OXOMULSION FOR WEAK CHILDREN!

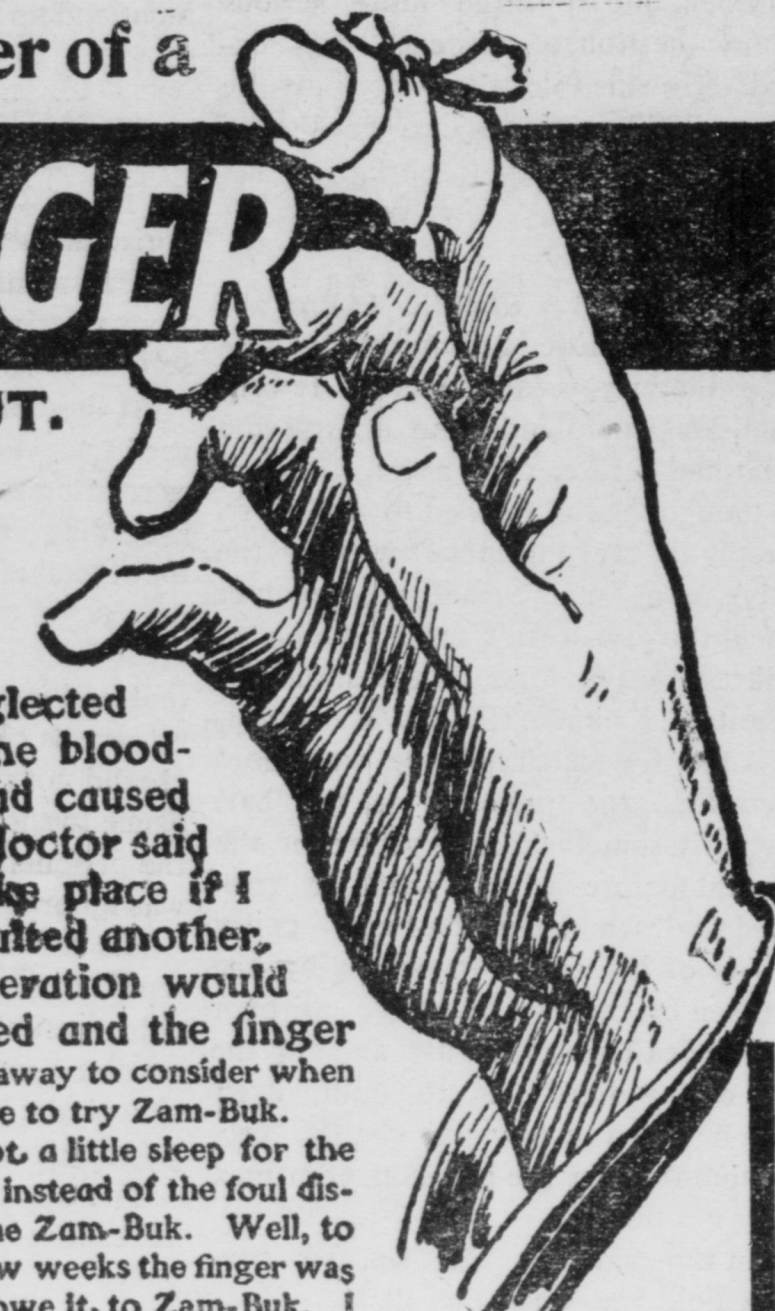

None are more subject to coughs, colds and bronchial troubles than the children. A cough is dangerous and should be stopped at once. Oxomulsion stops the cough and builds up the system at the same time and makes the little ones strong to resist the chills of winter. It makes new tissue and creates new strength and gives health. Pleasant to take, it is a perfect food for young and old. Good always results from using OXOMULSION. Prepared only by the Oxomulsion Co., corner Spadina Ave. and Phoebe Streets, Toronto. For sale by all druggists and stores, in two sizes, 35c and $1.00. MOTHER, PROTECT YOUR CHILDREN.

