A Disgrace to Woodstock.

For the past two weeks we have endeavored to bring before the people of the town of Woodstock the disgraceful condition that prevails on Queen street. Since first entering on this campaign against the evil as it is at present there have been fights and much drunkenness. This is not all. When these same "lager beer" saloons entice children into them and give them drink its about time that, not the temperance element alone, but every person who cherishes the hope that their children will never become addicted to drink, "sit up and take notice." This outrage has happened. A little boy only four years of age was enticed into one of these dens of iniquity and given drink. What do you think of that good people, who live in a christian community?

What do you think of that Messrs Town Councilors?

What do you think of that, Mr Munro? You no doubt, when you had the present law framed which allows these "holes" to exist, were doing what you thought would be best for the community, not in it being made possible for them to exist, but to make matters better than they had been heretofore. But you see that bill of yours has proved a miserable failure and it is up to you, Mr Munro to see that the present law is repealed: The present law provides that: To regulate the sale of beer of all kinds (not to include any intoxicating liquors however) within the town of Woodstock, and to fix a scale of fees to be charged as license for the privilege of selling any and all kinds of beer within the said town, and to provide penalties for enforcing of said bye-law when so enacted.

You have the chance to right the great wrong your bill has caused to the people of this vicinity.

We do not believe the council has a right to grant licenses to any person to sell "lager beer" as that is an intoxicating liquor, and those who sell it can be proceeded against under two counts, for selling intoxicants and if they have not received a license, for selling without a license. There has been no penalties attached for the selling of "lager beer" as yet.

Lager beer is just as intoxicating as any other liquor and we will wager $100 that if 100 men were given it to drink that all would be drunk, some sooner than others. What are you going to do about it? It's up to you, Councilors, to have these licenses revoked as the law says:

"The Town Council of the Town of Woodstock in Carleton County, in addition to the general powers of making bye-laws for the good government of the said town and the other powers incident thereto, especially conferred in and by the provisions of the Acts incorporating and relating to the said town, shall have the sole power and authority, from time to time, to make, ordain, enact, revise, alter and amend such laws as they may deem proper for the several purposes following within in the said town. That is to say: To regulate the sale of beer of all kinds (not to include any intoxicating liquors however) within said town, etc."

You have got to do something about it. The people expect that you will remedy this evil that has fallen on the town. The people demand it. All pure minded people are looking for you to do something on this subject, demand that you eliminate this evil. If you do not do something the people will tell you what they think about it when they cast their vote again. You are the ones who made it possible for this hellish business to be in our midst and you are the ones to remedy it. Are you going to do it?

Last week there was a fight in one of the "holes" and one man had his face "smashed" and himself knocked under a table where he lay. Where was the town guardians about this time? This is one instance of rowdism that has passed unnoticed by the public. This week a drunk was either thrown, or, as the perpetrators say, fell through the window. However this man, Mike Courtney was so drunk that he does not remember anything about it. He is now lying in the hospital with head, face and hand cut so badly that a doctor's assistance was required and a goodly number of stitches taken to keep the man from bleeding to death. There he is, lying at the hospital from the effects of the wounds, caused by drinking "lager beer." Isn't this enough excuse to close all those "ranches" on Queen St? Isn't this enough evidence that those places are not fit places to be let run. If you Councilors haven't got enough back-bone, enough stamina in your make up to stop such "hell holes" right in our midst, what are you there for?

It is time you should be up and doing? Here is a school directly opposite the saloons. This is a nice sight to greet the eyes of the children as they come to school or go home from school. Here is christian teachers doing their utmost to instill in the young minds the evils of drink. Here are hundreds of parents paying their taxes for the privilege of giving their children a good education. And here are you, sitting up in council afraid to do anything or don't want to, to stop these "devilish hell holes." Why! what can be more satanic like than to take a little four years old child and teach him evil. It may be your boy next.

