The Fisher Memorial School is the property of the town. The ceremonies that attended the formal transfer took place Thursday evening in the beautiful assembly hall of the new building before a large number of prominent citizens. The building has already been described in the columns of the Sentinel, but to those who had not seen this triumph of modern architecture, the gift of a departed citizen, a thrill of pride must have been felt on this occasion. The leading educators of the province who were present dwelt on the opportunities for education that are offered the citizens of Woodstock by the magnificent building in which the youth of the town could gain all the advantages that went with schools in the large cities of the country. With some additional features, which will be attended to, the present structure is undoubtedly the finest educational institution in the country—as one speaker put it "you are the envy of the province." That the value of the school is recognized and fully appreciated by the citizens was demonstrated by the hearty applause that greeted every reference to the superior advantages of a building now the property of Woodstock.

Chairman Belyea in opening paid a warm tribute to the late L. P. Fisher and at the conclusion of his remarks A. B. Connell, K. C., who in an address that was listened to with the closest attention made the formal presentation of the school to the Board of Trustees of the town of Woodstock Mr. Connell said in part:

"To the generosity of the late L. P. Fisher you are indebted for this building. Mr. Fisher was a man of great will power and strong personality and had a thorough conception of the work which he undertook. These traits dominated his whole career and are well illustrated by the manner in which he performed the duties of the various offices which he held.

"Shortly after he came to town, a young man, he was appointed superintendent of roads, and during the short time he held that office he constructed that portion of the road leading northwards from Elm street, and if I am correctly informed, that road and culvert over the brook at the southern end of the town. He afterwards also built Elm street from Connell to Main, and so well were these roads constructed and of so permanent a character that little or no money has been expended upon them since.

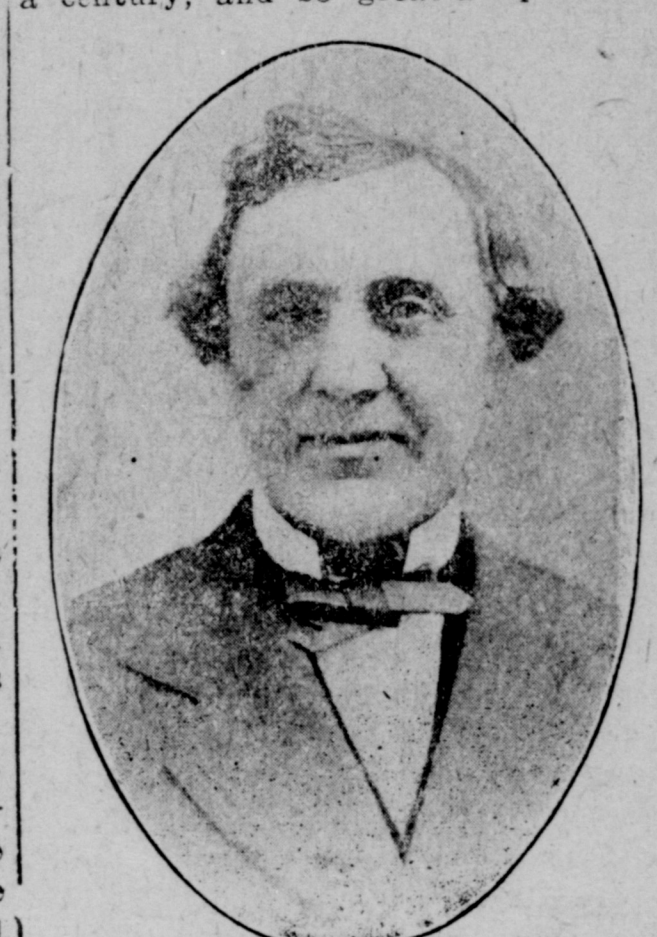

"In 1856, the year of the incorporation of the town, Mr. Fisher was appointed the first mayor and this office he held for upwards of twenty-five years and his return to the office was only opposed upon two occasions, and then unsuccessfully.

"But it was in the young people of the town that he took the deepest interest. Shortly after he came here he was appointed superintendent of the Methodist Sabbath school, which office he held for a quarter of a century, and so great a reputation did the school, and especially the classes which he taught, attain, that persons of other denominations were attracted to it.

"In 1871, the act establishing our present school system came into effect, and Mr. Fisher was appointed the first chairman of the board. All the other members of that board have now passed away, with the exception of one, James Drysdale, who is now upon the platform with us.

"Mr. Fisher took a large share of the burden of organizing the schools under the act and also contributed largely from his own means towards the purchasing of the old college building which formerly stood upon this site. He held this position of chairman until the beginning of the year 1878.

"He took a very great interest in the schools and being brought into such a personal and intimate contact with the teachers and children he formed the resolve that his interest in the cause of education would not cease with the time of his natural life, and he disposed, practically, of his whole estate for educational purposes. MANZER'S DEPARTMENT STORE DOUBLED IN SIZE

Most Attractive in Its Added Displays—A Welcome Atmosphere Prevails—Every Department Displays a Big Line of New Features

Manzer's enlarged departmental store was formally opened last week, and the numbers who daily visit the big emporium offer congratulations to the enterprising young manager on the advance and improvements made since he assumed charge.

"Manzer's" is a household word in this county, and the success of the firm has been due in a large measure to the straightforward manner of dealing with the public which has always characterized its attitude. There is always a welcome atmosphere pervading the store, which is now twice as large as it was when the firm commenced doing business, and the change is a marked one.

New fixtures and attractive counters greet the eye of the visitors. Every department displays a most attractive line of new features that make a very favorable impression.

G. B. MANZER, PROPRIETOR OF THE BIG DEPARTMENT STORE

Dress goods, silks, plain and fancy chiffons, veils, corduroys and all the new fabrics of the season are displayed. Neckwear, laces, and trimmings, fancy scarfs, wraps, beautiful furs and fancy costumes are all attractively set forth for the gaze of the visitors. The clothing department is complete in every detail.

The store is clad in its holiday attire and can now be seen at its best.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Wolhaupter of Oakville, formerly of Bloomfield, left on Wednesday, Dec. 11th, for Vancouver, to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Dr. Hunter
