STILL LEADS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier still leads the procession of great Canadian statesmen, present or historic. He is greater in defeat than others are in victory. He still holds the beating heart of old Quebec in his hand. He made his first appearance in rural Quebec since the fatal day, September 21,—more fatal to the country than the great Liberal chieftain. The enthusiastic warmth of acclaim by the citizens of Quebec, at Mariville, showed that the scales had fallen from their eyes, and that the campaign of deceit and misrepresentation that had been made against him in the last elections, had been unmasked and that the Liberals of Quebec temporarily alienated, had returned to their allegiance enthrallment of fraud that had been practised upon them. As in Quebec, so in Canada at large. The country was won from Laurier on false pretences, on specious promises that, fallen short of fulfillment, are bringing, and will bring, reaction. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is true to the ideals of his life, a unit d Canada, a harmonious people. He has not changed, and when the people wake from their delusions, he will be found occupying the old ground. It was said by way of taunt that in his tour, Sir Wilfrid would not mention the Canadian navy. He deceived the prophets, the only deceit he ever practised—upon his detractors. Speaking at Mariville he said:

"The question (the navy) is one which must be settled. We solved it in a manner which we believed was our best duty to Canada and to the Empire. "It is easy to inspire terror among the people. But I would rather have been beaten than to have won by such means. After three months in England Mr. Borden has returned. He went over to discuss the naval question. He does not seem to be any nearer a solution than he was before. He is going to submit the matter to his colleagues. I do not reproach him for taking his time about it. We will discuss it when it comes. But I will say in advance: 'Never, never will I raise my voice in appeals to race or religious prejudices.' We will discuss the matter calmly and with dignity, and I will try to do my duty as a Canadian and a British subject. I consecrated my life to making Canada a nation. If we are faithful to our programme, the nation will live and the party triumph."—Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Mariville.

AUTUMN.

One of the pleasantest seasons of the year is the fall, and this exhilarating period is about due. There will be more warm days in all probability but the time for heat is ically past, and the bracing air and cheering weather will soon be here with all their enchantment and health giving qualities.

It is the harvest season that fills with cheer the hearts of those who have intelligently tilled the soil. It is one of the best parts of the year, if not the best, for automobile touring. It is the season for the pedestrian to roam through the valleys and over the hills, breathing an air that is a veritable elixir of life and beholding scenes that never have been and never will be equaled by the most skilled painter.

It is indeed a glorious season which is just ahead. It is sufficient to atone for the discomforts of summer and the vigors of winter. It is worth much to be in such a region at such a time as a resident or visitor. Creature comforts abound and unlimited inspiration is in store for all with any appreciation of the bounty and beauties of nature.

MISSED HIS CALLING.

An American clergyman in a recent sermon classed old maids as waste humanity and wished they could be deported to some barren island.

Such a statement is unworthy of any man, and especially it is unworthy of one professing to be a teacher and leader of men.

In every community there are unmarried women, and in a vast majority of cases they are women of the highest character and of great usefulness. Having no families of their own, they devote themselves to the welfare of others, with sympathy and self sacrifice of the highest type, and in their quiet way render untold good to those about them.

To refer to such a class as "waste material" is not only impudent and insulting, but brutal, and it is cause for regret that there is in this broad land a clergyman capable of so degrading himself. His words stamp him as unfit for his high calling and unworthy of the fellowship of self-respecting men and women.

The Tories are to have another banquet. Of course. They must eat, drink and be merry, against the coming day of doom. They have not yet recovered from the shock of amazement with which they learned that at last things were coming their way.

Hence there have been banquets ever since, and there is to be a noble night of feasting in Montreal on Sept. 21. "We have been in power," they will say, "for a whole year." Where Mr. Borden has returned, at a thrill will run through the assembly (torians adore thrills) and the rafters will ring with glad acclaim. This business of governing a country by banquet is perhaps in some danger of being overdone, but of course it takes time to wear down the edge of an appetite that had attained the eager age of sixteen years, and we must be patient. There is a reference in the Old Testament somewhere to certain of the people whose eyes stick out with fatness" and "whose god is their belly."—Times-Star.

The Liberal party is manifestly organizing all over the Dominion for the impending general elections. If the party when in the last years of its power had made one-quarter the effort which is now being made, it would not have been defeated. In the history of the Liberal party for ten years past, there has not been any effort comparable with that which is now being conducted. In every part of Canada, the Liberal organizations are in touch with a central body, and the feeling is dominant that it only marked a farmer, Saturday, who requires an effort to defeat the Borden administration. Men, who were enthusiastic over the Borden party one year ago, are to-day determined to put the administration out of office.