The immigration to Canada from Jan 1st 1897 to March 31st 1909 shows a total of all countries. 1897, 21,716; 1898, 31,900; 1899, 44,543. First six months of 1900 there landed on these shores 22,895. Fiscal year 1900—1901, 49,149; 1901—02, 67,379; 1902—03, 128, 364; 1903—04, 130,331; 1904—05, 146,266; 1905—06, 189,064; 1906—07, 124,667; 1907—08, 262,499; 1908—09, 146,908. Showing a grand total of 1,366,651. Of this total there were 540,631 of British immigration. There were 400,552. For the same period there emigrated from the United States 426,670. During the above period, 30 per cent of arrivals from continental countries made entry for homesteads in Western Canada, while many others engaged with farmers or in domestic service. Forty three per cent of arrivals from the United States made homestead entry in the western provinces and brought with them alone, in 1907—8 more than $52,000,000 in cash and settler's effects. During the period from July 1st 1900 to March 31st 1909 437,801. English and Welsh 21 per cent made homestead entries. Scotch immigration amounted to 94,279 of which 22 per cent made homestead entries. While the other worked as farm laborers and domestics in other parts of the Dominion. The Irish immigration from July 1st, 1900 to March 31st, 1909 were 30,184 of which 24 per cent made homestead entry in Western Canada. This does not take into account the large number of farm laborers and domestics who have settled in other parts of the Dominion.

The Japanese immigration to Canada for the fiscal year 1907-08, 7,601; and 1908-09, 495.

Those who were debarred at Ocean ports since Dec 1902 when the Medical Act went into force and also number held for further inspection 23,700. The number of deported that is, those who passed inspection and who afterwards became a public charge in one way or another, and were returned to the county from which they came, from 1902 to 1909, 3,149.

The Canadian Government does not encourage in any way the immigration of skilled laborers, mechanics, or artisans of any sort and no effort is made to find employment for such on their arrival. Farmers, farm laborers and female domestic servants are the only people the Canadian Immigration Department advises to come to Canada. All others should have definite assurance of employment in Canada before leaving home and have money enough to support them for a time in case of disappointment.

Mr and Mrs J Albert Hayden expect to leave next week on a trip to the Coast, taking in the Fair at Seattle on their way.

Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde.

Carleton County never realized that when they elected Mr Flemming to the elevated position which he now holds that he was a case of another Mr Hyde. The electors are ashamed of the tactics pursued by the present incumbent in office of provincial secretary. They are amazed to think that Mr Flemming whom every one of both parties respected, should in such a brutal and unfeeling manner reflect on the memory of the dead, and then turn his attack on the living in such a low vulgar method. To say that his constituents are amazed would be putting it mild, they are simply dumbfounded that a Carleton County man could so far forgetting himself. Above everything Mr Flemming, decency should be first. The people are tired of such gutter parliamentarians and when you come before them again to ask for their support there shall be skaking of heads. Mr Flemming has done more in his unbridled speech at Fairville to hurt the cause of the conservatives than the most vigorous opponent could hope to do. Liberals, let it be your rallying cry. Show that decency and fair play are the first ingredients of gentleman.

Henry Chestnut.

In the death of Henry Chestnut Frederick loses one of its best citizens. He passed peacefully away at his home after a lingering illness. Mr Chestnut was the well known hardware merchant, the hardware business being known as R. Chestnut & Sons. On the death of his father he took over the management of the business and was identified with it up to the day of his death. Besides the hardware business the firm started another, that of the manufacture of canvas canoes which gives promise of assuming large proportions. Mr Chestnut was a gentleman of unblemished reputation, a man of practical ideas and very methodical in his work. A staunch advocate of temperance he did much in an unostentatious way to further those objects. His death is a distinct loss to the city of which he has been a citizen since 1860. The funeral took place last Sunday. Interment in Rural cemetery.

May be a General Strike.

Indications point to a general strike all over the province, of the Dominion Coal Co. Conciliation boards are now enquiring into the grievances of the United Mine Workers and it has been conceded that only the necessity of holding these conciliation boards before a strike can be legally called has so far prevented the men from being called out at the Sydney Mines and Spring Hill mines.

