MORRISSY STRIKES HARD AGAIN SOME EXCUSES

"Government Fast Drifting on the Rocks," Said Hon. Dr. Landry—Expected $10,000 from B. F. Smith on Account of Patriotic Potatoes—Did Not Come Across Says Provincial Secretary—Package of Boodle From Woodstock "Shy" on Arrival

In a telephone message from New-castle Hon. John Morrissey went right after Messrs. Murray and Landry. He said:

"I see by the Standard of this morning that Hon. Dr. Landry denies the statement of Hon. J. A. Murray, 'For God's sake don't tell Morrissey.' It would seem to me that Dr. Landry's memory needs refreshing. Will he deny his remarks to H. M. Blair and myself in the Royal hotel on the Tuesday following the meeting of the government to arrange for the Teed investigation, when he stated that this government was fast drifting on the rocks, and that he felt this investigation was the final blow; that he was tired and sick of these hole-and-corner meetings and a government being run by one of two individuals when all hands were responsible for their acts."

"Does he remember his proposition that he and I should put certain matters up to them and force a show down? I can assure Hon. Dr. Landry that if I have occasion I may refresh his memory on many, many matters."

Referring to his, Morrissey's, statement with respect to a conversation with Dr. Landry in which the latter repeated Hon. Mr. Murray's statement to him, that he expected to get $10,000 from B. Frank Smith and his associates, Hon. Dr. Landry stated in the Standard: "The conversation as reported by Mr. Morrissey never took place."

"As reported by Mr. Morrissey," said Hon. John. "Is Dr. Landry quibbling upon words? What does he mean by saying 'as reported by Mr. Morrissey'?" Why not say like a man that on the train coming to a government meeting in St. John in December he told me that he expected to receive $10,000 from B. Frank Smith and his associates on account of patriotic potatoes, and was keeping his books open to receive it. Will Dr. Landry deny making such a statement to me?"

"Will he also deny that on the train going home I said: 'I saw B. Frank Smith in town.' Did you get your $10,000? And he replied, 'No, I did not.'"

"What will you do about your books," I asked; and Dr. Landry replied: "I am not going to keep them open any longer. I will close them up." I can make my affidavit to my

SEVEN STURDY YOUNG MEN RESPOND TO EMPIRE'S CALL

Wightman Manzer, Qualified Captain Enlists in Ranks—Successful Recruiting Meeting

That splendid musical organization, the band of the 115th regiment, was here Thursday of last week and the citizens had an opportunity of listening to music of the highest order. The band was accompanied by several officers who are making a recruiting tour. In the evening the Hayden-Gibson theatre was packed to the doors and recruiting speeches were delivered by Capt. Tilley, Capt. Sanford, Lieut. Dever and Major Peters. T. O. L. Ketchum was chairman.

While the strains of Tipperary were ringing through the big theatre seven sturdy young men walked to the stage and signed up to fight the battles of the Empire. They were cheered to the echo by the vast audience. When Capt. Tilley announced that Capt. Wightman Manzer was giving up his commission to enter the ranks it was the signal for a demonstration that testified the warm appreciation for the young officer who had spent a year in military school qualifying for a position and was now willing to "do his bit" in the ranks when the country was calling for men and more men. He is a graduate of Rothesay College and was first in a telephone message from New-castle Hon. John Morrissey went right after Messrs. Murray and Landry. He said:

"There was quite a joke about the funds for the Guthrie campaign. It was in reality a campaign between Guthrie and Pinder with 'Blair and the Boys' backing Guthrie and Pinder and Morehouse backing Scott the other candidate. The Guthrie forces had $13,000 raised as follows:

Note (which was to be paid by the government) $5,000
Organizer Woods bundle cash 4,000
Fleming "campaign fund" 1,900
Contributions from other sources 2,100

$13,000

"The package that was sent from Woodstock was supposed to contain $5,000 but when opened up there was only $1,900. There was much disappointment over the "shrinking" which took place either in transit or before the package was made up. But the package was 'proved in solemn form'—that is, opened in the presence of the election managers and checked up.

"SEE ALLISON," TORONTO MAN WAS TOLD WHEN HE TRIED TO GET A FUSE CONTRACT

OTTAWA, MAY 9.—THE PART PLAYED BY COL. J. WESLEY ALLISON, GENERAL HUGHES'S "FRIEND, PHILOSOPHER AND GUIDE," IN THE LETTING OF CONTRACTS FOR 5,000,000 FUSES AT EXTRA-NORMAL PRICES, IN THE UNITED STATES, IN JUNE LAST, WAS SENSATIONALLY EXPOSED BEFORE THE DUFF-MEREDITH COMMISSION TODAY.

MR. LLOYD HARRIS, ONE OF THE LEADING MEMBERS OF THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION, GAVE SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY, PROVING IN ESSENTIALS MR. KYTE'S CHARGES.—COL. CARNEGIE CONFESSED THAT FIVE MILLION FUSE ORDERS TO THE LUCKY AMERICANS WERE GIVEN "UNDER PRESSURE," AND MR. HARRIS, IN RESPONSE TO CHIEF JUSTICE MEREDITH'S QUESTIONS, ADDED THAT HE TOLD SIR ROBERT BORDEN ALL ABOUT THE MIDDLEMAN LAST OCTOBER.

