MR. DIFFIN CONTINUES HIS STORY OF THE TORY CAUCUS

He Also Offers a Suggestion on the Question "How we Can Win—Difference in Hotels

Fredericton, N. B.,
May 1st, 1912.

Dear Sentinel:

This is probably my last letter from the seat of government and I will be glad when I am headed towards home, where I can put my feet under my own table and eat home made hash.

Hotels are all right, but there's lot of differences in the way in which they are run. There is a difference in hotels that guests are looking for and those that are looking for guests. The last are more pleased to see you.

I left off just as we had finished lunch, the night I attended the Tory caucus.

There were cigars after lunch, and after putting on away in the bosom of my flannel night shirt, to give some man who likes such things, I lit my corn cob pipe and started in to smoke and listen. "Well," announced Mr. Flemming, "Same old subject," How can we win?"

"I move, Mr. Chairman," says Sproule, rising slowly and guiding himself to his full height, with the aid of the table, for there had been liquid refreshments served. "That we take the question up in detail and by counties. It must be apparent," says he, "That if each one can suggest a way to carry his own county, that the total will be the way to carry the whole province."

They all seemed to see this and some looked at him with a good deal of admiration for having gotten on to so good a scheme.

"All right," says Flemming, "start in. I will call Carleton County."

"Promise Postmaster Winslow a contract on the Valley railway and deliver the goods," replied Munro, rising, A. W. Hay the contract for sleepers, with five inch face, and a bonus of $5,000 and the remaining members of the St. John Valley Construction Company their expenses for trips to Ottawa, Presque Isle, and Fredericton. This will give us a strong local pull which might be further assisted by providing a silver spade with which to turn the first sod of the Valley railway on a date agreeable to "some politicians" but not on May 1, 1912. To make it absolutely sure buy the ready-made farms from the Tories, thus giving special benefits to the few to benefit all classes."

"The proposition seems fair considering the county it comes from," said Pinder. "And I will move that it be adopted."

"Pardon me," went on Mr. Munro, still on his feet, "I will also add that Mr. Flemming be recommended as a fit and proper person to become a director of the C. P. R."

"I withdraw my motion," says Pinder. "And suggest before the gentleman proceeds farther, he looks over the voting lists of his county and see if it is necessary to give a majority of the voters offices and jobs in order to carry Carleton. If Carleton is going to have everything, the boys in the other fourteen counties, might as well be defeated by the Liberals." "That's the way we've all felt about St. John for a long time," said a chorus of several voices.

"St. John is not under discussion gentlemen," said the chairman. "The question is, 'How CAN WE WIN' and Albert is in order."

Mr. Dickson rose to his full height and peered over the edge of the table. "If this were a nominating convention," says he, "I should present the names of all the leading citizens of Albert for some office until I had spoken of a sufficient number to go round, but I do not understand that it is and therefore I consider Mr. Munro's remarks out of order."

"Am I not right, Mr. Chairman, in my idea that the question addressed to each of us, is, simply, how can we carry our own counties?" The chairman nodded. "I will simply say, then, that we will carry Albert. How is something that ought not to be talked about in public." "We do not desire to hold our convention in jail and our methods are thorough but un-que."

"They all bowed, and Dickson sat down and disappeared out of sight. "Kings," said the chairman. "Don't let the Liberals drag my business with the government into court," says Jones.

"The courts don't seem to mind us much," interposed Munro. "Look at what we did for Angel Johnson." "For Heaven's sake drop that," says Flemming. "You'd think the whole conservative party was in jail the way you keep talking about that man. When a man gets in jail we get him out, especially on election day—now drop it."

"Kent," called the chairman. "Appoint Johnson for Sheriff again says Dr. Bourque, and blame it on Sheridan. The people don't want him and the crowd will vote against Sheridan and this is the only way to get clear of him."

"Are the liquor people strong in your county," asked Sproule. "Not so strong as the mixture of cologne and raisins that they are selling," says Prescott.

"Am I not right, Mr. Chairman, in my idea that the question addressed

CANDIDATES UNLOAD SURPRISE PACKAGES

Mrs. McLean Jumps From Third to First Place—Miss Fewer and C. A. McBride Tied for Second Place—All Leaders showing Great Strength—A Red Hot Pace From Now Until the End—Who Will be in the Lead Next Week?

Good day—there's a new leader at the top in the Big Contest. Mrs. J. D. McLean made a spectacular advance and took the lead from Miss Fewer, who is now tied with C. A. McBride, who made a gain of some 19000 last week and this means that he is pretty busy these days and is securing good subscriptions. He will bear watching.

