FORMER CARLETON COUNTY BOY WRITES FROM "UP AROOSTOOK"

Gets Around By Times and the "Potato Pays the Freight"—"Will the Future Ever Come"

Navy Yard Driven Away From St. John a Loss to Everyone

Editor Sentinel:

I have just returned from Washington—there I saw Woodrow Wilson inaugurated President of these United States, it was a fine pageant altogether and I enjoyed it. We farmers over here get round by times and the potato "pays the freight" with a little hay thrown in for the trimmings. And they tell me they cannot give potatoes away down about my old home. Some of my old friends down there told me in Sept. 1911, Canada was going to be the market of the future? Will the future ever come?

The home market will never be enlarged by men who are willing to send millions of your money across the sea. Surely my neighbors will see this. There is something wrong in a country that permits such a condition of affairs. If your present Minister of Marine and Fisheries had signed the Navy tender of the English firm who were anxious to establish a navy yard at St. John the consequent spending of millions of dollars at that Port would have no doubt increased the demand for potatoes and everything else and tended to in some measure recompense you and others for the injury his party did you in the rejection of a market that never fails. How long will the farmers of Carleton, of Canada remain blind to their own interests?

BORDEN'S PETTY POLITICS ON CHURCHILL LETTER

CARVELL'S POSER

Ottawa, March 11.—The reason that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not in the house to deal with the new situation created by the bringing down of the Churchill letters was because he had been invited to Premier Borden's house to be present at an official dinner given in honor of Ambassador Bryce. Though Premier Borden on Sunday received permission to disclose the Churchill letters he would not produce them in the afternoon when Sir Wilfrid was there. Neither did he tell his distinguished guest that he proposed to bring them down at night. Instead he saw Sir Wilfrid safely started for home and then hurried to the house and read the letters in his absence.

There is much comment upon this performance. Mr. Carvell said he had not much use for Canadians who would applaud the sentiments contained in Mr. Churchill's letter. If, as Mr. Churchill said, Britain had not the men to help in manning two Canadian fleet units, how was she going to provide the men for the three Borden Dreadnoughts?

The Jordan Memorial Sanatorium at River Glade, Westmorland County was opened this week. Patients are being received.

RICHMOND HEIRS WERE NOT LEFT $40,000

Twenty-five Legatees Named in Will of Former Richmond Lady—Will Receive $1,000 to $5,000 Each Richmond Corner, N. B., Mar. 11th, 1913.

To Editor of Sentinel, Woodstock, N. B., Dear Sir:—In the last issue of your paper there appeared an item in local news relating to a fortune that your paper stated had been left to the Montgomery and Flemming families of Richmond by a lady who was formerly a Miss McKee of Richmond. As most of the statements made were entirely erroneous, I presume your informant was not conversant with the facts of the case. As I happen to be directly interested in the matter, I take this opportunity of writing you the facts as they are, for I think it only fair, both to the public and those directly interested that a correction should be made.

Miss McKee did not marry a southern planter as stated, but rather a New England miner by the name of Palmer. Being predeceased by her husband, at her death a portion of her fortune was given to public institutions in California where she had resided for some time previous to her death, the remainder was divided among his and her heirs in sums ranging from one thousand to five thousand dollars, no one receiving forty thousand as your paper stated. About 25 legatees were named in the will. In New Brunswick those interested are, the descendants of the late Mrs. Thos. Campbell of Richmond; Mrs. Alexander Kirkpatrick and family of Debec; and Miss Mary McKee of Debec.

These, Sir, you will find are the main facts and I trust that either by printing this letter or giving a summary of statements contained a correct version of the matter may appear.

Thanking you for the anticipated favor, I am

Yours sincerely,
CLARENCE G. HAY.

BRUNSWICK REBEKAHS FITTINGLY OBSERVE SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

Membership Growing and Now Numbers One Hundred and Seventy-Five

Literary and Musical Program—Banquet Hall a Bower of Beauty

The Affair a Gratifying Success

Brunswick Rebekah Lodge celebrated their sixth anniversary Friday evening, March 7th, in the Odd Fellows hall. The usual routine of business having been disposed of, the Rebekah degree was then conferred on two candidates, after which, we were greatly pleased to hear from Vice President, Rebekah Assemy, Sister Olive Lindow, of St. Stephen, who instituted Brunswick Lodge, with the assistance of "Olive Lodge" of St. Stephen, six years ago.

Sister Lindow spoke very feelingly of the absent loved ones, who had been with us on that memorable night and now had passed into the "great beyond," few of the charter members, remain, still the Lodge has been growing till it now has a membership of 175. Sister Lindow is a very able and pleasing speaker and we are always glad to welcome the "Mother" back into our home. Lodge then closed, and we found that the musical committee had not failed in their duty. This committee composed of Sisters Watters, Cogger and Nellie Montgomery, furnished us with the usual treat. Their program was as follows:

Opening address—Sister Mary Baker who was at her best, she giving us a full account of "Rebekahism" from the beginning, dwelling particularly on the last six years. This was greatly enjoyed by all.

Piano Solo—Sister Carrie Cogger. Reading—Sister Bessie Comben. Solo—Sister Edith Dalling. Duet—Sisters Hatters and McKinney.

Reading—Brother Dr. Currie. Solo—Brother H. Dunbar. Piano Duet—Sisters Pearl and Iva McKinney.

Solo—Sister Watters. Finale—God Save the King. The refreshment committee then took charge. This committee composed of Sisters Johnson, Hayden, Churchill, Ellsworth, Belyea, Calder, and Allingham; and Brothers Hall and H. Stevens, had excelled in their duties. The recreation room was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting, and with the tables beautifully arranged, made a very picturesque scene.

The members under escort of our D. D. President, Sister Olive Lindow, of St. Stephen, and Sister Ella Hayden, Noble Grand of Brunswick Rebekah Lodge No. 44, were ushered around the festive board, where they partook of such a feed as only the Rebekahs know how to serve. The gay throng broke up in the early morn, each declaring it the best entertainment Rebekahs ever held.

THE BORDEN CULT.

◆ We wave the flag and shout; we cry "God save the King;"
◆ But try to save the King ourselves? Well, that is another thing.
◆ For we have our faith to keep with friends in Old Quebec,
◆ And we need our men at home to hold the Grits in check.
◆ Let the English mother weep, and give her sons to the blight;
◆ Money to spend have we, but never a man to fight.
◆ Aye, we are Britons all, but not of the British breed;
◆ We hire our fighting done, we boast but we do not bleed.