The men of the R R C I stationed at Halifax have been hurried to the scene of the trouble and as yet no demonstrations have been made against them. The khaki uniforms and glittering bayonets have the desired effect of quieting all disturbances. General Drury is now in personal command of the troops. An effort was made Saturday to have the troops withdrawn but without success.

The Bullets and Pirates will play a series of three games commencing some time the first of the week. The admission will be 50c for the series. Proceeds to go towards buying suits for the "Woodstocks." The boys have taken this way to raise the money rather than take around a subscription paper. They deserve the patronage of all lovers of the sport.

SUCCESS ASSURED.

Miss Florence H Minard of Providence, R.I., who is spending the summer months in Bath at the home of her grand father, Geo Milbury Esq. is the guest of her aunt, Mrs C M Sherwood, Centreville. Miss Minard was graduated with honors from the Rhode Island School of Design in 1908, and was at once chosen as a teacher for the same institution. She also teaches in the Providence High School and a private school. She is an artist of much promise. Her specialty is portrait painting.

We wish her success which will surely come by close application, and strict training under foreign masters.

The Shippers Association of York Carleton and Victoria Counties have called their second meeting to take place in this town on Thursday, July 22nd. This movement on the part of the Association is a very creditable one and much benefit will be derived from it by the farmers throughout the said counties. At the last meeting held in Woodstock a rate of 8 1-2 to 11 1-2 was offered by the transportation companies.

The Provincial Government have now stepped in and will no doubt lead the people to think that they are responsible for this good movement, when in fact, the government, until just before the second time of meeting took no notice of the movement.

Again, the Federal Government has had a special commissioner in the West Indies for over two months doing just that which is of the utmost importance in furthering the plans of this and other shipping associations, i.e. finding the best markets and being in the end instrumental in getting better rates. The local government has just awoke to this fact.

O M Foster.

At Houlton, Saturday, July 10th, at the advanced age of 76 years, O M Foster, a well-known and much respected citizen passed away. Mr Foster was once a citizen of this town and was especially known and thought much of for the intrepid manner in which he helped the afflicted ones during the cholera epidemic years ago. He was married three times, his last wife being Mrs McKay who survives him. He leaves three children, Mrs Dayton of Boston, Mrs Bryant of Somerville, Mass, and Frank, Foster of Woodstock. The funeral which was very large was held in Houlton last Monday, interment being at that town.

BASE BALL.

In the game at Island Park, Wednesday afternoon between Monticello and Woodstock the latter team won after a slow game by the score of 14 to 6. The line up was as follows:

MONTICELLO

K Nickerson 1 f
Wellington 2nd b
Nason s s
H Hartt p
C Sharp c f
J Nickerson r f
F Buck 3 b
W Melville c
E Crosby 1st b
WOODSTOCK.
McRae 1st b
Pickel c f
Atherton 3rd b
Leighton s s
Payson c
Dalling r f
Ryan 2nd
Dow p
Jones 1 f

Time of game 1h 40 min. Umpire Donnelly.

In the 1st half of the fourth inning Robbie Faulkner had the little flogger of the left hand broken putting him out of the game. Payson went behind the bat and caught a good game.

The game in the evening proved a much faster game in some respects, but the score stood nearly the same as the preceding game. The Monticellos were again defeated with a score 11 to 6. The visiting team had hard work and did their best, but Woodstock was much the quicker. Many costly errors were made on both sides, which accounts for the large scores.

Press Comments.

The Carleton Sentinel makes its appearance this week in enlarged form and with a new and attractive dress. We congratulate The Sentinel on this evidence of increasing prosperity. Sharpshooters from over the Co arrived in town Wednesday for the annual County Rifle Competition Shoot, Thursday and Friday will be two busy days at the range. Some splendid shooting is expected.

