Great Liberal Victory

In St John County.

Bentley New Member; Majority Fifty.

Hazen Workers Used all Manner of Means to Get a Majority. Laughable Incident of the Road Machine. Fairville Scene of Wild Demonstration.

A F Bentley, of St Martins, is the new member for St John county in the provincial legislature. J P Mosher, the candidate of the Hazen government, is defeated by a majority of fifty. People read in the election of yesterday more than the defeat of Mosher; they see in it another stinging blow at the Hazen administration which has now suffered its third successive defeat since placed in power in March of last year.

It was a fiercely fought battle. Old campaigners said they had never seen such a contest. The government threw into the lists its full fighting force. The premier himself, every one of his lieutenants except Hon Dr Landry, stumped the county, and with them a big array of lesser lights sought to talk the people out of their well established opinions.

Hazen himself led the election day workers in Lancaster and at all the polls the government party had strong forces at work. There was no lack of money and it was freely spent in a vain endeavor to stem the tide. Seven dollars, $13, and as high as $20, it is said, could be had by anyone wishing to do business in the franchise privilege in favor of the government candidate. This was reported as being the situation all over the county.

An amusing spectacle of the day in Lancaster was a road machine being driven through the main street of Fairville, presumably in a last desperate effort to create an impression that something would be done with the roads. There was a good deal of laughter over this feature of the day.

Mr Bentley spent the day in St Martins and Mr Lowell made a good day's work tell in Lancaster. Hon Mr Robinson, Hon Mr Sweeney, Mr Copp and other active party men did good work in various sections and helped to swell Bentley's majority.

Bad roads, broken pledges and the many other counts in the indictment against the government had prepared the electorate for the result which the polls showed, even though it was early granted to mean a hard fight to beat a government in a by-election. Nevertheless, the returns caused great rejoicing for the opposition, and they had another effect as well—they rendered unnecessary the use of Keith's assembly rooms where it had been intended to hold a government jubilation.

In Simonds the Hazen forces gathered in great strength. Every possible influence was used in an endeavor to defeat Mr Bentley. It is told that there was no scruple in the methods adopted to accomplish his defeat. All sorts of promises were thrown out and all kinds of tactics adopted. As an instance it is reported that at one poll voting privilege was refused some half dozen electors holding certificates showing them to be entitled to vote. Hon C W Robinson visited the scene with High Sheriff Ritchie, and matters were straightened out.

In another section a bar was practically established. The usually quiet village of Fairville was the scene of a demonstration last evening in honor of the victory of the local opposition and the return of A F Bentley such as has probably never been witnessed in any previous by-election in the province.

By common consent it was the storm centre in the battle, so when the victory was won the jubilation knew no bounds. With the exception of Mr Bentley, who celebrated the occasion in his home village of St Martins, nearly all the speakers who had taken part in the fight against the Hazen government, made Fairville their headquarters during the evening and received such a welcome it seemed as if their friends would never let them go.

Cheering crowds thronged the roadway from the Suspension bridge to the Orange Hall, and so great was the enthusiasm that the speakers had to address the electors on the street before attending the meeting which had been arranged. On all sides there was a feeling that a crushing blow had been dealt the Hazen government. It was a night of nights for St John county had stood true to its colors despite the desperate efforts which had been made to lower them in defeat.

There was a great enthusiasm in St Martins when the result of the contest was finally known. Mr Bentley's friends cheering and shouting, went in a body to his house and started a large bonfire on the grounds. The cheering became a perfect storm when the newly elected member showed himself and there were calls for a speech.

So loud was the demonstration that it was some time before Mr Bentley could make himself heard. When order had in a measure been restored he thanked the people for their support in the contest and promised to use the utmost of his powers in making them a good representative in the local house.

The demonstration was kept up to a late hour last night.

HON. C. W. ROBINSON SPEAKS OF WHAT VICTORY MEANS.

By-elections are generally supposed to result in favor of the government in power, but New Brunswick has furnished a striking exception to the rule.

Only one such instance might be attributed to local conditions but a succession of defeats causes one to look for some other cause.

In St John county many things favored the Hazen government. The support of more than one Liberal newspaper, the unpreparedness of the opposition, a candidate well known in opposition to a maff previously little known outside of his own parish, the loss to the opposition of such a veteran campaigner as Mr McKeown, these all seemed to point to government victory, but here as elsewhere the verdict has been a condemnation of the government.

The result has been a tribute to Mr Lowell in Lancaster and Mr Bentley in St Martins, and must be a source of gratification to the staff of The Telegraph which alone, among the newspapers in St John, championed the cause of the opposition and came out of the campaign with increased prestige.

