No Heat About the Pole.

The finding of the North Pole is a really suitable subject for a column, such as this, because it cannot possibly matter a rap to any reasonable human being whether it has been discovered or not, says G. K. Chesterton in illustrated London News.

Certainly people have killed themselves trying to find the North Pole; but that does not make the matter particularly serious; they have killed themselves trying to find a fox. A fox is a much more solemn and sacred affair than the Pole; it is alive, and runs about, while the Pole (I think) keeps still; but I am not a scientist. What the people in question were really hunting was neither the Pole nor the fox, but fun; a philosophical abstraction. I do not sneer at Polar explorers; I admire them as I do all romantic lunatics. But it is really funny to hear men of science gibe at those superstitions which hold sacred the words of a prophet or the blood of a martyr, and then talk quite seriously about killing whole shiploads of human beings in order to find an object which isn't there when you get to it, and which is already in the maps in the only place where it could ever be useful.

The Yellow Peril.

Washington, Oct. 7.—In calculating the size of a national army, it is hardly possible to get beyond approximate figures; hence a calculation of the strength of the Japanese army just produced must be received on that basis, but without any suspicion that it wanders far from the truth. Indeed, the authority responsible for the statistics vouches that the actual numbers are in excess of those given. Taking the figures as they are presented, it would appear the number of men actually under arms, or, in other words, serving with the colors, in Japan, is:

Infantry 129,960
Cavalry 14,500
Artillery 11,270
Engineers 10,400
Commissariat 9,240
Heavy artillery 5,600
Mounted artillery 1,620
Communications troops 2,000

Total 184,590

This is the military strength on a peace footing, being more than double what it was when the Russo-Japanese war broke out. On a war footing the army is put at 1,214,000, exclusive of 10,000 troops serving in Formosa; 15,000 officers and non-commissioned officers serving with the colors, and a very large number of officers and non-commissioned officers whose names are borne on the reserves.

Boyer-Murphy.

A very pretty wedding took place Tuesday, Sep. 28th, at the home of Mr. Alfred Murphy, South Newbridge, when Rev. H. G. Kennedy united in marriage his only daughter Miss Alden R. Murphy and Mr. Howard W. Boyer of East Florenceville. The bride looked very pretty in a princess gown of white net veiling with trimmings to match.

Miss Gertrude Boyer sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid attired in a dress of pale blue voile. Mr. J. Douglas Tompkins Woodstock supported the groom. The bride party entered the room to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. H. G. Kennedy. After the ceremony which took place at 1:30, tea was served to about 35 guests. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch and chain, to the bridesmaid a sapphire ring and a stick pin to the groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer received many beautiful presents. They will reside in East Florenceville.

ADVICE FROM A MOTHER TO ALL OTHER MOTHERS.

The young mother—the inexperienced mother—is always glad to get the advice of the more experienced in the care of her little one. Thousands of mothers have emphatically said that there is no medicine equal to Baby's Own Tablets for keeping little ones well, or restoring health if illness comes suddenly. The young mother can safely follow the lead of these others. Mrs. John Shortill, Georgetown, Ont., says:—"I would not be a day without Baby's Own Tablets in the house. I believe they saved my youngest child's life. At the age of three months she cried all the time with indigestion. Our doctor did all he could for her, but did not seem to help her. Then I got Baby's Own Tablets and they worked a wonderful change. They seemed to tone the stomach, moved the bowels regularly, and she has ever since been a healthy child." Sold at 25 cents a box by all dealers or by mail from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

No oppositions for Councilors in the parish of Peel this year. With E. W. Melville and William Tompkins for two years more we could not do better.

C. M. Sherwood, Centreville, is making a special effort this season to suit everybody in the lines of fashionable dress goods, underwear and all kinds of ready made clothing. He is having much success in tailor made suits for ladies, who have their measure taken and the suits put up to order. This requires a week or two, but is very satisfactory. His Millinery Opening the best yet, will commence Oct. 1st, and continue through the 6th.

There may be other corn cures, but Holloway's Corn Cure stands at the head of the list so far as results are concerned.

CURED OF LAME BACK WHEN 84 YEARS OLDGin Pills did it.

Anyone, seeing Mr. Samuel Martin, of Strathroy, Ont., for the first time, would guess his age at about 60 years, instead of eighty-four. He is as spry on his feet as a cat and is the picture of health.

It is hard to believe that Mr. Martin passed twenty years of his life in misery, suffering tortures from Lame Back. He tried nearly all the advertised remedies and household recipes, but received no benefit from any of them.

Some months ago, seeing Gin Pills advertised, Mr. Martin purchased a box from W. H. Stepler, a popular druggist of Strathroy. The relief, which Mr. Martin experienced after he had taken one box, was so great that he knew he had found the right remedy at last. He bought and used two more boxes of Gin Pills, which completed the cure.

Age is no barrier to Gin Pills. They never fail to cure Lame Back and Stiff Limbs, because they cure the Kidneys and Bladder, which are the cause of the troubles. Gin Pills also act on the Liver and assist in curing Biliousness.

A Few Years Hence.

The movement to spread a safety net over Fifth avenue, to protect persons walking and driving thereon from being hit by lunch baskets and other objects dropped overboard by aeroplanists, has been gathering headway ever since the major's silk hat was jammed over his eyes by a squash falling from an unknown height.

The Maine farmers complain that the aeromortuists are now filling the skies in such vast numbers as completely to obscure the sun for five or six hours a day, with the result that the frost is not likely to get out of the ground before September.

The Legislatures of Connecticut, Massachusetts, and North Carolina, are expected to pass drastic regulations forbidding and penalizing the atrocious sport, so fashionable among aeromortuists, of trolling for cows. Thirty-two cows were caught by passing air-cars two miles back of Mark Twain's home last Sunday, the tackle being a three-inch cable with an anchor baited with a bale of hay at the end of it.

