Pledges Already Broken.

Of course nebody expected Mr Hazen and his supporters to make much of an effort to keep their pledges, but few were prepared to find the new government so soon violating their solemn obligations. It was one of their stock arguments that the Attorney and the Solicitor General should attend to all government law business, and thus save much in legal charges, but alas for the promise to reform this abuse! It was only he would under present circumlast week the country was treated to the spectacle of a high-priced lawyer doing government work, and the people must pay the bills. What has Mr Hazen's newspaper defender in King Street to say to this matter?

impressed with the heroics indulged in by that gentleman when in hurl- for the shrievalty, but upon it being ing anathemas at the Robinson government he so vigorously condemned them for employing an outside expert accountant to audit the books of the province. "Why should they do this?" he demanded. "Have they not a whole staff of highly paid book keepers already in the government offices at Fredericton?" His calculation that it cost over $20,000 yearly to pay this staff was presented with minute detail, one of the items being the salary of $2100 paid the Provincial Secretary, the position Mr Flemming himself occupies to day, yet despite his declamations against Premier Robinson what do we now find? This same Hon James Kidd Flemming is doing what? Actually employing another expert accountant from Ontario. For what purpose? To audit the books of the province, and all this in spite of the fact that the same expensive staff is under Mr Flemming's personal conirol, and there is in addition the report of the auditor employed by Premier Robinson. Mr Flemming by this action eats his own words. He admits he was wrong (for actions speak louder than words) in condemning Mr Robinson for engaging an expert, and thus proclaims his own inability to make a proper audit, even with the assistance of that $20,600 staff. A nice headbookkeeper we must have in the person of our genial Provincial Secretary The widespread conviction that Mr Flemming is too light for his position is not all on the side of his op ponents. He and the other members of the present government seem to take the same view as the conductor who in remonstrating with some passengers on the rear end of a railway car informed them that platforms were made to get in on, not to stand on. All signs point in the direction of a surrender to the grafters and the leeches. This local government has in itself the seeds of disintegration. It will surely be short-lived. The people of our province are gifted with good memories. The ante-election pledges will not be forgotten.

Sheriff Hayward Deposed.

This week's Royal Gazette contains official announcement of what had already been pretty well understood, viz:-that Sheriff Hayward would have his official head lifted for the sole reason that he is not a supporter of the Hazen administration, and that the appointment is to go to Major John R Tompkins of East Florenceville. In so far as the new official is personally concerned we have not a word to say,-we believe he is an honest and capable man, but we do most emphatically protest against the failure of the Hazen government to re-appoint Wm A Hayward, who during his seven years in office has discharged his duties faithfully and well. Sheriff Hayward leaves behind him a record which no fair man may impeach. True he has been called upon to face some rather unpleasant situations, but in each instance has acted well within the strict letter of the law, and we challenge any person to prove the contrary. We are not certain that stances have accepted re-appointment, but the fact remains true nevertheless that the local government have at least compromised with the baser element of the conservative party in this county, v. ho Those who heard Mr Flemming are out for the scalp of every liberal during the campaign must have been officeholder. We do not believe Major Tompkins was at all anxious determined that a change must be made, the office was practically thrust upon him, the many other would-be occupants recognizing in him a man with superior claims upen the gratitude of the party. The friends of William A Hayward in Carleton County are legion,-they will scarcely fail to resent the insult heaped upon his head by the > > Current Comment.

Some poor troubled soul is worried lest Sheriff Hayward may not leave that famous carpet for the use of Maj r Tompkins. Wm A Hayward has lived a long time in Carleton County. He has yet to do his first dishonorable act. There need be no worry. The carpet will remain.

Any conservative desiring appointment as Justice of the Peace, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, etc, will do well to apply to any of the three local members. There are a great many chances. Query :- Why is a justice of the peace a necessity? Ans. Because necessity knows no law.

The merry struggle for the position as deputy sheriff has excited much interest. Wm Armstrong and Ab Stewart have been waging a determined battle, the friends of each being sanguine of victory. As usual there will be a number of very sore Learts over the ultimate selection.

The New Revisors.

The following gentlemen have been ppointed Revisors,-Robert J Lindsay, Town of Woodstock; Gilbert W Brown, Woodstock Parish; CW Dickinson, Richmond; Herbert Oliver, Wakefield; Howard Reed, Wilmot; Ollver N Miller, Simonds; Bradford Smith, Wicklow; G W Perry, Kent; Edward Wiley. Aberdeen; Allan Greer, Peel; H N Boyer, Brighton; Herbert N Tompkins, Northampton.

It will be seen that of last year's officials only H N Boyer has been re appointed. The position is worth about $10 a yea . Thus are the patriots rewarded.

Warning to Fraternal Men.

An Ottawa despatch says: A judg. ment of much interest to fraternal societies has been given by Judge McTavish in the case of St Bridget's Court Catholic Order of Foresters vs Ernest Butterworth, the well known lacrosse player. The local Court sued to recover $44.94, the amount of dues which it paid in behalf of Mr Butterworth, who defaulted payment.