I wish to extend my thanks as leader of the opposition, to all those who so courageously fought against such great odds and assisted in the achievement of so signal a victory.

Yours faithfully,
C W ROBINSON.

Obituaries.

MRS MARGARET MCKINLEY.

On Friday night last occurred the death of Mrs Margaret McKinley, relict of the late James McKinley. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs John Loane, at the age of 84 years. Her demise is regretted by all who knew her as she had won the esteem of the whole neighborhood. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs John Loane, Mrs John McInch and Mrs Alex Kerr. The funeral was held Sunday at two o'clock. Interment taking place in the Episcopal Cemetery.

OLIVER RALSTON.

The remains of Oliver Ralston arrived on the noon express from Boston, Monday. Undertaker Day took charge on arrival and the remains were taken to Northampton where burial services were conducted by Rev Mr Turner. Mr Ralston is a native of Gratton and had gone to Boston for hospital treatment.

Miss Nettie Harrison, St Stephen, is spending a few weeks with Mr and Mrs DeLancy Smith.

The Rebekahs.

After the regular business meeting had been adjourned last Friday night, the Rebekahs held an entertainment which was much appreciated by the guests that were present. The very rainy night kept many from attending, but what it lacked in numbers it made up in enthusiasm. A program consisting of the following was rendered to an appreciative audience:

Piano Solo, Mr Roy Moores
Vocal Solo, Miss Edith Dalling
Accompanist, Mrs O A Townsend
Solo, Mr Fred L Moores
Accompanist, Roy Moores
Piano Solo, Mrs O A Townsend.
Piano Solo, Roy Moores
Cornet Solo, Geo S MacLauchlan
Vocal Solo, Mr Fred L Moores.

The circle was formed and "Auld Lang Syne" was sung with much heartiness. Then "God Save The King" followed.

An enjoyable evening was spent by all present and the wish of the writer is that the Rebekahs may have such another entertainment quite often.

To the Merchants.

We mentioned the past two weeks ago that we had refused advertising matters from mail order houses. Now, we did so with the expectation that our own local merchants would assuredly do their share in return. You local merchants claim that you can give bargains equally as good as any mail order house. We believe you can, but then you make the almost fatal mistake of keeping quiet about it. You do not tell the people what you have got for them. How do you expect them to go to you for these bargains if you do not take the trouble to invite them through a well-written "ad." The mail order houses get on the "house top" as it were and proclaim their bargains by the newspapers, catalogues, circulars, etc. And the advertising brings results as you merchants must realize when you see the bundles and packages that arrive in almost every train; packages from this mail order house and that mail order house. It makes you feel angry that the people are so foolish as to send good money out of the town when you think that they ought to patronize their home merchants. The mail order houses spend thousands of dollars in advertising and it always brings results. Then when it does so much for them, why don't you go and do likewise. It is up to you to meet the mail order houses on their own grounds.

The local man need not spend so much money as his mail order house competitor. The local man knows his constituency; he is right on the spot; he can supply the goods at once; he comes into personal contact with his patrons. The local merchant should use his head. Let him tell the people what he has to offer; let him use plenty of space in the local paper, (of course we mean this paper), let him fight in every honorable way the growing tendency to buy out of town. Don't expect to conquer in a day, but keep persistently at it and as sure as the sun rises and sets you will succeed in eliminating this evil. Wake up to the opportunities and act as men who believe what they say when they claim they can give as good values as any outside concerns.

In discussing this question of advertising the subject is said to have been concisely summed up by John Wannamaker in the following words: "If there is one enterprise on earth that a 'quitter' should leave severely alone, it is advertising. To make a success of it one must be prepared to stick like a barnacle on a boat's bottom." He should know before he begins that he must spend money—lots of it. Somebody must tell him also that he cannot hope to reap results commensurate with his expenditure early in the game. Advertising doesn't jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power."

We quote the above as Wannamaker is, today, the most successful merchant and gained his great business simply through advertising and backing the "ads" up with the goods.

Amusements.

Attractions that will be presented at the Hayden-Gibson Theatre the coming season will be among the very best in the amusement line that has ever come to this town.

Among the bookings is that beautiful pastoral play, The Volunteer Organist. It is a very strong and most impressive drama. This company has visited the province for two successive seasons playing only in St John but this year they will visit Fredericton and Woodstock on their circuit. They will be here September 3rd and will be exceptionally strong attraction.

The Avery-Strong Company will show here on September 22, 23 and 24. This is another strong company and will please the people of Woodstock with three nights entertainment.

