But That Was Fifty Years Ago

(From the Carleton Sentinel Dec. 26th, 1863)

A bold burglary was committed in town on Sunday morning last. The store of Hugh Hay was entered through one of the large glasses in the door, and goods to the value of $1200 stolen.

A bear weighing 500 lbs was shot by Oliver Peabody on his farm at Northampton one day last week. W. C. Bull discovered the animal, which had committed extensive depredations.

Woodstock, Dec. 24, 1863.

Mr. Editor:—Is it a fact that several of our leading men have evaded paying their taxes for the past two years and that the deficiency has had to be made up by the poorer tax paying citizens. Enquirer.

The river still remains open for a distance from seven miles below to about ten miles above Woodstock, much to the inconvenience and injury of those whose business leads them to cross the river. A large portion of the cordwood used in town comes from Northampton, and the trade is seriously affected by the want of an ice bridge.

The town has been favored with quite a cheering amount of business lately. Prices have ranged at moderate rates. Potatoes, 30 cts per bush; turkeys 8 to 10 cts. per lb; geese, 30 cts each; chickens, 25 cts a pair; beef, 5 cts per lb.

Gideon Fields, carpenter, while employed at the saw mills on the Meduxnakik, fell a distance of about nine feet. He lay for some time insensible, but fortunately was not seriously injured.

AN EXCELLENT YOUNG MAN

Edward B. Winslow, who was compelled to leave Keystone for his home in Canada because of ill health, was in the employ of the McDowell Times Printing Company for more than a year and this Company never had a more faithful, honest, sober, loyal and industrious employee during its ten years of existence than Mr. Winslow. We regret being deprived of his valuable services and we sincerely hope that the northern winds and the familiar scenes of his native land will restore him to health again. He is a young man, only 22 years of age, and has before him a bright future. Not only is he a thorough all-round printer but he is a writer of no mean ability. His articles describing the Dayton flood which appeared exclusively in this paper attracted attention wherever the Times is read. Mr. Winslow was one of the first persons to get into Dayton after the waters had subsided and assisted in the rescue work. It is thought that the exposure and hardship endured there is largely responsible for his present condition because he has not been entirely well since.

He carries with him to his distant home the respect and esteem of the people of Keystone and the sincere friendship and good wishes of the management and employees of the McDowell Times.