Mr Butterworth contended that when he defaulted payment he ceased to enjoy the benefits of the Order and should, therefore, not be called on to pay for something that he had not enjoyed. Furthermore, he had never given the local Court instructions to pay his dues.

Judge McTavish, in giving judgment, held that whether or not Mr Butterworth had specially instructed the Order to pay his dues, pay ment was implied by law, and that, moreover, he was insured while his dues were being met by the Order.

The case was a test one, brought to see whether the Order could carry over members who defaulted noble trio who mis-represent this payment and then sue them in event of their refusing to pay for the Of all last year's sheriffs in the amount of the dues paid by it. Several cases similar to that against Mr Butterworth are pending, and bert, Kent and Restigouche. The the defaulting parties will be sued anless they pay their arrears promp-

A New Clothing Store.

The Woodstock Clothing Company have taken a lease of one of the shops in the new Hayden-Gibson Theatre Block, and are showing a full and up-to-date assortment of men's and boys' clothing, also hats. A D Holyoke, a gentleman wellknown in this section, is manager and under him there is a capable staff. The firm handle the famous "Broadway Brand," something in the nature of a revelation to those who have been accustomed to judging ready-made goods by the standards previously seen here. Although the store was thrown open as recently as Saturday already the volume of business has grown to substantial proportions, and is daily increasing. The prices are said to be exceptionally close to wholesale figures. See the firm's large advertisement in this paper.

Gone to Cuba.

Wendell R Jones, teller in the Royal Bank, got word one day last week from Head Office ordering him to report for duty at Havana, Cuba. Accordingly he left Wednesday their future would be a happy and a evening, going by way of New York. Young Mr Jones, who is the eldest son of Hon W P Jones, will be greatly missed. He was one of the topnotch players on the golf team, and as a runer achieved something more than a local reputation. In the Bank he was a courteous and careful official. On the eve of his departure the young men of the forgotten. The corps were indeed town gave a supper in his honor at highly honored by the present of the Royal Cafe. The Hallelujah Wedding.

At 8 o'clock pm the Army citadel was packed to its utmost capacity with a happy lot of people who had assembled to witness the long looked in and try it on. for and much talked of Hallelujah Wedding. Upon the platform were seated the Army's honorable leader for the maritime provinces, Brigadier J B W Turner, assisted by Adjutant Carter, both of St John headquarters, Ensign Martin, Capt Porter, Serg-Major Sutton, local officers and soldiers in full army uniform. To the left the noble brass band under the direction of the new bandmaster, T Mooney, were seated. Mrs Robinson, the organist presided at the organ. At 8.10 p m Ensign Martin stepped to the front of the platform and announced the beginning of the service with the grand old Army wedding song, "There is a golden day," led off by the beautiful strains of the band. Before ending the song the side door suddenly opened and the bridal party entered and took their seats upon the platform next to the leading officers. It is needless to say that they looked charming for this only putting it mild. The bride wore full Army regulation uniform with white sash and was supported by Miss Edith Peed who was dressed about the same. The groom also was dressed in full uniform and was supported by J Preacher who also was dressed in full regulation uniform. Little Verna Wilcox look. ed sweet as flower girl. Over the platform was a sign strung with the following inscription "God bless the bride and groom," and on each side of the pulpit stood two beautiful palms. The platform where the bride and groom stood was carpeted. After prayers had been offered up on behalf of the ceremony that was about to take place the Brigadier read from the Word of God and ably explained from same for about twenty minutes. Adjutant Carter then sang one of his famous solos which captivated the assembled audience in every shape and form. Next followed speeches by ex-bandmaster Nielsen, Sergt Major Sutton, Ensign Martin and Adjutant Carter. A solo next by Capt Porter was as usual beautifully rendered. At that moment Sergt George S Camber and Secretary Mary E Churchill arose to their feet and the honorable leader performed the marriage ceremony in a most noble manner, after which he, in the name of God and the Army pronounced them man and wife. Next followed a selection from the band entitled "Grace there is my every debt to pay," which was beautifully rendered. The happy event closed with prayer and bene-

Easter at the Salvation Army in this town was a time never to be their honorable and beloved leader JBW Turner, of St John Headquarters, assisted by Adjutant Carter of the same city. The Brigadier was highly impressed with the rapid progress the Army is makinghere under the able leadership of Ensign Martin and Capt Porter. Speaking from both spiritual and financial standpoint he said no Corps is equal to it in the Maritime Provinces. In regard to our Band the Brigadier said that for harmony and size it has made wonderful progress since last he heard it and the Citizens should be proud of it and give it its liberal support which he had no doubt they would. The Brigadier and Adjutant conducted some very powerful meetings while here, enrolled a large number of local officers and recruits on Sunday afternoon and also com missioned the Band and appointed a new Bandmaster in the person of Tom Mooney, while Ex Bandmaster Neilson was appointed Band Secretary.-J N.
