THE NEWSPAPER SITUATION

Patrons of newspapers, both readers and advertisers, must recognize themselves to high prices for subscriptions and advertising if the publishing business is to survive during the period of abnormal conditions which exist at the present time and which threaten to exist for a very long time.

Scarcely more than two years ago publishers were buying print paper delivered at their door for $1.90 to $2.00 per hundred pounds. The price now is about $4.00. This is but one item of the many that enter into the making of a paper and in the case of every commodity essential in the production of a paper the same measure of increase is noted so that newspaper properties are operating at a loss.

In the retail trade when a retailer is compelled to pay more for anything the price is immediately added to the selling price of the article. This is simply plain, every day business sense. Many publishers have attempted to swallow increasing costs rather than pass the increase along and the result is inability to continue.

The war is teaching newspaper publishers a much needed lesson. Too many of them were content to struggle through the years netting an income which an ordinary good book-keeper is loath to accept. Out of war time conditions we expect to see a new dignity come to the newspaper profession. We expect to see publishers discover at last they are business men, running a business for profit, men of energy and intelligence entitled to a fair remuneration for their labors and a decent return on the money they have invested.

We expect to see publishers demanding a fair profit on every paper which they sell and on every inch of advertising which they run and if this comes to pass "war time" publishing conditions which have seemed almost too much of a handicap for publishers to stagger under, will in the end prove to be but a blessing in disguise.

TWO WAR INSTRUMENTS.

Tanks and airplanes are playing a bigger part in the present allied offensive than ever before. General Maury says that the tank of to-day is far in advance of its prototype in every respect. It can move faster and do more destructive work, and the references to them in the despatches show that they are being employed in large numbers. They simplify the frontal attack, for they mow down and demoralize the infantry in front of them. They seem to be almost irresistible the only apparent way to combat them is with an equal number of equally powerful tanks. In this respect the Germans are not so well equipped as the allies.

Airplanes are being used in greater numbers than ever before and they are put to a greater number of uses. As indicating the number brought in to service in the Picardy offensive, one war correspondent says that the allies have brought down 100 enemy

GAVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.
