Hartland

The missionary meeting held in the Methodist chapel on Thursday evening last, was made very interesting by two able addresses delivered by Rev Mr Turner of Jacksonville and Rev Mr Fulton of Woodstock. The amount contributed for mission purposes exceeded $30.00.

Roy Rigby has purchased stock and trade of Ziba Orser and will continue the business in same stand in the Gillin block. An attractive and attentive saleslady will wait upon customers.

The death of Howe Campbell, Upper Brighton, caused a gloom over the community and sorrowing hearts with wife and children. Only 40 years of age and was energetic and industrious. He was planning for an extended business in milling. One by one the sympathy of the community is with the bereaved.

William Barter of Avondale, was in the village on Monday. He has been engaged on the transcontinental all fall and winter but is now doing carpenter work.

Reported 14 freight cars left track at Peel water tank on Monday last. No person killed or seriously injured, but considerable damage to cars.

Fresh supply of rolled oats, gusdo and sweet biscuits at Everett's agency, north side in tony district. Whips and spavin cures always.

Frank Grant's photograph galleries in building next south of Clark's Hotel, is attracting a good patronage.

A distemper known as horseale is in some stables in the village. It should be stamped out quickly.

Rain of Saturday settled the snow and having frozen, the roads are much improved.

Wanted in Hartland—Some one with brains, money and pluck to operate the woodworking factory which with plant stands idle. A good chance for the right parties to make money.

On Wednesday, 10th inst, by virtue of a licence issued by J C Everett based upon a mutual understanding between the contracting parties, Arthur E Kennedy of Knowlesville and Nellie K Brown of Glassville, were united in the holy estate of matrimony. Rev Mr Murray was the officiating clergyman. May extreme happiness during a long and successful life be their portion.

J W Wolverson was in this village a few days ago on business.

Call at J C Everett's agency and settle the Ziba Orser claims and save costs. Immediate collection is demanded.

We hear different expressions of opinion respecting the $400.00 anonymous letter mentioned in last weeks letter. One says "An honest man got in a hard place, cribbed a little at a time, always intended making it good, or would not have kept a memoranda telling him of the full amount." Another says "D—d thief, afraid of being discovered, exposed and punished and uses the conscience money scheme." Another "Got into the hands of salvationist, found he had to make restitution or could not be recognized here or hereafter." Another "Probably his wife knew about it and being honest threatened him with a divorce to prevent bearing the name of the wife of a thief." Another "He was a big fool if he got away with so much money and no prospect of being discovered, that he should have kept it, being possible that the man to whom he sent it may have cheated some one else out of it. With all honesty is the best of policy.

Hay coming in rapidly. Short of cars for shipping. Immense piles in R R yard with warehouses full.

We expect a good show and grand entertainments on second night.

Enoch Estabrooks and two daughters, were in the village on Monday doing some shopping and calling on friends.

We are longing for the opening of spring, the open river, green grass, clothed fields and flowers. ADDON.

In the Microbe World.

On the 7th inst at the hour of 2.30 a m an indignation meeting of Typhoid Microbes was held at the mouth of the sewer on King St and the following resolutions were adopted. —

1st. That, whereas none of the members of our community have wandered from their premises on the river bank; and whereas malicious and libelous reports have been circulated concerning our doings and whereabouts; and whereas certain delegates sent out to enquire into said reports were murderously entrapped in cauldrons of boiling water; be it resolved that this convention vehemently protest against said slanderous reports and unjust treatment.

2nd That whereas, as the time of the year when people are bottling up pleasure for the lean days of lent, the high balls and parties, the midnight teas and coffees and straggling homeward in the wee small hours is not conducive of health; and whereas their systems are thus weakened and debilitated by said irregularities, their constitutions are left open to the attacks of certain mischievous cousins the La Grippe Microbes, who in countless numbers infest the atmosphere and are ever preying on said run down constitutions; be it further resolved that this convention condemns such practices.

3rd Be it still further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the editor of the "Sentinel" for publication and that as Mayor of the town of Woodstock he be most humbly requested to secure the services of one Mr Jacques a fumigator to fumigate the air in the immediate vicinity of said town to rid us of our said mischievous cousins.

