the building, the roof being pretty well ruined. The ground floor shops were occupied by Hedley Moores, W H Everett, O B Snow and Harry Faulkner. All four were heavy losers, the goods being principally ruined by water. Each had a fair amount of insurance. The building stands in the name of J Norman W Winslow. It is understood there was $4000 insurance on it.

Under the provisions of the fire limit by-law it would seem as if any wooden building partially destroyed may be repaired only on condition that the roof does not exceed twenty five feet in height above the street level.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., CANADA.

The attractive advertisement appearing above is being printed in a number of the district papers in England, and indicates a progressive policy on the part of the concern offering the land for sale.

New Brunswick needs more settlers capable of clearing land and making homes for themselves. With the Transcontinental Railway opening up the interior of the province, there will be a large territory lying along the new railway that should be cleared and cultivated. The land in many sections is reported to be excellent. There will be many splendid locations for thriving communities along the railway. The late provincial government's policy of encouraging our young men to remain in New Brunswick, instead of going thousands of miles away to take up new land, should be continued and renewed efforts made with a view to bringing into the province a desirable class of agricultural immigrants for the settlement of the vacant lands in the province.—Transcript

NEW BRUNSWICKER DOING WELL IN MEXICO

Mr W Carey Hay, of Woodstock

A young New Brunswicker who has recently become prominent in the commercial and manufacturing life of the Mexican Republic is Mr W Carey Hay, formerly of Woodstock. Within the past few months Mr Hay has acquired a controlling interest in the largest concrete manufacturing concern in Mexico—Mexican Concrete Construction Co, which has its headquarters in Mexico City. His connection with this business was largely a result of chance, and it was during a vacation trip to the country, taken from his adopted home in Washington state, that he became acquainted with the opportunities which Mexico offered in this line of construction. He is on a trip north for the purchase of additions to the company's plant. This machinery he is having forwarded from Chicago, and will shortly follow it to take up his residence in the far south.

A peculiar feature of Mr Hay's first trip to Mexico was the unearthing of a near relative of whom he had not previously known, and whom he discovered quite by an accident. This gentleman is also a former New Brunswicker, Dr Wallace Debec, a great uncle of Mr Hay, and an uncle of Mrs Farris, wife of the Hon L P Farris. Dr Debec has been practising in Mexico for a period commencing shortly after the termination of the American civil war, through which he served as a surgeon attached to the Northern army. He still bears the scar of a wound received in the famous engagement of Bull Run. While a guest at the leading American club, Mr Hay met his relative through a mutual acquaintance. In the course of conversation the fact was dropped that the younger man hailed from New Brunswick, and it was not long before the relationship had been fully established. Not the least noteworthy experience of Mr Hay's stay in Mexico was an audience with President Diaz. He describes that genius of Mexico's destiny as a remarkably easy and pleasant individual to meet. The President expressed his pleasure at meeting with all Northerners, especially those interested in the development of the land whose interests are so near his heart.

Speaking to the Globe, Mr Hay said his visit to Mexico City was a revelation to him in many ways. The capital of the republic is about twice the size of Montreal, and has an electric lighting and tramway system of the highest grade of efficiency. It is owned and operated by a firm of Montreal capitalists. A remarkable feature of the town in its police system, which struck Mr Hay as an organization not to be equaled in America. A policeman is to be found on every corner throughout the city both day and night. Of the 650,000 inhabitants, those speaking English number not more than 10,000 yet they are a controlling power in the commercial life of the metropolis owning all the enterprises of any magnitude. There are many exceedingly wealthy Mexicans of the grade variety, but they keep their doublets tied up in the National Bank of Spain, and will not make a loan on the best of security. American and Canadian capital is developing the country, and the which is according to those at the back of it is quite noticeable. Mexico is a city whose inhabitants have a strong belief in the benefits of pleasure resorts of all kinds are to be found in every section. An opera house is now being built which will take rank as one of the finest things of its kind in the world.—St John Globe.

It may interest the friends of Miss Ella B Burpee to learn that she was a passenger on the Empress of China which sailed from Vancouver, B C, for the Orient on Wednesday the 15th day of April. She has gone to Corea where she is engaged for two years as assistant superintendent in a Presbyterian Hospital in Seoul the capital of that country. A surprise party met at her home on the eve of her departure to wish her bon voyage. They made her the recipient of some valuable presents. After spending a very enjoyable evening the party returned to their homes, leaving her highly pleased with their kind remembrance and good wishes.
