Victory Final and Complete Must Be Won At Whatever Cost of Blood and Treasure

That Is the Supreme Duty of Canadians, Said Sir Wilfrid Laurier, In a Noble Oration, in Which He Appealed for United, Determined and Resolute Effort to Maintain British Institutions and the Freedom of the World—"We Must Be Free or Lose Our Freedom" Is the Only Consideration

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—War has sobered Parliament. It was a serious but confident, and, at times, enthusiastic House, which today heard the two leaders voice Canada's determination to assume greater responsibilities and to make ever greater sacrifices and efforts for the prosecution of the struggle to a victorious peace. Both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden opened by declaring that the shadows of the war seemed even darker and more sombre than when Parliament had last met. Yet they concluded with a firm and confident note of united endeavor to see the task through, cost what it might.

SIR WILFRID'S INSPIRING APPEAL.
There was a compelling intensity in Sir Wilfrid's earnest and eloquent appeal for a united Canada, determined upon every sacrifice necessary to make victory complete and lasting. Where heretofore he has alluded to the insular prejudices of the Bourassa-Lavergne element in his own Province with ridicule or belittlement, this afternoon he alluded to them with stinging scorn. "Their's," he exclaimed, "was the aridity of empty hearts." In every Province of Canada, he maintained, the primary issue that "we must be free or lose our freedom," must be the dominant, the only consideration.

Sir Wilfrid went even further. There was not a civilized nation in the world that had not an interest in the outcome of the war. Germany's plans of domination were not confined to the old world. "Should she triumph," declared the ex-Premier significantly, "there would be nations that would rue the day of their indifference and supineness."

WAR THE FIRST CONSIDERATION.
With war as the first consideration, Sir Wilfrid did not even allude to the legislative item which the Government has placed first in its programme, the Bill to extend the life of Parliament. The discussion of that domestic issue can come after the war necessities have been met. In this respect Sir Robert Borden followed the lead of the Opposition Chief, as he did also in promptly accepting Sir Wilfrid's suggestion that he set at rest the feeling of uneasiness in many parts of the country that the voluntary system of enlistment, which has worked so well in Canada, should be abandoned for conscription. Sir Robert gave the pledge (Continued on page eight).

THREE OLD COUNCILLORS GO DOWN TO DEFEAT

Voting Very Light—Some Interesting Questions For the New Board—Mayor Sutton Again At The Wheel

Monday was election day for Mayor and Councillors. If the day was characterized by anything it was the light voting and lack of activity about the polls. The chill air and raw winds had a tendency to dampen the ardor of the usual political workers. Doubt as to the result was in the air until the final figures were announced. The man who was questioned as to his ability to forecast the result was hard to find.

The campaign was unique and differed from its predecessors owing to the fact that the heaviest taxpayers could not vote. Some spice was added to the campaign owing to this and some "sore" ones were in evidence. Experience and political knowledge did not count against the popularity of youth and Mr. Stevens ran ahead of the "old timers", as the figures indicate. The influence of those affected by the drastic tax legislation was directly against the men who were held responsible for the existing conditions. Other matters, that will no doubt be in evidence later, had considerable to do with the election of the new men. If rumor is correct there may be some changes of a rather startling nature and in the meantime the course of the new board relating to several very "live" matters will be watched with interest. Out of a list of 1100 less than 600 were qualified to vote.

Following is the vote in detail:

	A-L	M-Z	A-L	M-Z
Stevens	52	35	86	64-237
Smith	59	34	82	52-227
Noddin	62	34	75	55-226
Leighton	38	31	84	63-216
Stairs	35	27	61	44-167
Fisher	36	22	63	40-161
Fewer	32	30	53	40-155
Young	47	30	41	32-150
Flemming	47	24	38	37-146

NEWLY ELECTED COUNCILLORS IN FIRST SESSION

Not Many Changes—Resolutions of Sympathy In Death of Coun. H. E. Gallagher—Retiring Warden Phillips Makes Pleasing Address—Coun. Tracey, of Wicklow, Is the New Warden

