MARS HILL TOO FAST FOR WOODSTOCK

Two Games Played and the College Representatives Win
Both

The Mars Hill ball team, or the team representing that thrifty Maine hamlet, came to town Wednesday, accompanied by "excursionists" in autos—requiring fifteen of these latest model machines to bring them over. It is generally conceded that this aggregation of ball players are about the best seen here this season and their playing in every department was gilt-edged. The first game resulted in a shut out for the home team. There are the usual numerous reasons given for this happening, but the fact remains that it was the story told by the score board.

In the evening game the article of ball put up by both teams was of a brand that kept the big crowd on tiptoe of excitement. The local team played almost errorless ball and kept the college representatives working till the last man was out. Both Rogers and Clark the opposing pitchers acquitted themselves handsomely and the teams supported them cleanly. With the score tied the home team fought valiantly to get the lead, and played superlative ball but all to no avail, and the men from Maine who had come under the wire with the winning run held it safely.

It was a contest that held the interest of the spectators all the way. The attendance was increased by the American visitors who are dye-in-the-wool sports.

The following is the story in detail:—

LIBERALS OF P. E. I. HOLD CONVENTION

F. B. Carvell, and E. M. McDonald In Ringing Speeches

Charlottetown, P. E. I., July 22—J. J. Hughes, M. P., Liberal federal representative for Kings, was unanimously renominated today at a convention marked by a record attendance and great enthusiasm. Mr. Hughes accepted the nomination in a stirring speech and the feeling which dominated the audience was shown, when in response for an expression of their desire to help him win a clean, honest election, the audience rose, cheering, to their feet. Kings county may be depended on to return Hughes by a larger majority than ever the next election.

The large hall was too small to hold the great throng who came to attend the public meeting in the afternoon. The speakers were E. M. MacDonald, M. P., Pictou; F. B. Carvell, M. P., Woodstock, and Mr. Hughes.

Mr. MacDonald dealt first with the tariff question, claiming the government was afraid to change the Fielding tariff; the increase of freight rates on the I. C. R. and P. E. I. Railway; the desire of Hon. Mr. Cochrane to make the maritime provinces the milk cows of the dominion, and the gift of $15,000,000 to Mackenzie & Mann.

Mr. Carvell dealt first, with the trade question, showing the losses the island farmer suffered, this spring through the defeat of reciprocity. He also spoke on the navy question and exposed Tory misrepresentation re the highway bill, showing that the government was responsible for withholding the grant to the provinces this year.

THE BENEFITS OF RECIPROCITY

Mr. Carvell struck a responsive chord among the farmers and fishermen, who composed ninety per cent. of the audience, when he dealt on the benefit of getting access to American markets. Even the proposed reduction of tariff by the United States will give a measure of relief, but not to the extent as if reciprocity had passed and Canada's products given a monopoly of the American market, whereas now all the world will get the benefit of the reduction or the abolition of duties.

He scored the protection policy and declared himself in favor of a fifty per cent. increase in the British preference.

In dealing at some length with the naval issue, he pointed out that Mr. Churchill's latest utterance clearly showed there was no emergency. Amid great applause he showed that the action of the Tory government in seeking to have ships built without tender would have given them a rake-off of $5,000,000 which could be used as a huge election fund. He clearly proved that had Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy been adopted, the keel of the first warship would have been laid this year in St. John.

This was Mr. Carvell's first political speech on Prince Edward Island, and his first at a public meeting since the close of parliament. He made a splendid impression.

Messrs. MacDonald and Carvell will address a big meeting at Summerside tomorrow.
