There the poles for the wires for lighting "are only a few saddle horses to be seen, and no doubt the saddle, in many Eastern minds, would be the one seat in common between the East and West. A saddle horse would certainly be a practical means of covering those five miles of prairie road, yet it is not the com- mon or popular one. It is not five miles of boulevard or macadamized, man may be comfortably and exped-tionously accomplished. There is a broad, tightly-screened piazza, and there are times when it is more comfortable behind those screens, but no doubt in time the patrons of the Club will be able to exterminate the mosquitoes by scientifically treating the nearby marshy spots, and they may even go so far as to succeed in controlling the action of the wind, which is troublesome at times. The West is a place where desire means action!

The Wascana Country Club will without doubt flourish if the shareholders can resist the popular and lucrative habit of subdividing. Those acres are five miles from the city, but the town is all around them as far as subdivisions go. It will not be long before the buildings extend out over the prairie and surround the Country Club. Whether those acres, which were the last resting place of the bones of the first inhabitants of the place, will remain in their present condition or be swallowed up in the advancing of the great distributing forces of the progressive West is a question that time alone will answer.

The above article was written before the disastrous cyclone which devastated Regina on the last day of June. The Club House, however, was comparatively unharmed, and no doubt the buoyant and plucky Westerners will find time, even in this season of stress, to make use of its facilities for enjoyment.—Editor.

(Woodstock friends of Miss Miles, who contributes this article to Saturday night, will be pleased to learn that her literary talent has been recognized by many prominent papers to which she is a contributor. Miss Miles is now editor of The Women's Page of the Regina Province.)

In the Probate Court of Carleton County

To the sheriff of the County of Carleton, or any Constable within the said County, Greeting:—

Whereas, John T. G. Carr, one of the Executors and Trustees named in the last Will and Testament of Elizabeth Raymond, deceased, hath by his Petition bearing date the fourteenth day of May A. D. 1912 prayed that he may be permitted to pass his accounts with the said Estate, as such Executor and Trustee, and that an order for distribution be made.

You are therefore required to cite the Heirs, Next of Kin, Creditors, Legatees, Devises, and all others interested to appear before me at a Court of Probate to be held at my office in the Town of Woodstock, in the County of Carleton, on Thursday the fifth day of September A. D. 1912, at the hour of eleven o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any, why the said accounts should not be passed and allowed, and why such Order for distribution should not be made.

Given under my hand and the seal of the said Probate Court, this fourteenth day of May A. D. 1912.

THANE M. JONES, Judge of Probate for Carleton County.

MIRACULOUS CURE AT ST. ANNE DE BEAUPRE

Thousands Saw Crippled Boy Appear With Crutches and Walk Away Without Them

QUEBEC, Aug. 8.—A miracle was witnessed at the famous shrine of Ste Anne de Beupre yesterday afternoon by some three thousand pilgrims who make a yearly visit to Ste. Anne's. A young lad of eight named Paul Howard, belonging to Summings Bridge near Hull, who came on the pilgrimage in a crippled state, only able to walk with the aid of crutches, recovered the use of his limbs and left the crutches at the shrine. The cure is said to be one of the most complete and self-evident miracles ever witnessed there.

We are open to U Y our usual quantity of Hemlock Bark for this season. Would contract for sizable lots with reliable parties.

HOOVER DIGGERS AND Deering Harvesting Machinery

We have secured control of the famous Hoover Potato Digger in New Brunswick. The Hoover is the only Digger which has proved satisfactory under all conditions.

For years past when we were unable to secure the Hoover Agency, we tried different Diggers which the manufacturers claimed were just as good and similar to the Hoover, but in every case we were disappointed. They would work fairly well if the soil, vines and weather conditions were favorable, but when the digging was at all difficult they were unsatisfactory. Digging is sure to be more of less difficult in a wet season, consequently it is to your interest to buy the Original Hoover Digger instead of competitors to claim the machine they are selling is just as good as the Hoover, but that is sufficient proof that they themselves consider the Hoover the Standard Digger.

The Hoover is the only Digger that has any connection with the Hoover Factory. Beware of imitations.

We have also a large stock of DEERING BINDERS and REAPERS. The Deering is the Lightest Draft Harvesting Machinery made.