Lieut. of Woodstock Cadet Corp and afterwards captain of the same corps. He spent three years in the ranks of the Brighton Engineers and volunteered for service at the opening of the war. After spending seven weeks in Halifax and qualifying as Lieutenant, he returned and received his machine gun certificate later taking the Captain's course passing high in his class, being one of four who were successful among 33.

It will be seen that this young soldier is making a sacrifice but he is made of the right stuff and will undoubtedly be advanced on merit if given the opportunity. He is a son of Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Manzer and it is understood will be a member of Co. D., 104th regiment.

The other young stalwarts were James Deveau, William Carroll, Reid McLean, Wm. Henry Gibbons, James Gillette, William Paddock. It was announced that two new battalions would be formed when the present recruiting was completed. During the evening the band rendered several selections of classical music that met with great favor. The officers and band went to Perth Friday morning where a successful meeting was held in the evening.

Saturday evening a meeting was held at Grand Falls at which four recruits were enrolled.

WHO KNOWS?

Mr. Editor:—When the Board of Health places a house does it mean that the inmates are not to come out—or are persons not allowed to go in? Of course the patient is not able to get out and it would be interesting to know who is quarantined. From appearances it would seem to apply to the patient.

FOR NOT ENLISTING

Following are Some of the Reasons Given for Not Enlisting, With Answers:

Following are some of the reasons given for not enlisting, with answers:

1. My mother does not want me to go.

Answer. Your mother does not want you to go, but nevertheless if you do go she will be that much prouder of you, and appreciate you all the more on your return.

2. Who will look after my farm?

Answer. Your farm will be looked after by some one just as capable as you. Necessity always provides a way, and ten chances to one there is some one waiting to do it for you.

3. Let the militia man enlist first.

Answer. The majority of the militiamen have done their duty. The duty to defend the country is just as much your's as their's, and you can become just as good a soldier.

4. I am needed at home.

Answer. Every one is needed at home. Every citizen is an asset to the State, that is why suicide is a crime, but the need is far greater at the front.

5. I don't have to go.

Answer. No one has to go but some have gone and others are wanted; that is why England has conscription for the first time in her history.

6. England has all the soldiers she needs.

Answer. It costs $1000.00 or more to properly train and equip one soldier. Does it stand to reason that this amount will be spent unless the necessity calls for it.

7. Canada is in no danger.

Answer. Canada is in danger in two ways at least. First, she has promised to supply 500,000 soldiers, and unless the Canadian men respond she will fail in her word. Second—Canada is part and parcel of the British Empire, and if Germany wins this war we will be no more.

8. The war might end before I get a chance.

Answer. The war will end some day, but the ending will be disastrous unless more men are obtained. The longer you delay the less chance you will have in being a decided factor in bringing about victory.

9. I would go if I could get a commission.

Answer. Canada, at present, does not need any more officers, but she does need men to fill the ranks, and it is your duty to go where most needed. The soldier in the ranks does his duty just as efficiently as any officer, and the best officers today are those who have been promoted from the ranks.

10. My wife objects.

Answer. Your wife would not be true to you if she did not object, but this war must bring a sacrifice, not only to those who go into the trenches, but also to those who remain at home.

11. I cannot go now, but I intend to go later.

Everyone would of course like to be among those who will march into Berlin behind the band, but there is much work to be done first and there is only one time to do it, and that is now, not later.

12. I cannot afford to lose the position I now hold.

The best positions in Canada have been given up in order that men may go to the front. There will be lots of vacant positions when the war is over and the returned soldier will receive the preference.

13. I will go when I am needed.

Answer. Many men are hard to convince that they are needed; in fact some act as if they did not know a war was taking place. An idle excuse is worse than nothing.

14. Let some of the loafers go first.

Answer. Many harsh things have been said about the loafers and you have no use for them; yet you ask them to defend you. The loafer, as a rule, is a useless person and you would not depend upon him if you really wanted something for yourself or your house was on fire.

15. I do not think that I could pass the medical examination.

The medical examination is as much a protection for you as for the army. The least you can do is to try.

16. I have conscientious scruples about taking up arms.

There is more authority for taking up arms than not, especially when your cause is right.

can by birth, but his short residence in Canada interested him in the cause of the Allies and his enlistment followed. There are many Americans serving in the battalion, he said today.

TOWNSEND, MASS., SENDS YOUTH TO JOIN THE ALLIES

Sergeant Rogers Visits His Old Home Town—One of Many Americans in 104th Battalion

(Fitchburg Daily News.)

Sergeant Thomas Rogers, 104th overseas battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force, stepson of John McGinnis, Townsend, Mass., and until a year ago a resident of that town, will sail for England and the Continent with his fighting battalion in a few weeks.

Sergeant Rogers is on ten days' furlough with his stepfather in Townsend and was a visitor here today. He is well known to many Fitchburg young men and was greeted by numbers as he walked about the town. About a year ago, he went to Canada to work and seven months ago enlisted in the 104th battalion. His rise was rapid, becoming a corporal and then a sergeant within a short time.

The battalion trained at Woodstock, New Brunswick, and Sergt. Rogers went to Halifax and attended a school for non-commissioned officers learning physical culture as applied in the army.

Sergeant Rogers will leave for Canada tomorrow morning and will probably sail next week from Halifax or St. John for the English training camps, where he will be stationed with his battalion for a short time.

After this final stage of training, the Canadian battalion will go directly to the firing line, probably in France. The sergeant is an Ameri-