Do You Realise the Danger of a

POISONED FINGER

DEATH OFTEN LURKS IN A CUT.

YOU see this danger—illustrated in the case of Mr. W. C. Edwards, a well-known Friendly Society leader, of Peter Street, Toronto. He cut one of his fingers with a piece of glass, and instead of applying Zam-Buk to prevent blood poison and to heal it, he neglected the cut, and blood poison followed. He says:—"The blood-poison from the finger spread up my hand and arm and caused me terrible agony. After two months' treatment the doctor said there was no cure, and amputation would have to take place if I intended to save my arm. Then that doctor and consulted another. After a few weeks' treatment, he also told me that operation would be necessary. He said the bone had become diseased and the finger would have to be opened so that the bone could be scraped. I went away to consider when I would have the operation performed and met a friend who advised me to try Zam-Buk. That night I bathed the wound and put on some Zam-Buk. I got a little sleep for the first time for many nights. In the morning the wound began to bleed instead of the foul discharging as in the past. This was a healthy sign so I went on with the Zam-Buk. Well, to cut a long story short, in a few days I put away the sling, and in a few weeks the finger was healed completely. To-day that finger is as sound as a bell and I owe it to Zam-Buk. I spent over $20 in doctors fees and when I think how Zam-Buk at such a trifling cost saved me from amputation I am very grateful for the balm I can tell you."

WHAT ZAM-BUK CURES.

Zam-Buk cures cuts, burns, sprains, festering sores, ulcers, scalds, blood-poisoning, eczema, bad leg, diseased ankles, running sores, ringworm, cold-cracks, chapped hands, chilblains, and all other skin diseases and injuries. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, 3 for $1.25 or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse anything offered "just as good."

Pope's Physicians Say He Must Rest.

Rome, Oct. 3.—For several days past the Pope has been sick, but he continued to see visitors, hoping to overcome what he considers a slight indisposition. Yesterday he received in audience one of the bishops who noticed that the pontiff appeared tired and languid. After the audience was ended the symptoms became aggravated, there being considerable pain and swelling of the leg, which indicated a recurrence of the gout. Although the attack is slight, the Pope's doctors have insisted upon a complete rest and the audiences have been suspended.

Watching Canada's Attitude On Plan of Naval Defence.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—(Special)—Professor J. Harvard Biles, of Glasgow, vice-president of the Institute of Naval Architects, who arrived from England today, stated that Canada's attitude in the matter of naval defence was being eagerly watched in Britain. Professor Biles, it is understood, has been brought out by the Canadian government to offer suggestions as to the best means of forming a nucleus of a Canadian navy.

Hetty's uncle, who was a school teacher, met her on the street one beautiful May day and asked her if she was going out with the Maying party.

"No, I ain't going," said her uncle, "you must say 'I am not going.' You must not say 'I ain't going,' and he proceeded to give her a little lesson in grammar. "You are not going. He is not going. We are not going. They are not going. Now, can you say all that, Hetty?" "Sure, I can," she replied, making a courtesy. "There ain't nobody going."

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 11, 1903. MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., LIMITED. SIRS,—I came across a bottle of your MINARD'S LINIMENT in the hands of one of the students at the University of Maryland, and he being so kind as to let me use it for a very bad sprain, which I obtained in training for foot races, and to say that it helped me would be putting it very mildly, and I therefore ask if you would let me know of one of your agents that is closest to Baltimore so that I may obtain some of it. Thanking you in advance I remain, Yours truly, W. O. MCQUEAN.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Granville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."

"—MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R. E. D., Granville, Vt. No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

Ethel, the youngest of a large number of girls in a certain Philadelphia family, recently entered upon the duties of amanuensis to a Walnut street lawyer.

"How do you like your employer, Ethel?" the young woman was asked upon her return home that night. "Oh, he's very nice," said Ethel, with faint praise, "but awfully narrow-minded."

"In what way?" "He seems to have the idea that words can only be spelled his way."

