

Put a little "Sunshine" in your home

An old-fashioned, ill-working furnace is a non-producer. It consumes the coal, but through leaks and cracks wastes the heat. It is not economy to have such a furnace in your own home, or in your tenant's home.

If you are thinking of building you should be interested in Sunshine Furnace. It adds 100 per cent. to home comforts.

As soon as you let the contract for your house decide on your furnace. The "Sunshine" man will be pleased to tell you just how the rooms ought to be laid out with an eye to securing greatest heat from the smallest consumption of coal.

If you want to experiment with the question don't specify "Sunshine."

If you want to settle the question specify "Sunshine."

70% WHITE LEAD 30% ZINC WHITE

When you buy Paint, get the real thing

It is extravagant and foolish to buy and pay for paint, and instead of paint, get a mixture containing cheap adulterants. Pure paint—the real thing—spreads easier, covers more surface (and covers it better) and wears longer than adulterated paint. Pure paint is far more economical to use. Pure paint gives the handsomest finish.

Pure paint insures you against paint "troubles", the cracking, the peeling, scaling, etc. that comes from the use of impurities.

"English" Liquid Paint is pure paint—made from 70% pure white lead (Brandram's B.B. Genuine) 30% pure zinc white, pure linseed oil, pure turpentine and dryer. It will give you the greatest satisfaction and save you money on your paint bill.

Made by Brandram-Henderson Limited, in 45 shades in addition to black and white. Come in for a color card.

Uncle Daniel's Adventure.

ANN ISABELLA EMMONS IN YOUTH'S COMPANION.

It was a bitter day, with deep snow. Yet Uncle Daniel was resolved on hunting.

Aunt Martha protested, saying, 'O Daniel, don't go! Thee'll freeze.' 'I freeze! Uncle Daniel retorted. 'Dressed as warm as I am! And don't you know I have a new beaver cap that cost six dollars? And I a-running after rabbits most of the time. How could I get cold?'

'But you might not be running most of the time; the snow is too deep; and it is ten degrees below zero. Don't go.'

Uncle Daniel was silenced but not persuaded. After the midday meal he made ready for hunting by drawing on heavy boots and an extra waistcoat, and by tying the strings of the earflaps of his new cap under his chin. With gun and axe and dogs he started.

Aunt Martha, in the doorway, was still remonstrating.

'Don't worry about me! I'll be back soon!' he called, as he climbed the high rail fence which separated his father-in-law's land from his.

Uncle Daniel's land was all cleared, but this was thickly wooded, with much underbrush, where he thought there would be plenty of game.

He had gone but a short distance when his dogs scared up a rabbit. With dogs yelping and baying and Uncle Daniel yelling, it was soon despatched. Nor was it long until another one shared the same fate.

Soon the dogs were on the track of a third rabbit, with Uncle Daniel in hot pursuit. They ran under trees, over logs, and through brush until the old man was almost spent. When he came up to the dogs, they were yelping and smelling about a hollow tree.

'That's where you are, is it?' the hunter surmised. 'I'll soon have you out.'

Uncle Daniel laid the two rabbits on the ground and leaned the gun and axe against a tree, preparatory to examining whether the creature were in it or not. He looked up. The top of the tree was lying near on the ground. The butt of the top was hollow, so he knew the body of the tree, still standing, was open throughout.

There was a hole in the side of the tree which someone had cut long ago. He thought to put his head in his hole to see if the rabbit was there. If it should be, he would cut the tree down.

Sinking on his knees, Uncle Daniel, trying to put his head in the hole, found he could not with his cap on, so he shoved it back until it hung on his shoulders by the string around his neck. Quickly inserting his head, he found no rabbit there. Then attempting to withdraw his head, he found that he could not do so!

Uncle Daniel pulled and twisted and squirmed in vain. With frantic effort he renewed his exertions. But the feather edges of the wood being pushed inward by the axe when the hole was cut, were only so many teeth to catch his hair and beard, and hold him fast.

