FIGHTING FRANK OTTAWA POWER

Mr. Carvell, Cabinet Minister, Has Record of Strenuous Labor

(Toronto Globe)

Hon. Frank Broadstreet Carvell, the New Brunswick in the Union government, who has the portfolio of Public Works will make one of its most level-headed members. His training as a lawyer may have helped this quality. But most of it is inborn. He is of United Empire Loyalist descent, from a branch of a family that settled early in the Valley of the St. John river. The family has been level-headed ever since New Brunswick was named.

Yet this has not been the part of his make-up which appears to have made his political reputation. "F. B." as he is called all over the Maritime Provinces, is never so happy as when unearthing "crift," unless it is when starting the hunt for the grafter. He has the nose for following clues which in another walk would have perhaps made him "famous" as a Sherlock Holmes. As it is, he is simply a statesman! He has the gift of deducing facts, and can find "confirmation strong as proof of holy writ" in what would escape any other man. It is his genius. The Public Inquiries Commission of a few years ago gave this trend in his composition a chance to become known; the more recent Kyte charges showed it as more developed. These are but a part of a series though one would be erring strangely if one had to conclude that all Hon. Mr. Carvell's gifts are destructive. They can be proved to be vitally constructive when needed, and they are at all times reconstructive.

IN THE DUGAL CHARGES.

Still, the more spectacular quality of "F. B." remains his ability to track down, through a maze of figures and through slack or crooked bookkeeping, the footprints of the evil doer in Canadian public life. To those who saw him intimately in the conduct of the celebrated "Dugal charges" in his native province in 1914, nothing he has yet done in the Dominion arena seems to equal the brilliance and the spirit he then displayed. There were battles royal in the hearing of those charges of crooked administration, nominally laid by Mr. L. A. Dugal, one of the French Acadian members of the New Brunswick Legislature. Briefly they were that the then provincial government had been guilty of gross graft and of the taking of wretched rakes-off in the Valley Railway contracts. That was then all-important in the St. John Valley, because it was one hope, long delayed, of seeing the Transcontinental linked up to be of some faint good in New Brunswick. Side by side with these charges were others, not less mean and despicable because involving large sums of money, of shadiness in the letting of the crown timber concessions. Lumber is one of the big industries of New Brunswick, and it touched the people's interests closely.

The inquiry began in April, 1914, and for three unbroken months of damp heat, more charged with thunder than the heavy atmosphere of the Bay of Fundy, it, "like a wounded snake, dragged its slow length along" until it was diametrically suspended and virtually closed with the startling announcement by one of the investigating commissioners that Germany had declared war on Russia.

CORNERING A PREMIER.

Those who recall Mr. Carvell's unwearying persistence, his untiring following of accusing item after item, often through a network of

KEEP YOUR HOLIDAY HEALTH

Make it your business to always look and feel as well as you do at the end of your vacation. Sunshine, fresh air and exercise are nature's great restorers and the health gained during a holiday should carry you well along to the next vacation.

It is most important that the blood be kept cleared of impurities. This is the business of the Kidneys. One hour's incapacity on the part of the Kidneys and the blood begins to get clogged with poisons which are carried to all parts of the body—giving rise to one or more of the following symptoms:—

Rheumatism follows the crystallizing of uric acid in the muscle tissues and joints. Uric acid poisons should be eliminated by the Kidneys. Swollen joints and ankles indicate the immediate need for Gin Pills. Pains in the sides and back and through the groins, constant headaches, restless nights, derangements of the urinary system, stone and gravel, puffiness under the eyes and frequent chills—all these should be taken as warnings and a treatment with Gin Pills taken at once.

bookkeeping complicated by the fact that the very books had been spitted to New York, his badgering and cornering of Premier Flemming in an historic examination on the interview in a Fredericton hotel, his scornful fire when all the tricks of the legal trade were used to stop replies on the very lips of witnesses, will class the days with the best remembrances of the redoubtable Rufus Isaacs, the present Lord Chief Justice Reading, who at the Bar was the terror of the bluffer or the liar.

