Our Defective Fathers.

Having ascertained the result of the 130 race, the young man was about to drop the paper when something caught his eye. He started to read it.

'Come on,' said his friend, rattling the dominoes impatiently on the mottled marble of the cafe table. 'It's twenty past two now, and we must have one more game before we get back to the office.'

'No hurry, Dick,' said the other, 'the governor's away, and I heard Benson say he was going to have a tooth out, and mightn't be back till 3.' Benson was the manager.

'Oh all right,' said Dick, lighting a fresh cigarette.

His friend grinned over the paper. 'This is bloomin' funny,' he said.

'What is it?' queried Dick.

'Why, a girl joined the Mormons and eloped to America. Her father borrowed some money and went after her. And when he got to New York they wouldn't let him through. Said he'd got heart disease and fired him back.'

'Ha ha!' chuckled Dick. 'Bloomin' funny!' And they resumed the dominoes.

'I say, Bert,' said Dick at the end of the game, 'why don't you leave home and go halves in my dig?' 'I would if I could afford it,' said Bert, 'for I can't stand my old man.'

'Did he rag you about Monday night?' queried Dick.

'No, luckily he had an attack of lumbago, and went to bed early. Mother sat up for me and of course she would not tell him I was 'squiffy. It was nearly two when I got in.'

'What's the matter with the old man, then?' 'Oh, he says I ought to give mother more money. I gave her ten bob as it is. How much does he think I can take home out of two quid a week? And he was shifty because I lifted a couple of cigars I found on the mantel-piece, and have been using his razor lately. I told him mine was blunt, the old fool.'

'He gasses about what he's done for me, and says I take everything as a matter of course, because I asked him to lend me 25 bob for my season ticket, I told mother yesterday I was sick of him.'

'What did she say?' 'She said he's always telling her he's sick of me. And what with his going on about me and his going on about brother Bob, she says she's sick of her life.'

All sick, grinned Dick. 'We are a merry family, we are, we are, we are. What's Bob been up to?' 'Oh, he's been foolin' after some girl and getting into debt. Took her out in a trap and ran over some old chap and his relations came round and tackled my old man. Said Bob was driving recklessly, and they want ten quid compensation. Injured his knee cap or something. So dad's got the needle about that too. Says everything seems to fall on him. Bob told mother straight that with a man like father there's no encouragement to stop at home. He says, same as me that if he could afford it he'd clear out. And, as I say to her, I ain't a kid now. I'm a man, and I like to be treated as a man. Let's have another game.'

TUMOR OF YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Eleven years ago I went to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth in the uterus. The doctors said it was a tumor, and could not be removed, as it would cause instant death. They found that other organs were affected and said I could not live more than six months in the condition I was in. After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and still take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women."

Brings Misery.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restore Despondent Sufferers to Health.

Nothing is so distressing as a weak stomach—the victims of this trouble suffer from indigestion, biliousness, dizziness and frequent headaches. No food agrees with them—meal time is a time of misery; not a time of pleasure. Relief from this suffering can be found through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—they never fail to make the weak stomach strong; to banish the distressing headaches; biliousness and dizziness. Mrs. C. S. Steeves, of Hillsboro, N. B., is one of the many who have been cured through the use of these pills. She says:—"I suffered very much from stomach trouble and would often leave the table without tasting food. I got no relief worth speaking of till I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They gradually restored my health and strength and now I am as well as ever I was. I would earnestly recommend them to all those who suffer as I did."

It is the blood—bad blood—that is the cause of nine tenths of the ailments from which both men and women suffer. The blood is the life-giving fluid of the body. When the blood is bad it is bound to poison some part of the human system and thus it is that rheumatism, kidney trouble, indigestion, headaches and backaches and a host of other troubles make their appearance. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all these troubles—and they cure them thoroughly—simply because they fill the veins with rich red blood. The genuine Pills bearing the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" are sold by all dealers in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

They had another game and then sauntered back to the office. 'See you at the Pavilion tonight,' said Bert as they entered, and if the old man says anything more to me about money matters, and my follies and all that much, I mean to tell him plain that he's the sort of a father that drives sons away from home and makes them go to the bad.'

Meanwhile the fathers of England are being upbraided by bishops and statesmen. This question seems to have excited so many people lately that I thought it would be interesting to get the opinion of a few fathers on the subject families.

I first addressed myself to an old gentleman—very wealthy—with one son.

'What is your view of children as a source of happiness?' I asked. He frowned. 'Take that boy of mine,' he said grimly. 'I sent him to Oxford and told him he could go to Cambridge, too, if he liked. I gave him means to keep his end up with the sons of dukes and earls. He got into society that I wasn't good enough for, and then he went and married a bar-maid.'

