The Benzine Buggy.

The County Council did a wise thing in agreeing to seek authority from the Legislature to regulate the automobile nuisance. Nineteen out The St John Golf Club have invited of twenty men can't afford an auto. Most of the nineteen own horses, It is certainly a fact that the auto has come to stay, -so have the potato bugs, -- but that's no argument in favor of allowing the devil waggons to be driven recklessly over our roads. To be perfectly candid we believe the man who owns an auto has the right to run it, and if a neighbor's horse does not take kindy to the machine, the auto owner is not to blame. The legitimate use of the auto is one thing,-its abuse is the matter of which we hear so much complaint. It has been suggested that autos be kept off the roads on certain days of the week. Perhaps' this may be the best temporary solution of the difficulty, but in time we hope to find autos cheaper, con-Capt Robert Melville, a former sequently more numerous, thereby becoming more of an every day oc. currence, and familiar to the equine contempt essential to safety.
