GREETING.

To the Public:

Looking back over the past year which has been the most successful in our business history, we see substantial evidence of your good will in the business which you have extended to us during the year.

We appreciate it and take this opportunity to extend to you our hearty New Year's Greetings, knowing that this loyalty and patronage has made it possible for us to close our books for 1909 as the greatest business year in our experience.

During the coming year we shall endeavor to merit a still greater share of your patronage, with a service and a Drug Store stock not surpassed anywhere in this locality.

Again expressing our appreciation of your valued patronage and extending the season's greetings, we wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous 1910.

Yours very truly,

For the benefit of those merchants who abhor printers ink as a prime factor in the advancement of their interests, we state that Sampson—the strong man—was the first man to advertise. He took too columns to demonstrate his strength, and several thousands of people "tumbled" to the scheme. He brought down the house.
Moral, advertise.

Any one who does not want to receive a publication will have no trouble in discontinuing it, if you notify the publisher that you don't want the paper any longer —provided you owe nothing. Don't continue taking the paper until you are pressed for payment and then "swell up" and say "you never subscribed for it" No publisher wants to force anyone to take his paper if he does not want it—at the same time he expects those who take his paper to pay for it just the same as they pay any other debt.

New Years greeting to all, particularly to those who were so generous by their patronage during the year of 1909, which has made the year's business so successful and satisfactory. While again wishing you all a very Happy and prosperous New Year, I trust the same confidence and pleasant business relations will be continued during the coming year of 1910. The new store. JAS. S MC-

An irate citizen, we never mention names, says that hereafter he wants editors to mind their own business. My dear Christian friend, did you ever reflect, in your contemplative movements, when the moon is beaming, when the hired man snORES too loudly, and the yellow dog

THANKS!

howls on the lea, when the whipporwill sings in the tree, and Jack Frost gets in his work on the woodpile,—did you ever reflect in such times upon the idea that a paper containing only accounts of the editor's own private business would be apt to prove monotonous to the general public? They might stand it for awhile, but in the end it would be a thorn in the side and a weariness to the flesh, and all that sort of thing. No, brother, the editor's business is to make everybody's business his business. So there's no use making a chronic kicker of yourself for any one.