What does it matter if all the charges were not then proved? That which has followed in New Brunswick politics has been Mr. Carvell's justification.

A STRONG MAN'S TRIBUTE

But it was typical of Mr. Carvell that in that inquiry he refused to make use of evidence which might have deterred two officers from attending Valcartier camp. The writer can recall still that he paid one of them the compliment of a strong man: "He has had the courage to take up his country's battles, and I am too old a fighter not to wish him luck." That is the touch which makes F. B. Carvell loved even by those he has grappled with most fiercely—and there is no doubt about the ferocity while it is on.

These are the selfsame gifts which in the Dominion House of Commons made "F. B." a weighty member of the Liberal party. His methods did not differ in the well-known Public Accounts investigation, they did not differ in the exposure of J. Wesley Allison. One may rely on the same spirit of steady following of fact to its logical conclusion, in any principle that may come before the new cabinet member. One may even with more assurance rely on his undeviating tracking of details in his department—the Public Works.

CLEAR FOR CONSCRIPTION.

But no life-story of Frank Broadstreet Carvell would be complete, however, short, if it did not state the fact unequivocally that his clarity of vision, his reaffirmation of the belief of his friends that he has the wider stuff that makes a statesman, was never so clearly seen as in his stand for the firm carrying through of a conscription scheme. He has been known to be in favor of it for at least the last year. Those with whom he is most intimate in New Brunswick are aware that he foresaw, months before it actually came about, the divergence with the "old" leader of the party at Ottawa. To his credit—as it is to the credit equally of other Liberals who have "gone over the top"—he appreciated the delicacy of the personal severance. In his many conferences it is an open secret that he urged Sir Wilfrid Laurier to take what Mr. Carvell and his co-members think the only logical step.

"OFFICER AND A GENTLEMAN."

As an old militia officer of the 10th Battery of the 5th Brigade of Canadian Artillery, he took a prominent part in the earlier recruiting; that thing which if it had to be done over again would be differently done in Canada. So that it is no wonder he did not wish to see more waste of time in continuing a voluntary system that had reached the human limit. His knowledge thus gained on the inner side of the ring will be of priceless value in the future acts of the cabinet. This association with the militia includes more than moral support of the 67th Regiment, Carleton Light Infantry. In this must be sought the key to the secret of the "esprit de corps" which at the close of the Dugal inquiry led him to sacrifice a trump as a lawyer to "play the game" rightly with a fellow officer. These are things Canadians and the British race the world over can admire, in foe as in friend.

Mr. Carvell is a native of Bloomfield, N. B., born in 1860, was at one time a school teacher, and, reading for the law, took the LL.B. at Boston. He practices in Woodstock. Like his father before him he is also a farmer. Mr. Carvell sat in the Provincial Assembly for some time, but has been in the House of Commons since his return for Carleton county at the general election of 1914.

IT GROWS NEW SKIN!

When Zam-Buk is applied to a skin disease it soothes pain, ends irritation and draws out the inflammation. At the same time it destroys all germs and thoroughly cleanses the diseased part. Then the herbal extracts act in such a way upon the tissues that they actually grow new skin, which replaces the worn-out tissue and a complete cure is the result.

Mrs. Minnie Carmichael, of 72 5th Ave., Maisonneuve, Montreal, writes: "I had suffered with wet eczema for so long and tried so many treatments that I had begun to think that my case was incurable. I even took treatment in a hospital, but got no benefit from anything until I used Zam-Buk. This wonderful balm ended the discharge, soothed the sores and drew out the inflammation, and in a comparatively short time completely cured the disease, so that there has not been the slightest trace of eczema since."

For ulcers, abscesses, chronic sores, ringworm, scalp sores, salt rheum, boils, pimples, blood-poisoning, running sores, bad legs, piles, chapped hands, sore lips, chilblains, cuts, burns, scalds and all skin injuries Zam-Buk is always reliable. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.