LOST.—From in front of my house at Upper Woodstock, last Saturday night my English Bull Dog, named Guard. Color white with large black spots, would be called black and white, with tail black with white tip. Weight about fifty five pounds. Had wide brass studded leather collar. This dog is unusually marked, and is well known, and if he followed any person away, I will be glad if they or any one else will inform me, so that I can get him. People are now looking for him and I will call off the search.

Resolution of Sympathy.

McKenzie Corner.
July 8th, 1909

Mr J H FORREST :—

Dear Sir :—At a recent meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of McKenzie Corner, Pres Church, following resolution was adopted :—Regarding the loss sustained by our Society in the death of Mrs Forrest : Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God, to remove from our midst by the cold hand of death, our beloved Sister; therefore,

Resolved that we place on record our profound sorrow at the loss sustained by our Society in her death, and that we tender you in this your time of deep bereavement our unfeigned sympathy, and counsel you to sorrow not as one without hope. An earnest worker and a consistent Christian, for her to die was gain, but her departure from this sphere of labor, causes a deep sadness, especially among us with whom she worked so cheerfully. Our hearts are filled with sorrow for the bereaved home and your two absent children so far from you; the saddened hearts so suddenly called upon to mourn, elicit our deepest condolence which we most sincerely offer. We would humbly counsel those bear the burden of sorrow to look to Him who is the God of consolation, and he who alone is able and ever willing to wipe away all tears from our eyes.

Yours Sincerely,
MRS J S MERRITT HEW, Sec'y.

A Trick With a Slate

An ordinary slate, such as children write on, is shown to the audience; to prove that nothing is written upon it, both sides are rubbed with a wet sponge. A chair is brought to the foreground, the seat of which is covered with a black cloth. Then the performer asks any girl in the audience to be kind enough to give her first name, and offers to let the slate guess the date of her birth. After the name is given, the performer places the slate on the chair, and lays a piece of chalk upon it. After making a few motions over the slate to indicate that the writing is going on, the performer lifts up the slate and behold! One side of the slate shows the correct name and date of birth.

This seems to be a trick hard to explain, but nevertheless it is a very simple one. Take a plain slate, on one side of which the name and the date are previously written. All friend of the performer is instructed to call the name so quickly that no one else can get ahead of him. All that is left to do is to secrete the name and date on the slate until it is time for it to appear. To do this you will have to get a piece of cardboard, fitting exactly over the black part of the slate both sides of which are covered smoothly with black slate paper. Sheet B is laid over the side of the slate with the writing on it (a). Place the slate with the sheet over it face down on the chair. When you are going to show the secret writing to the audience, lift the slate in such a way that the sheet stays upon the black cloth, where it (being black, too) cannot be discerned.

A SECOND LIFE

"If I only had another chance?" How often are these despairing words uttered when a man feels his strength ebbing, his vital forces depressed, his health undermined—often as the result of his own errors or follies—and he realizes the infinite possibilities which might lie in his grasp, could he indeed receive, in Shakespeare's phrase, "a second life." Happily for the world, this other chance, this "second life" is to be had for the asking by means of that which has been ably described by a famous physician as "the last word science has spoken" on the subject of such remedial agents, and to which, by virtue of its health-giving properties, the name of Vital—meaning life "health producer"—has been given.

Tonic Food for the Brain and the Nerves

So potent is its force that it will not only restore the life and vigor which have been lost, but, if persevered in, will in addition impart the highest measure of nervous and physical vigor of which the individual is capable: for there is a maximum capacity of health for everyone, though he may not hitherto have had the fact impressed upon him. Doctors endorse this and daily prescribe Vital in increasing quantities. The constituents which give this power are known to every physician, and one has testified to the supreme merits of Vital as

A Revitalizing Force

after wasting illness and as restorer of health, not only in nervous diseases (with their innumerable symptoms of discomfort and distress, including loss of memory, insomnia, irresolution, weakness of the will, &c.), but also in anemic digestive disturbances and consumption.