The week of Oct 4, 5 and 6 will see the popular Gladys Klark Co. This company has crowded houses wherever they show.

The week of Oct 14 to 16 will see the popular Wilmot H Young and Marjorie Adams with us. Mr Young writes that he will have a new show this season from start to finish, and will have in his repertoire the very latest successes in comedy and melo-drama, with a specially strong list of vaudeville acts.

The week of November 25 to 27 the favorite Klark-Urban Company will come before the footlights in Woodstock again and their return will be looked forward to with keen pleasure by play goers.

The W S Harkins Company will open here from November 29 to December 1st. When one reads the name W S Harkins at the head of an attraction he knows he is going to see the very best in that line. This company has been coming to the province for the past 35 years and no one has yet been heard to say that he was otherwise than pleased.

Mr Gibson has certainly a good list of attractions and intends to add more good ones as the season advances. We have the prettiest theatre cast of Boston, with no exceptions and Mr Gibson intends that none but up-to-date will be presented to the people.

Houlton vs Woodstock.

In the game of ball played before the fans at the island, Monday, scientific ball was put up by the Houlton team for the first six innings, at the end of which the score stood 9 to 2 in their favor. From this time the Houlton's were inclined to play loose ball thinking to make the score more even and the game more interesting.

Our boys knew they were up against a hard proposition and went in with the determination to stop the Houlton's all they could under the conditions.

Woodstock put up some good work and kept the Houlton's busy all through the game.

It was not to be expected that Woodstock would win, they even did more than was expected of them as they were playing against professionals who make it their business.

Houlton went to bat first and got in one run in the first inning, raised it three more in the second and added one more in the third. For the next two innings they were shut out. In the sixth inning the Woodstock's lost their heads a little and Houlton rolled up the score four more. The seventh inning with extra hard batting and some quick work at base running Houlton's score mounted up to the total of 14 runs. The eighth and ninth innings it was six goose eggs.

Woodstock was shut out in the first three innings but by hard work got two runs over home plate, the next three innings were the same as the first three, goose eggs, but in the eighth, good stick work, fast sprinting, and Houlton's getting mixed somewhat, allowed the home team to score four runs and three more scores were added in the ninth.

In the sixth inning Jimmie Dow took Long's place in the box but the game was too far advanced to be much benefited.

The following is the score by innings:
Houlton 131004500-14
Woodstock 000200043-9
Donnelly, Umpire

The line up of the teams were.

HOULTON	WOODSTOCK
Bridges	1st McRae
Wilson	3rd Atherton
Keane	s s Leighton
Good	c Payson
Tilton	2nd Ryan
Allen	p Long
Lawlis	1f Glidden
Harriman	c f Pickel
Ervin	r f Dalling

The game in the evening was called off on account of rain. There was some disappointment.

Decoration Day

It has become a universal and most beautiful custom nowadays to show respect for the deceased members of lodges by observing one day in the year as decoration day by surviving members, a custom that has been handed down first by the old soldiers of the great American Civil War. These veterans who survived that terrible war have made it one to be remembered by future generations. On May 30th the surviving veterans with wreaths of flowers and evergreen march to the cemeteries and decorate the graves of their departed comrades. The different societies have followed in like manner the beautiful custom. Last Sunday Carleton Lodge 100 F marched to the Methodist cemetery headed by the Woodstock Band and there decorated the graves of deceased brother Oddfellows. At three o'clock the parade formed in front of Oddfellows Hall. The society members dressed in regulation dress each carrying a wreath of flowers or bouquet making a most impressive procession. On arriving at the cemetery the graves of eight members, who are buried there were decorated. A memorial service was held, Rev G D Ireland leading the ceremonies.

Brunswick Rebekah Lodge No 44, decorated the grave of Mrs B B Manzer the only member of the order interred in the cemetery. This custom has been observed by the Oddfellows for years and is a most beautiful tribute to departed brothers. One of the great principles of Oddfellowship is shown. The three greatest are Friendship, Love and Truth, exemplified every day throughout the year by members, one to another.

After the ceremonies at the cemetery the procession returned to its starting point and were dispersed.

Scott Act Cases.

The following convictions were handed down by Magistrate Dibblee last week: John Carey, Boundary Line, five firsts and one second offence.

Berl Stackhouse, Bridgewater, five firsts Geo Schofield, West Florenceville, two first offences.

When those rumsellers come to the conclusion that it is better to live an honest life, and stop trying to debauch young men with strong drinks, how much better this would be and how much more happiness could be gotten out of life.

One first offence on James Barter, and one second offence. Miramichi, on Pilsner beer.