Miss Fewer went ahead 14500, while Mrs. McLean made a jump of 27000. Miss Colwell had 32000. That's going some. This young lady promises to make it interesting, and will be in the running at the finish. Remember the prediction. Carleton Fisher took an upward bound and gained 20,500 votes over his last week's record. Watch the progress of this young man. If he goes after a prize his friends say he will get it.

Miss Mercer also advances and will undoubtedly be heard from before the contest closes. We look for surprises from this young lady. There are others too that must be reckoned with and don't you forget it—Miss Keays for instance may spring a surprise.

Most of the candidates are showing ambition, energy and enthusiasm. That is a potential combination. It will be an interesting fight until the finish and the winner of first place will be hard to pick.

Now just a few words of practical advice. Have you tried to convince yourself that you will not have a chance in the fight for the big prize? Do you fear uncertainties? Then remember it is for you to make a certainty of uncertainties.

There is no joy in progress unopposed. Would you covet the lot of a man who never had to fight for anything and never knew the thrill of victory? Many would not enter this contest because they are not sure they could win. This admonition is for you—you who can win if you work. Some one will be happy when the Sentinel contest is over, and you may be one of them if you remember that success consists of ambition and applied energy. Resolve to win and you will win. This is not uncertainty.

It is needless to go over the prizes again. You know a PIANO that is worth $400 is a prize worthy of a great big effort. This will also apply to the others—AN ENTERPRISE MONARCH RANGE and GOLDEN ELM SIDEBORD.

There is only one thing sure about the contest and it is this: The three people who have the greatest number of votes to their credit, at the close, are the people who will get the prizes. IT'S UP TO YOU.

Next week we will announce the date of close of contest. Don't forget the coupon on page 4—Cut it out—trim neatly—and send to this office. Everyone you send will count 100 votes.

BASE BALL MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT ENTHUSIASTIC

Many Lovers of the Game Were Present - Woodstock Will Have Strong Team in N. B. and Maire League Opening Game Probably May 30th With Houlton

Lovers of base ball sport met in the town hall Thursday evening and the situation was canvassed most thoroughly, nearly everyone present taking part in the discussion.

President Balmain was in the chair and briefly explained the object of the meeting, going over last year's operations when unfortunately the season closed with a deficit, but he had every reason to believe that with the arrangements made and the enthusiasm displayed that this deficit could and would be wiped out.

He asked for the report of the delegates who attended the meeting in St. John in connection with the organization of a league for 1912.

C. M. Augherton in his report stated that delegates from Houlton, Fredericton and St. John were present, and that after a half day session it was decided to form a club league, to play the season from June 30 to Sept. 5th, on a percentage basis of 35 per cent. to the visiting team with a minimum guarantee of $50.00. The salary limit was fixed at $1000 per month, a $500 forfeit to be posted by each club to insure same. Umpires to be appointed by the National Base Ball Commission.

No complimentary tickets are to be issued except to representatives of newspapers.

A long discussion ensued over the guarantee, several gentlemen taking part. There seemed to be some misunderstanding and the question will be dealt with at the Fredericton meeting.

The following officers were elected for the year: George Gibson, president; R. S. Welch, vice-president; C. M. Augherton, secretary; Wm. Balmain, Treas.; J. W. Gallagher, extra member of the executive.

The president stated that a financial statement was now being prepared by the auditor and would be made public in a few days. Messrs. Gallagher and Augherton were elected delegates to attend the meeting in Fredericton Wednesday night.

President Gibson in assuming the chair asked for the hearty co-operation of all present in making the season of 1912 a successful one.

The spirit displayed at the meeting would indicate that base ball will be made as popular as ever in Woodstock. Already several old favorites have expressed a desire to come here, among them being Wessinger, Perley, Black and Neptune.

Dan McMahon, formerly of the New York State League, will probably be the manager of the team for the coming season.

If arrangements can be made in time a game will be played here, May 30th, with Houlton.

It is now up to the citizens to take a hand in boosting the game. It means much from a recreation standpoint, it is a good business proposition and will be a great big factor in advertising the town.—NOW AL TOGETHER!

would say I am afraid our majority will be small if we have one, but I am a desperate fighter and will have very able men in charge of the party. So far as the liquor vote is concerned don't worry about that. We can work up some fake that will make them vote all right. On the other hand I have always handled the temperance vote."

"The young men and farmers bother us some and the Liberals are greatly aided by having a strong partisan paper. We will however carry the county. If we are not defeated."