'Perhaps it was all for the best, murmured the mother.

'All for the best,' groaned the father.

'Why, she hooked him like a fish and she drinks like one. And so does he. I can't do anything with him.'

I realize that the subject of children was not a popular one in that house. So I interviewed a friend who I thought could be regarded as an authority—a clergyman with seven daughters and four sons. He said his sons had left home and he hoped they were doing well. Having known a few clergymen's sons I did not press the matter further.

'I do not wish to be personal,' I explained. 'I want your views on families generally.' He said speaking generally, of course, that families involved a natural anxiety. And where there were many daughters he thought there was a tendency to overrule parental authority.

'Yes,' I said, sympathetically, 'I know.' I next visited a schoolmaster and asked him what he thought of the twentieth century child.

'The twentieth century child is the children's millennium,' he said. 'Filial respect and obedience are old-fashioned, and children look upon their parents as nothing more than survivors to ministers to their wants, and give them a good time.'

Later I interviewed a father belonging to the class that have the largest families. 'We've had eight and buried five and I wish we'd bury the lot.'

'Dear me!' I exclaimed. How's that? The bishop of London says that the worst man is he who gives a family to the nation.'

'Never mind the bishop of London,' he said; 'look at this. And he handed me the advertisement of which ran: Caretaker Wanted. Man and Wife. No encumbrances. And I do defy you or any body else to manage that boy of mine. He's only ten and he's a handful, I give you my word.'

I sighed. And passing through a narrow street I came upon a small boy with a large barrow. It was stocked with bananas and he was just about to wheel it off.

'Goodbye mother,' There was a grey haired woman at the door of a small house.

'Good bye,' dear. Hope you'll sell out. He trundled off.

'You're son, ma'am?' I asked.

'Yes, sir,' she replied. Thank God Since his father died, 18 months ago, he's kept me and himself with that barrow. And I'll back him against any man on the road for sellin' bananas.—London Ideas.

BANKER ON THE WEST

Mr. Stuart Strath, general manager of the Traders Bank of Canada who is at present in the West on a trip of inspection is impressed with the progress since his visit four years ago. No man can predict what the future is going to be like, he said. "What this country will be in a dozen years it will be impossible to tell, the advancement will be so great. The thing is to keep a level head, and not go into extravagance or some will suffer. What you want is a desirable class of immigrants, for the country has everything else. We are apparently getting that class from the United States. Men who know the condition are coming in here with money to make homes for themselves and better their lot in life and are determined to succeed."

"The eyes of all money centres are looking towards Canada at the present time," he continues, "and if we as Canadians only do what is right, not trying to foist injudicious schemes upon an investing public we will get all the necessary capital that is required to develop the resources of this country. One does not like to prophesy, but everything looks favorable to a steady growth and better times than those which have ever been experienced in the country."—Monetary Times.

HAWKING MACHINES.

Catarth Sufferers Are Nothing But Hawking, Spitting and Blowing Machines, Says an Authority.

Is it possible that in these days when cleanliness and sanitary reform is being preached in the churches, schools and at public gatherings, the thousands of people will continue to suffer from catarrh when there is an absolutely certain remedy always on hand.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is a pleasant, medicated and antiseptic air. Breathe it in and it will cure catarrh. It will stop foul breath, watery eyes, and crusts in the nose in a few days.

Mrs. H. W. Wilson, of Johnson St., Wallaceburg, Ont., says: "Yes, we are great friends of Hyomei for the reason that Mr. Wilson has had catarrh for several years and tried several remedies and doctors, but nothing has relieved the trouble like Hyomei. His trouble is from pains across the eyes and a burning or huskiness in his throat. Sometimes much difficulty in breathing, the glands in his eyes and nose swollen and the disease made him literally sick all over. He cannot say enough in praise of Hyomei, and there is nothing that can give better relief to catarrh than this remedy, which we heartily recommend."

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a strong, hard rubber pocket inhaler and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1.00, and extra bottles, if after wards needed, cost only 50 cents each. E. W. Mair sells it and guarantees it to do exactly as advertised.

Hyomei also cures Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Infant's Croup.

The most cooling of hot weather beverages is iced "Salada" Tea. It is most delicious.

COSTIVENESS AND ITS CURE.—When the excretory organs refuse to perform their functions properly the intestines become clogged. This is known as costiveness and if neglected gives rise to dangerous complications. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will effect a speedy cure. At the first intimation of this ailment the sufferer should procure a packet of the pills and put himself under a course of treatment. The good effects of the pills will be almost immediately evident.