He thought of his knife. If he had it he might cut off those ugly splinters. But, unfortunately, his knife was at home.

Uncle Daniel groaned and shouted at the top of his voice, but the sound only went in echoing circles about his head. He knew it was of no use to call. No one would be out on such a day. But upon thinking, he concluded that he did not want any one to undertake to cut the tree down with him fast in it for in falling, it might twist round and break his neck. Still, he wished some one were there, for then there would be some plan devised whereby he might be released.

What should he do? He was at

FRIGHTFUL STOMACH TROUBLE

For Four Long Years He Suffered—Then "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Relief.

Stratford Centre, Wolfe Co., Que., May 11th, 1908.

I have been completely cured of a frightful condition of my stomach through this wonderful medicine, "Fruit-a-tives." I suffered for four long years with this trouble. My head ached incessantly. I could not eat anything but what I suffered awful pains from indigestion. I used every known remedy and was treated by physicians, but the dyspepsia and headaches persisted in spite of the treatment.

I was told to try "Fruit-a-tives," and I sent for six boxes, and this was the only medicine that did me any good. I am now entirely well. I can eat ordinary food and I never have a headache, and for this relief I thank this wonderful remedy "Fruit-a-tives." My case is well known in this vicinity and you may publish this statement.

least a half mile from any house, and there was not one chance in ten thousand that any one would come along in time to save him.

Uncle Daniel made every effort to free himself, but not only his hair caught, but the back of his head, or his chin, or his ears; in fact, his head seemed too large. How could he have put it in so easily?

His body was pierced with the cold, yet he was so excited and terrorized that the preparation stood in drops on his forehead.

He kept muttering to himself:

'Is it possible that I am such a fool as to put my head in a place that I cannot get it out? Is such a thing possible? Why, if I don't get out of this pretty soon I shall die! Already I am numb with the cold. If it were not so cold, I might live several days and some one would find me. Martha would have people looking for me tonight.'

Then he began speculating as to how long he might endure this dreadful cold. 'But here I am,' he said, 'caught like a rat in a trap.'

All the time he was muttering he was struggling with his hands to tear out the splinters, which held so cruelly.

Suddenly Uncle Daniel thought he might pray. He believed the Lord was all-powerful. But he had never been a praying man. Martha was a good Quakeress; it might be the Father would hear for her sake.

But he was ashamed to pray. It seemed not quite honest to put off praying until he was in a tight place. He looked upward. The way was clear to the top of the tree. He could see a bit of blue sky far above.

Although Uncle Daniel was a sensible man, and knew a thought could reach the heavenly throne, this seemed such an extreme case that he soliloquised, as he was looking upward, 'That is the way I would have it, for if I am going to pray, I don't want anything between. I want to go straight up to Him quick.'

Still he hesitated. He did not know how to begin praying. It seemed a dreadful task.

But upon making another fruitless effort to free himself, he cried, without thinking he was praying:

'O Lord, I can't do it! If I get out of this, You'll have to help me. I feel mean to ask such a favor the first time. I've talked to You for years, but I will try to do better if You'll help me. I know You can.'

Instantly there rose before Uncle Daniel's mental vision the picture of the preacher at Martha's Church, as he stood with his great arm and hand stretched toward heaven, saying, 'Tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem until ye be endued with power from on high.'

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Toronto, Canada.—'I shall endeavor to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor the pain was so bad. I doctored for a long time, but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hopes of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle, and I am thankful he did. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during maternity and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with female troubles.'

Mrs. J. M. TWEEDALE, 138 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

Conditions have not yet reached an ideal state in the Philippines. During the past week United States troops had an engagement with native outlaws.

Coughs, Colds BRONCHITIS

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhazone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes, because its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhazone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis or Throat Trouble.

The wonderfully-soothing vapor of Catarrhazone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing, curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat or lungs.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing, and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhazone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhazone only, 50c and $1, at all dealers.