Anemic women and children who frequently feel chilly, are pale and exhausted, will derive great benefit from the use of Ferrovin, the invigorating tonic, which consists of iron in a form they can assimilate, fresh lean beef and pure Sherry Wine. Nothing could be better than this combination of strength-giving agents in such cases. $1.00 per bottle.

French Jury Justifies Killing Suffering Wife.

Paris, Oct. 1.—"A man whose wife is dying of an agonizing disease is justified in killing her to put an end to her suffering if she implores him to do so."

So a jury perhaps, rather emotional, decided in the Court of Assizes here yesterday, and acquitted Edmond Baudin, who, at her prayer, shot and killed his wife on January 31, last.

Mme. Baudin had been afflicted with asthma for years. It gripped her throat, it was a weight on her lungs, it stopped her breath. She begged her husband to aid her by killing her quickly of the affection that was slowly throttling her.

Baudin, a mechanic, 39 years old, a rough and plain spoken man, sought to justify his act with words as straightforward as they were dramatic.

Tears streamed from his eyes while he testified. The jurors also wept and the women in the courtroom were semi-hysterical.

The presiding judge, who disappeared of the jury's verdict, remarked:

"For a moment the bandage on the eyes of justice was a handkerchief." "My wife, who I loved dearly, had suffered fearfully from asthma," Baudin testified. "She could not sleep. If she laid her head on the pillow she would cry, 'I am choking! In the name of the good God, end my misery! Let me die!'"

"On the night she—she died she was suffering intensely," Baudin went on between sobs. The medicine she was taking was nearly exhausted.

"I will go and get you some more medicine," I said.

"No," she said, buy no more medicine. You know we are poor. I am gone. Medicine will do me no good. I suffer! Oh, how I suffer. "But pay no more for medicine. I have cost you too much money already."

"If you love me put me out of my misery. Prove your love and let me leave you. Kill me! If you were a determined man you would not see me suffer as I do."

"I was maddened by the sight of her agony," Baudin ended. I seized a revolver with which I intended to defend my home; I shot her in the head; and she died instantly.

"I determined then to kill myself, but I thought of my sister, the only other being who depends on me. I went to see my sister. She wept, but told me I should surrender myself to the police, which I did at once."

When Baudin finished his testimony given with unaffected emotion every person in the court was in tears.

Following him Dr. Dupre, a distinguished alienist, testified that Baudin is perfectly sane. "But," said Dupre, "he was incited to this fatal act by the stronger will of his wife. Pity for her, directed by her will, led him to shoot her."

As Baudin left the courtroom a free man the crowd applauded him.

Harry Lauder, the Scotch comedian, who has the reputation of being uncommonly near, was passing the Hotel Astor, New York, one day last winter, with his manager, William Morris. Morris had lavished money on Lauder in the way of entertainment, and Lauder said:

"William, ye ha' been gude t' me, so ye have. Come in, now, an' I'll treat ye."

Morris grabbed at the opportunity. Although he was paying Lauder three thousand dollars a week, it was the first time Lauder had come up above the surface. They went in. There were three or four friends of Morris' there, and they came over to be introduced to Lauder, who was nervous during the introductions.

After everybody had been presented, Lauder drew Morris aside. "William," he said, "I said I would treat ye, but I didna say I'd treat all your friends. You will ha' to pay far it, William."

And that was what William did.

LAURIER HEARS THE REQUEST OF LABOR.

President of Canadian Federation of Labor Submits Resolutions Passed at Recent Convention

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—President J. W. Paterson and the new executive of the Canadian Federation of Labor, presented the resolution of the recent convention to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and Mr. King, minister of labor, on Saturday and received the usual assurances of careful consideration. The resolutions ask for action by the government on a number of subjects, including the coinage of half cent pieces, prohibition of military bands joining the international union, placing a tax on foreign employees of foreign corporations doing work in Canada, the subsidizing of Canadian shipbuilding, and the appointment of a royal commission to investigate the evils of international unionism.