Court House, Woodstock, N. B., Jan. 18, 1916. The County Council met in the regular January session at 10 a.m. The following are the men comprising the newly elected Board:—Aberdeen—D. Lamont, Samuel Hemphill. Brighton—Ed. Morgan, Fred Smith. Northampton—H. A. Phillips, Arthur Gibson. Peel—E. W. Melville, Frank Tompkins. Richmond—Alex Bell, Ezra Flemming. Simonds—John Perry, Odbur Shaw. Wicklow—Carey Estey, Rennie Tracey. Wilmot—Harry Carvell, Wilnot Anderson. Kent—John Kinney, W. J. Gallagher. Woodstock Parish—Robert Moxon, Chas. Clark. Wakefield—Wm. G. Kearney, Albert G. Bell. Woodstock Town—H. D. Stevens, Howard Burt, James W. Gallagher.

The change in the personnel of the Council it will thus be seen, is small, only five of the new members not having been members of last year's council. One death occurred since the fall election, that of Coun. Hugh E. Gallagher who has occupied a seat at this board for a number of years and by his sterling worth and ability has won a foremost place in the esteem of the Board and his fellow-citizens throughout the county, always courteous, warm hearted and manly, yet firm and truly conscientious in doing his duty.

Therefore Resolved that we hereby place ourselves on record as showing our manifold regret and the high regard in which he was held by this Board. And further resolved—that we extend to his brother, James W. Gallagher and the other members of his family, our sympathy in the loss of so worthy a brother.

And further resolved that this resolution be spread upon the minutes and a copy thereof be sent to the family of the deceased and signed by the Warden and Sec. Treasurer.

Coun. Phillips took the chair upon the opening of the council. The National Anthem was sung, then Coun. Phillips made a touching reference to the late Coun. Gallagher, whose death was so deeply regretted by all. Continuing Coun. Phillips read a letter from the family of the late Counsellor to the council, thanking them for resolution passed and for memorial wreath they had kindly furnished.

He had found his experience as Warden of the council a very pleasant experience. It seemed to him that as so many old councillors were returned the electors must have been pretty well satisfied. He was glad to see so many old members. It is upon us to do everything we can to help out in this great struggle now going on. I am glad the county did so well for the Patriotic and other funds and I hope we will be able to do as well or better this year. We cannot all be at the front or in the trenches. Those of us who stay at home have work to do towards bringing this struggle to a successful end, and towards aiding the cause for which our nation is fighting. I regret to say the war seems no nearer an end than when we last met, but I for one have confidence and believe that the end when it comes will mean a great victory for the cause for which our nation is fighting. When the end does come we will be proud that Carleton County did her share in every way to bring about this great result. (Loud applause.)

BOARD OF TRADE HOLDS ANNUAL SESSION

Election of Officers Goes Over Till Next Meeting—New Members Admitted—President E. W. Jarvis In Interesting Address Reviews Year's Work—Tendered a Vote of Thanks

The Board of Trade held their annual meeting Monday night, with Pres. E. W. Jarvis in the chair, and some of our industries had to work on short time, causing lack of employment.

Once more Carleton County farms have yielded large crops of all produce but potatoes and this year are realizing high prices, that for potatoes going far to compensate for the shortage in the yield. Similar conditions exist all over the Dominion and business is more brisk in that part of Canada which lies east of Winnipeg.

Woodstock shares in this prosperity to no small degree yet it is a time during which the wise man will conserve his resources, for a large part of the business in manufacturing centres is due to making war material and much temporary disturbance of conditions in such places is bound to follow the restoration of peace. The manufacturing centres are the market of the agricultural centres so the latter will also be affected and it is likely to go hard... with those who neglect to make provision against that time.

The year 1915 remains memorable in Woodstock as the first year of the operation of the St. John Valley Railway. In addition to making new storm better than most parts of Canada, business remained quiet during the spring and summer of 1915 and some of our industries had to work on short time, causing lack of employment.

At the time of our last meeting business throughout Canada was in a most disturbed and unsatisfactory condition and it continued so for much of the winter. Locally our farmers had gathered good crops but the low prices obtainable reduced profits and, although travellers told us that we were weathering the storm better than most parts of