The relief car has started from the Paris Life-saving Station for the rescue of three aeromortuists whose car burst on Friday night. The occupants immediately took to their parachutes, but, these being out of order, refused to fall, with the result that the travellers have been stranded eight miles up in the air ever since. It is expected that they will be got down in safety. Exchange.

His Uses.

While Governor of Tennessee, Senator Robert L. Taylor was once approached by an old negro woman, who asked a pardon for her husband sent to the penitentiary for stealing a hog.

"How long has he been in jail?" was asked.

"Goin' on two years now," came the answer. "But, law, he ain't no good to them and wa'n't no good to me no how, an' I speck they'll be glad to get rid o' him."

"Why do you want to get him out if he was of no use to you?"

"To tell the truth, guv'nor, we done gettin' short o' meat."

A Bit Behind.

The Judge Blanks of Alameda are an old-fashioned family and there never has been any lack of childlike prattle in their home this twenty years and more. "How many of your children," asked the rector, on a recent pastoral visit, "have not yet been baptized?" "Why, let me see," replied Mrs. Blank; "there's Blanche, and Robert, and Seth, and Rebecca, and the baby. Dear me, I had no idea there were so many on hand since our last christenfull force, and I shall never let so many accumulate again."

No Agreement Has Yet Been Reached.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The report that Harland & Wolff, the great shipbuilders of Belfast, are to establish a plant in Canada and are to build the vessels for the new Canadian navy is not confirmed. Capt. Newton, A.D.C. to the governor general, mentioned as their Canadian representative, has denied that he is their representative. As already stated a number of British firms are contemplating the establishment of a Canadian branch, recognizing the great field for shipbuilding in Canada. No definite agreement, however, has been reached with the government as to the terms on which such a plant will be established.

There is no middle ground with some men. They either have to be on the water wagon or on the tank.

The depot of Meridian, Tex., is about a mile from the business part of the town, says Lippincott's. One night a sleepy, weary traveling man said to the darkey who was driving him to the hotel:—

"Old man, why in the name of heaven did they put this depot so far from the town?"

The darkey scratched his head in thought, and replied:—

"Waal, boss, I's foiced to admit dat I hasn't give de matter s'ficient cogitation, but jes' jumped up for a answer like dis, I s'pose dey done dat so as to have de depot as near as possible to de railroad."

GETTING POINTS ON BANKING IN CANADA FROM MR. FIELDING

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—(Special)—Congressman E. B. Vreeland, and ex-Congressman R. W. Boylston, who are members of a sub-committee of the United States congressional commission of finance and banking, had a conference with Finance Minister Fielding here today on the Canadian banking system. For two years the commission has been studying the leading countries for the purpose of devising improvement in the United States banking situation.

They Didn't Have to Change.

During the years in which our pure food laws have been put into effect there has been a great hurrying and scurrying on the part of the food manufacturers to change their methods to make them conform to the law.

The Quaker Oats Company is a conspicuous exception. It was admitted that Quaker Oats was as pure and clean as possible and that it was an ideal food. The purity and cleanliness of Quaker Oats is familiar to every one who has compared it with other brands of oatmeal.

It is so cheap that any one can afford it and so nourishing that every one needs it. The result of last year's experiments at Yale and other points where food values were tested is that Quaker Oats has been adopted by many persons as their food on which they rely for adding vigor and endurance of muscle and brain.

THE ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF MAN.Recent Discoveries of Human Remains.

London, Oct. 6.—Recent discoveries of human remains in France and Germany have caused a revision of the old theories as to the origin and development of the human race. The discovery by Dr. Schoentgen at Maur, near Heidelberg, already reported, of the lower jaw of a man in a pre-glacial deposit has attracted the attention of the leading anthropologists of Europe.

Promoted by increased interest in the subject the authorities of the Natural History Museum of South Kensington have arranged a collection of casts and original specimens of the oldest human remains. All the discoveries tend to increase the presumptive antiquity of man's presence on earth, and even to throw some light on the degree of culture and civilization he possessed.

The Heidelberg remains are held to be certainly pre-glacial, and older than any yet discovered. The marked affinity which the mandible or lower jaw presents to those of the anthropoid apes led many to think that here was the missing link. The most striking of these resemblances are the size and thickness of the jaw and the absence of any trace of chin formation.

Against these must be set the presence of a complete set of teeth agreeing in dentition with those of the human race of today and presenting marked variations from those of any of the anthropoids. The difference is so marked as to lead anthropologists to regard the human dentition as more primitive than that of the ape family, and it is now admitted that no anthropoid stage immediately preceded the age of the Heidelberg man.

Comparing the Heidelberg remains with the Neanderthal skull, which has long formed a standard, the changes which must have taken place are so numerous and marked that the million of years suggested as the age of the Heidelberg skull seems reasonably justifiable.

Intermediate between the two comes the skeleton found at Chapelle aux Saints in France, which has now been partially reconstructed. It is the remains of a very old man about four feet high. The large size of the lower jaw and the absence of any chin formation, together with the wide nasal aperture and brow arches, serve as connecting links.

It is important to notice that ancient as these remains are they afford some evidence that man was even then far removed from the brute creation and possessed some beginnings of civilization. The skeleton found at Le Moustiere shows that diluvial man buried his dead and did not leave them to chance.

The bodies were found in the position of sleep with the head turned to the right and the right arm under the head, while near the body were placed worked palaeolithic flints, tools or weapons. So man had reached the tool making stage, and had a belief in the wants of the dead.

The skeleton at Chapelle aux Saints was carefully laid out on its back, with portions of a bovine animal near as a food offering, resembling in this respect the early stages of a prehistoric ritual of burial in Egypt.
