THOSE "INVESTIGATORS."

When the Borden government came to power it was seized with a thirst for unearthing and discovering wrong-doing on the part of the Laurier government. It inaugurated a civil service search, rather unfortunately. The chairman of the sleuths was so blameworthy in another capacity that he narrowly escaped jail. Then the Transcontinental railway must be investigated. Two partisan experts—in partisanship—were set to work at the modest wage of $65 per day each, with travelling expenses, and the total cost to the country of two years work on the part of these unearthers of iniquity totals something like $60,000. After a presumed minute and careful search for graft in connection with the building of the Transcontinental railway, these two gentlemen made their report, and all they have discovered is one payment of $7,950 out of a total expenditure of 109 millions of dollars, which they assert "cannot be justified in law or morals." How well these two gentlemen are qualified to give an unbiased judgment is easily seen. They entered upon the investigation, not so much to discover the truth as to discover something crooked. One of them, Mr. Lynch-Staunton, a corporation lawyer, opposed to public ownership, and a stalwart Conservative, an experienced political campaigner, would be sure to give a partisan turn to every trivial fact susceptible of being so turned. The other, Mr. Gutelius, a former employee of the Canadian Pacific railway, which regarded the Transcontinental as a dangerous rival, to be smitten under the fifth rib if possible, cannot be regarded as an unprejudiced searcher after truth. Instead of discovering "waste," these investigators have only served to impress the fact that the unusually heavy cost of the Transcontinental represents money well spent—to make it the best built road of its length in the world, except that part built under the Borden government, which has been "degraded" in the interests of a false economy. The road might have been built for a few million dollars less, but then it would have had to be rebuilt at proportionately great cost, after the wooden trestles had rotted away and the stress of traffic had made the line unusable.

The school report, although in the hands of the secretary in time for publication last week, reached the Sentinel after the paper was issued. The Sentinel has always been glad to feature the school reports, but we do not propose to accept them for publication after they become ancient history.

A situation has apparently developed that the school board would do well to consider.

The members of the board, individually, are unquestionably honest and conscientious men, who are guided by what they believe to be the best interests of the schools.

Collectively, as a committee they are pursuing a wrong course and perpetuating a wrong principle when they allow an official to assume an autocratic, narrow attitude in transacting business in which the whole community is interested regardless of politics.

Such an attitude is entirely out of keeping with the common conception of a board of public officials, acting for the public in matters of public interest. At the next "executive session" the hereditary secretary should be impressed with the distinction between the conduct of public business and the conduct of petty personal feelings.

Is Your Baby a Good Baby?

Mothers, ask yourself the question: Is your baby a good baby? If not he is not well, for it is the nature of all babies to be good—only the sickly baby is cross and hard to mind. If baby is cross and cries continually give him Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be happy again. The Tablets act as a gentle laxative, regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and cure all the minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. J. P. Richard, St. Norbert, N. S., writes: "I have found Baby's Own Tablets all that is claimed for them. My baby suffered from his stomach and bowels and the Tablets cured him." They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STRENUOUS WORK
SOON TELLS ON YOU

Business Men and Breadwinners
the Victims of Nervous Exhaustion.

When worry is added to overwork men soon become the victims of nervous exhaustion—neurasthenia—the doctor calls it. Some have no reserve strength in their systems to bear the strain; others overtax what strength they have. If you find that you are nervous and not sure of yourself, that you sleep badly, and wake up tired and aching, your nerves are out of order. Other signs are inability to take proper interest in your work, your appetite is fickle, your back feels weak, and you are greatly depressed in spirits. One or more of these signs mean that you should take prompt steps to stop mischief by nourishing the nerves with the food they thrive on, namely, the rich, red blood made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills have cured thousands of cases of nervous disorders, including nervous prostration, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance and partial paralysis. Here is an example: "In the summer of 1912, as the result, I think, of hard work, I was completely run down and found it necessary to quit work. I slept poorly, and what sleep I did get did not seem to rest me, as I was constantly tired. My appetite was poor and fickle and my nerves unstrung. I had treatment from a doctor for some time, but it did not seem to help me, and having heard a great deal about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I decided to try them. In the course of a few weeks after beginning the Pills I picked up wonderfully and was able to return to work feeling like a new man. I have not had a day's sickness since, and naturally am now a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will work the same beneficial results in any other tired, worn-out worker if given a fair trial. If you cannot obtain the Pills from your dealer they will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

You Never Call the Doctor

Unless You Need Him

You listen with grave attention to every word he says. BUT THEN—what do you do with that vitally important thing—the prescription he leaves?

Do you use the same care in choosing the druggist to fill it that you do in choosing the doctor who writes it? And shouldn't you? Doesn't the success of the doctor's treatment depend more than anything else on the exactness and care with which his prescription is filled, and the freshness, strength and purity of its ingredients? We also claim that nowhere else near here can you get your prescription filled with more exact skill and care—the same exact precision—as in our prescription department. People who have us fill their prescriptions will tell you that our claims are based on facts. And these facts are becoming more widely known daily, as is evidenced by our constantly increasing prescription business.