The farmers of New Brunswick are unable to sell their potatoes this year for want of a market. The Flemming government is going to relieve the situation by providing set-aside from the Old Country with ready made farms so that the production of potatoes may be increased. —Ft. on Mail.

"We want a larger market and that market is in the United States," Sir Wilfrid Laurier told the electors of Soulanges on Saturday. The farmers of New Brunswick who are being offered seventy-five cents a barrel for potatoes ought to endorse Sir Wilfrid's sentiment.

Potatoes seventy-five cents a barrel in the "home market." Come on Mr. flag-flapper help the farmer out by buying his potatoes, you made him vote against a larger market, and should accord him fair treatment for making good.

An exchange in mentioning the fact that the lawn mower will soon be put away, says man's next burden will be wielding the coal shovel. But there are many men beginning to wonder whether they will be able to get the coal to shovel.

Strictly speaking autumn begins September 23, but most people feel that fall has arrived when they go out into their gardens and find vegetation slaughtered by Jack Frost. And in this part of the country it is usually before Sept. 23rd.

If a community will not help itself it's not worth living in. Citizens should not depend on outsiders for manufactures but should get together and secure them for themselves.

Don't be afraid to go in for yourself; you'll make mistakes, every one does that except the man who doesn't do anything.

Are the Tory flag-flappers buying the farmer's potatoes?

Is This Offer Fair?

You do not risk a cent. You must be either delighted with this tea's rich, mellow flavor, or else your dealer wants you to take advantage of this guarantee:—

You have only to return the broken package to get your money back, if you do not like the flavor exceptionally well.

KING COLE'S excellence prompts this offer. The 40c. grade is unusually flavorful. You will surely admit this if you try it.

35c., 40c. and 50c. per lb.

"I stored my potatoes and will go home and wait for reciprocity," re the feeling is dominant that it only marked a farmer, Saturday, who requires an effort to defeat the Borden administration. Men, who were enthusiastic over the Borden party one year ago, are to-day determined to put the administration out of office.

Plenty of potatoes and no market. Mr. Flemming's ready-made farms contain large possibilities to relieve the situation. The market first, Mr. Flemming.

The farmers of Carleton County, who voted against larger markets, are up against it with their potato crop.

Suffragettes in England continue to make fools of themselves. As if any deserving cause were ever won that way.

Now that the fairs are drawing to a close, get out your storm windows.

Is the potato still the favorite vegetable among the Tory farmers?

The flag-flappers might tell us about that home market for potatoes.

THE GAME SEASON IS OPENED

(Continued from first page) way." "In order to do this it would take more wardens and we haven't got enough to go round as all hands are on the Valley railway, and our present wardens are not used to out door life."

"I tell you, sir," he went on, "We have a good deal to contend with." A man down to Skiff Lake has sued us because he was bitten by a salmon while he was in swimming last summer. The C. P. R. has put in a claim for damages because their trains were delayed by moose, and the new Grange, organized by Dr. Sirois, refuses to raise any crops next year unless we agree to tie or otherwise confine the deer. "We don't want to give up our game but if farmers like Wm. Wilson, John J. Rogers and Heber Hatfield are forced out of business, what is going to feed this hungry country in close time when they don't eat venison?" "It's a tough proposition," says I, "Why don't you drop it and go back to harness making." "I can't," says he, "For two reasons. My heart is in this work and I haven't any customers." I pitied the man. But still I had to think of the other side of the question.

There were two partridges and one deer in Rockland last year. They stayed in the woods and we hardly realized what we had escaped until we heard of the awful way these ferocious beasts had devastated the farms in Hartland, Woodstock and Florenceville.

If them two partridges and that deer had ever descended on Rockland and cut loose nothing but an injunction would have saved that thriving village from destruction. I will try and write you about the Valley railway and the population it is supporting with the aid of politicians land appraisers and others. Most of Woodstock's population are employed on the railway, a few in jail and the remaining nineteen are Liberals.

Yours truly, CYRUS A. DIFFIN. P. S.—The town council in Rockland has been asked to make an offer for the divisional point without shops. Mr. Flemming is bound to make this road pay from the start.

P. S.—A lot of people in Woodstock thought they would get the Experimental farm. Nothing like illustrated politicians.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

MARRIED

GILLIS-BEAIROSTO

Harry Gillis of Lakeville went to Fort Fairfield Tuesday morning, Sept. 10th, and returned on the 5 p. m., B. & A. train, accompanied by his bride-elect, Miss Lena Beairisto, and her cousin, Miss May Beairisto of Lakeville. They went by train to Bridgewater and were conveyed from there by carriage.

The wedding took place Wednesday evening, Sept. 11, at the home of Mr. Gillis, the wedding arrangements being in the care of his sister.

Special Notice, BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 884 Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.