Provincial Financing.

Prov Sec'y Flemming, who was loud in his denunciation of the late government for making temporary loans instead of issuing debentures, says the Fredericton Herald, is still carrying along some $2,000,000 provincial liabilities in the same manner as his predecessors. The public were led to believe that when Mr Flemming and Mr Hazen got control of the government the public debt financing would be as easy as rolling off a log. A large saving was to be made in the rate of interest, the provincial credit would go up with a bound, and everything would be lovely. But there is no perceptible change. Mr Flemming continues to importune the banks and other financial institutions, to aid him not in floating debentures, but is forced to make short terms loans on terms no better than were secured by the government.

Employed on the Grand Trunk Pacific.

O O Foss, district engineer of the Transcontinental Railway, says that during January there was a total of about 4,000 men and 800 horses employed on the construction work in New Brunswick. The largest staff employed at any time during the summer was 5,100 men. Speaking of the choice of Napadogan Lake as a divisional point Mr Foss said there were two reasons for it. The first was because of its geographical position; being about half-way between the Quebec boundary and Moncton. It is 120 miles from Moncton. Another reason is that it is on a natural summit which makes it easy to start trains either way.

Templeman Elected.

VICTORIA, B C, Feb 5.—Hon William Templeman today was elected by acclamation in Comox-Atlin. This has been anticipated for several days by those in a position to know, although the more hot-headed of the Conservatives wanted to fight.

A very steady effect on the situation was the attitude of Conservative papers like the News-Advertiser and the Province of Vancouver, which both deprecated opposition to the Minister of Inland Revenue as not only likely to be futile, but as illogical and in the event of its being successful, very bad business for British Columbia. The heads of the Conservative organization took similar views.

Mr Templeman and Mr Sloan had covered the southern portion of the riding and went north to complete the campaign there and judging from the feeling throughout the riding Mr Manson's chances were desperate.

The exposure of the forged telegram by which means Mr Templeman's defeat in Victoria was effected also created a revulsion of feeling which would have been a strong factor in Mr Templeman's favor had the fight been carried through.

Mr Templeman will come south on the first boat and will proceed direct to Ottawa to resume his duty as Minister of Inland Revenue and Vices.

LLOYD GEORGE'S MISTAKE.

The charge is frequently made in Canada against the journalists of the old country that they are hopelessly ignorant of Canada and things Canadian, says Canada. Sometimes the charge is made within sufficient grounds, for it is not quite reasonable to expect a too intimate knowledge; at other times the ignorance displayed is too blatant to be passed by in silence. But what is excusable in the journalist is not so often forgiven to a minister of the crown. We Canadians put British cabinet ministers on a high plane, and, therefore, on the principal of noblesse oblige, we do not expect them to show such "deplorable ignorance of our country and our concerns as was displayed the other day by Lloyd George. The chancellor of the exchequer aggravated his blunder, because when he made it he was scolding Mr Wyndham for displaying ignorance in a speech delivered a few days previously, in which reference was made to British exports to Canada.

Here is the particular point in Lloyd George's speech which will make every Canadian smile, if it does not make him sneer: "He (Mr Wyndham) never told them that for five months it was because the St Lawrence was frozen, and we cannot export direct to Canada. . . . He gave them to this audience of 8,000 people as if they were the facts of the case. He did not know; these are some figures somebody gave him, but he really owes an apology to his audience." It will hardly be believed that this wisacre was until recently president of the board of trade and therefore responsible for overseas commerce. Was there no map of Canada in the office of the board of trade which would show Lloyd George that there are such places, as St John, New Brunswick, and Halifax, Nova Scotia? Surely it does not need to be a Canadian to have heard of ports such as these. It may interest Lloyd George to know that the Empress of Britain, which left Liverpool at 5 p m on Dec 11, docked at St John on the 19th. The freight was transhipped to Montreal, which it reached on the 21st, and thence to Toronto, where it arrived on the 22nd. Thus with the St Lawrence frozen, goods from England can reach Toronto via a Canadian port in less than eleven days.
