THE INFLUENZA.

Despite the efforts of the health authorities, the influenza epidemic is still spreading in some districts. In some places it seems to be on the wane, but it is gaining ground in others. A hesitancy to close up tight upon the part of some health boards, where the disease was lightly felt at first, is given as one reason for its rapid spread.

To the action of the provincial health board, can be attributed the checking of the influenza in this province. Its effects have been fairly well confined to certain localities even though those places have been hard hit. Although there are hundreds of scattered cases throughout the province, the number of places swept by the disease have been limited.

ATROCITIES CONTINUE

Even while Germany is extending the olive branch to the Allies she continues atrocities on both land and sea. First came reports of the further enslavement of civilians in conquered portions of Belgium, closely followed by outrages by submarine crews on the sea. Not content with laying waste the land and razing buildings to the ground, the German occupational troops must needs commit further outrages upon the defenseless population. Not content with merely sinking a cargo ship carrying soldiers and sailors, these depraved underseamen must shell the lifeboats with shrapnel and pick off with rifles those swimming in the water. SERVICE AND SACRIFICE

This epidemic has given us a chance to look deeply into the hearts of men and women whom we have not really known until just now. Put to the test the best of manhood and womanhood is coming to the surface. To those who are giving of themselves in the work of stamping out the dreaded visitor, two much praise cannot be given. We are blended into a single family by adversity. In this type of unity there is strength and the promise that the epidemic will be the quicker brought to a close.

One of the meanest falsehoods to start is the report of the death of some person who is known to be ill. Would it be libelous to print the names of the persons who start these reports? It might be a cure for rumors.

Speaking in Washington, Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, said that as an example of what sea power has done, seven American soldiers and their equipment have landed in Europe every minute of the night and day during the last three months. Through the splendid work of American shipbuilders, he added, the United States now is able to transport more than 50 per cent. of her soldiers in American ships manned by Americans. When the United States army first began to move overseas, it was carried largely by British vessels.

About twenty five friends of Miss Myrtle O. Lawson, South Newbridge, met at the home of Miss Helena J. Tompkins on Monday night and presented her with a variety shower. She received many beautiful and useful gifts. Music and games were enjoyed after which a dainty luncheon was served.

UTTER CONTEMPT OF DEATH

Shown by Signalmen--Artillery Captain Led Infantry Unit in Daring Assault.

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN THE FIELD, Oct. 22--(By J. F. B. Livesay, correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—Some remarkable exploits were performed by Canadian gunners during the battle of Cambrai. In storming the Canal du Nord on the morning of September 27, it was of the utmost importance to have the field artillery right up in support, as failure to make a good crossing near Inch meant holding up the entire battle plan of the previous day. A lieutenant made a personal reconnaissance along the canal for his battery, and that night took his section of eighteen pounders in front even of our outpost line, losing half his horses and ammunition, but being able at zero hour to open fire across the canal with open sights at point-blank range.

During that advance a lieutenant of the divisional column made a reconnaissance under heavy shell fire of the passages across the canal, and then by his persistent disregard of danger and good leadership took a column of wagons forward and established an ammunition reserve depot a thousand yards east of the canal. He kept up the supply there until the bridges were built. Throughout the fighting since August 8 this officer has on every occasion pushed forward ammunition dumps into the thick of the battle, thus enabling the artillery to give immediate support to advancing infantry lines.

On September 8, a captain of a battery followed up the barrage near Stilly and established his "O-pip" on the right flank of the infantry. Seeing them held up by machine gun fire he went forward, laying the telephone wire and then directed the fire of the battery on houses where an enemy post was ensconced. The infantry at this point had an exposed flank of some thousand yards and were being heavily fired upon by machine guns. Seeing that they had lost their officers, he led the assault, calling upon the infantry to follow, and though wounded in the leg, persisted so long as he was able to hobble.

A sergeant of the first Canadian Signal Company drove the first vehicle across the Canal du Nord, established report with the centre and laid lines under continual heavy fire to brigade and battery positions. Three times in half an hour he re-erected himself wireless aerials which were shot down during these operations. The signaller showed an utter contempt of death in making and preserving lines of communication.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses row by row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead; short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved and now we lie

In Flanders' field

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep though poppies grow

In Flanders' field

It Lt. Col. John McCrea, who wrote this poem, and who now sleeps in Flanders' fields, were able to speak to his fellow countrymen in Canada he would tell them that to subscribe to the Victory Loan is to take up the quarrel with the foe and keep faith with them who die.

GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

To guard the baby against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild laxative that will keep the little one's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognized fact that where the stomach and bowels are in good order that colds will not exist; that the health of the little one will be good and that he will thrive and be happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

VICTORY LOAN APPEAL TO REACH EVERYBODY

Enormous Plans For Circulation of Posters, Flags and Phonograph Records.

It will be an occasion well worthy of the dignity attached to it when on October 17 his excellency the Governor-General of Canada raises the great honor flag at 12.30 noon, in Ottawa, to commemorate the beginning of the second Victory Loan campaign. While the bands are playing "O Canada" and the military officers are standing at the salute and all other men with bare heads, the Duke of Devonshire will thus inaugurate a campaign second only in importance to that conducted on the fields of France and Flanders by Canada's other half overseas.

This is but one of the many arrangements made by the Dominion Publicity Committee, of the 1918 Victory Loan, to bring home forcibly the importance of the campaign into which the Dominion is about to enter.

From the top floor of the Ryrie Building, Yonge and Shuter streets, Toronto, there has gone a magnificent inspiration backed by over a hundred tons of printed publicity matter. That means a total of 35,000,000 pieces, and in addition, a record of every piece. The task was colossal, but it means that in every store window in Canada posters will be displayed, that on every motor car wind shield, stickers will be affixed, that on every bill board in Canada large posters measuring 24 feet by 10 will be pasted and in five different designs.

It means that every city or town that exceeds its quota will be given an honor flag by the governor general, that honor buttons will be given to every man, woman and child who buys a bond. It means that an appeal will be made from coast to coast in behalf of the men who offered more than money in the campaign across the waters.

Motion pictures bearing directly upon the subject and explaining it, have been arranged for and the greatest movie stars in the world are taking part.

Harry Gardner, the human fly, has been engaged and will climb the outside wall of some tall office or factory building without using other than his own hands to help him. Phonograph records containing an appeal by Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, will be distributed to the smaller centres so that outlying districts may have the benefit of a talk from him. So vast and so far reaching is the work done and being done by this ever busy committee that it would require a page to tell it all. R. A. Stephenson, Chairman, says he will be satisfied if none of it is told so long as Canada measures up to her financial responsibility.
