

THE AGE OF NEWSPAPERS— CARLETON SENTINEL FOUNDED 1837

First in Point of Age in New Brunswick—Sixteenth for All Canada—Quebec Chronicle Founded 1764

In the Confederation number of Printer and Publisher is a list of papers founded over fifty years ago and which have been constantly published since. The Sentinel is given as the oldest paper in New Brunswick, founded 1837. The second is the Maritime Baptist founded 1838; St. John Telegraph 1862; The St. Stephen Courier 1865; Le Moniteur Acadien, Shediac, 1867; The Union Advocate, Newcastle, 1867. The oldest in Canada is the Chronicle, of Quebec, founded in 1764. In the whole of Canada the Sentinel is sixteenth in point of age.

At the time of Confederation Mr. James Watts was the editor of the Sentinel in which position he continued until the time of his death 1903. He had associated with him his brother Samuel Watts who has also passed away. There have been two changes in the editorial management since that time, S. L. Lynott being present editor and manager since 1912.

(Through the Courtesy of Printer and Publisher we are able to reproduce the articles exactly as they appeared in the Sentinel in 1867. The other cuts were also kindly loaned us by this Journal.)

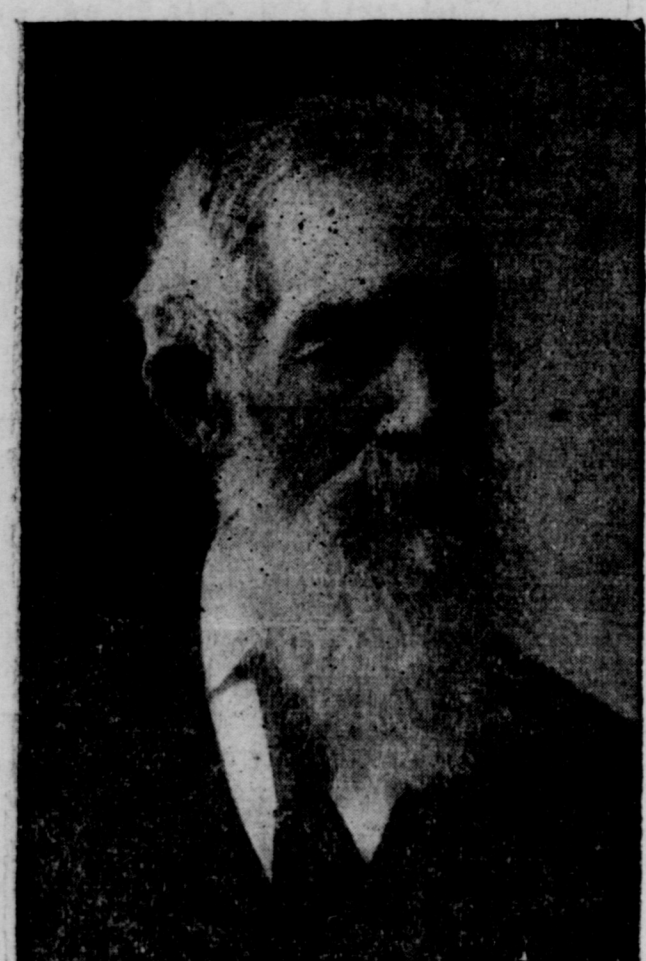

The Sentinel's announcement of its entrance upon its 30th year of history.

The Carleton Sentinel.

Saturday, January 5, 1867.

This number begins, nominally the 10th volume of the Sentinel, although the paper is really over 30 years old, a very respectable age for a provincial newspaper. There is no other in the Province to dispute the claim of being the oldest except the St. Andrews Standard, and between the two there is but little difference in age.

We mention this circumstance as reflecting credit upon the County in having for so long a time sustained the, we believe, continuous publication of a paper which has always been on the side of popular institutions, and whose politics have kept pace with, or rather led in, the expansion and development of liberal principles. The Sentinel may fairly be regarded as an institution of the up-river district, and we trust shall continue to be the "Watchman" for the people, so long as independent, honest and progressive principles commend themselves to a majority of those people. We can only say now on the threshold of what will probably be a most eventful year to our Province, that the Sentinel will be "as in the past but much more abundant" so far as it can be made more useful, more instructive, more welcome to its readers.

JAMES WATTS
Editor at the time of Confederation

Saturday, July 6, 1867.

The New Dominion was ushered into existence by no very noisy or remarkable demonstrations in Woodstock. The notice was too short for any preparations for an ostentatious display. We had no flag at half-mast, however, but from the Orange Hall and the "Flag Staff" the Union Jack, run up to the full height, waved the breeze in all its beauty. A mighty yell from one of the cannon belonging to the battery here awoke the Town from its early slumbers on the first hour of Monday morning. The Rifles, under Capt. Ketchum, and Artillery, under Capt. Edgar, had a drill in the forenoon, and at noon fired a salute. In the afternoon the Brass Band in a carriage paraded the streets discoursing excellent music. By the way, this Band, under the tutelage of Mr. Foster, is rapidly improving. The Rifles having laid aside their murderous weapons came out in their other, more peaceful yet not less important role of Firemen, and with the engine, of which they have control, under Capt. Strickland, exercised themselves manfully and well for a time. There were a good many people in from the country, and everybody looked happy and satisfied, and the day passed off quietly without row or uproar.

And as happiness, peace and contentment, have thus marked the advent of Union, we hail it as an omen of future peace, prosperity and happiness for the whole Dominion of CANADA.

S. L. LYNOTT,
Managing Editor.

These Men Will Help You Decide

Are you liable to be selected for service under the Military Service Act?

The answer to this question is being made readily available for you. Remember that the first class to be called includes only men between the ages of 20 and 34, both inclusive, who are unmarried or widowers without children, those married after July 6, 1917, being deemed single for the purposes of the Act.

Medical Boards are now being established throughout Canada. These Boards will examine, free of charge and obligation, all men who wish to be examined as to their physical fitness for military service. They will tell you in a very short time whether your physical condition absolves you from the call or makes you liable for selection.

It is important that you obtain this information as soon as possible. A certificate of unfitness from a Medical Board will secure for you freedom from responsibility under the Military Service Act from any Exemption Tribunal. A certificate of fitness will not preclude an appeal for exemption on any ground.

In order that you may be able to plan your future with certainty, visit a Medical Board as soon as possible and find out if you are liable to be selected. Your family and your employer are interested as well as yourself.
