MILITARY NOTES

Col. W. C. Good has returned from overseas and is on duty in Ottawa.

J. M. Brown, Glassville, and McKay, Woodstock, are in the casualty list as wounded.

A soldier named Darrah, who deserted from the 140th was captured in Houlton this week and turned over to the military police in Woodstock.

Letters recently received from Major Laughlin state that he was very slightly wounded by shrapnel, which pierced his tunic and scratched his chest. The wound was so slight that the Major did not find it necessary to report at the clearing station.

The Bugle Band of the 65th Battery after only a few lessons, can produce the military music required, with as much ability and ease as any veteran organization. The appearance and music of the young soldiers on Sunday made a most favorable impression.

The Home Efficiency club of the town schools at Richibucto at a recent sale held by the members, displayed a beautiful executed Roll of Honor of former students and teachers. Four of the roll have paid the supreme sacrifice and sleep in Flanders fields, namely, Edgar Lawton, Leigh McBeath, Jim Lynott and Harry Hannah.

tery a few days ago. Mr. Wallace was principal of the Fisher Memorial School and will be greatly missed by that institution. Before leaving his school Mr. Wallace was waited upon by the teachers and presented with an address and a useful and appropriate gift. Mr. Wallace also was the recipient of a beautiful set of military brushes presented to him by the pupils of Grade XI of his school.

Major J. J. Bull, a Woodstock man well known in military circles in New Brunswick, has been appointed second in command of the depot, under Lt. Col. Osborne. Major Bull has a grand military record and has been in uniform, off and on, since he was a boy.

On August 10, 1914, six days after war was declared, Major Bull joined the expeditionary forces, and was attached to the 12th Battalion at Valcartier, under Col. H. F. McLeod, as instructor of musketry. After going overseas he returned to Canada to assist in organizing the 55th. He went into action overseas, as officer commanding a company of that battalion, in the early days of 1916. The 55th Battalion was broken up and, with other battalions, went in with the 26th Battalion in Belgium.

He served there for a number of months and took part in the long march to the Somme in France. After participating in the Somme fight, Major Bull, with the machine gunners, accompanied the battalion in a northerly direction to Lens. Before Christmas, 1916, he was taken seriously ill, and later, spent several months in French and English hospitals. Owing to the impaired state of his health he was given command of lighter work connected with the Canadian Forestry Battalion, and the Royal Flying Corps. Since his return home, a few months ago, he has been doing duty at St. John—Gleaner.

Nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets in regulating the bowels. They are a mild, safe laxative, easy to administer and never fail to be effective. Concerning them Mrs. Emile LaChapelle, Terrebonne, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my baby who was badly constipated and they quickly relieved him. All mothers should keep a box of these Tablets in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The D. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

JACK MULHERIN SENT UP FOR TRIAL

strike McIntyre who fell and rolled into the gutter. Mulherin stood waiting for him to get up but Myles Diamond came along and stopped the fight. I saw no weapons in the hands of either party. I heard McIntyre say "come on boy I am watching you all the time." I did not notice where Mulherin went.

To Mr. Jones—I was close when Mulherin hit McIntyre and I saw nothing but his fist. McIntyre had a reputation of being a scrapper.

Dr. Griffin-McIntyre was brought to my office on night of April 22nd. I found him bleeding from a punctured wound on the left side—slightly above level of breast. Wound was about an inch long and bleeding quite freely. He was intoxicated. I took him to the hospital, gave him an anesthetic and made an enlarged incision and examined the wound. The wound was caused by some sharp instrument and was three inches deep. Could be caused by a knife or dagger. Certain muscles were severed and an artery that caused the hemorrhage. Wound did not penetrate the chest cavity. At 11 o'clock pulse was 76 and temperature normal. He would not bleed to death if not had medical attention. Saw him next morning and he was in good condition. At night between 10 and 11 o'clock he was giving evidence of pneumonia affection—temperature was going up—pulse rapid. The next morning his condition was gradually growing worse. The wound did not contribute to his death and would not reduce his power of resistance. The anesthetic might. He was taken to the hospital in his shirt sleeves and the night was quite cold. Would not be more susceptible to cold on account of being wounded. He died in 24 hours which is a short time. Held post-mortem with Dr. Grant and found wound did not penetrate chest cavity. Found lungs in tubercular condition. The direct cause of his death was pneumonia. I would not call the wound a serious wound.

To Mr. Jones—If pneumonia had not developed the wound would not have caused serious results.

Myles Dyanond, Stanley Wise, Moses Moores, Owen Kelly, Mildred Davis, Stella Eatman, Warren McIntyre all gave testimony but no new facts were brought out.

A statement said to have been dictated by McIntyre that "I was stabbed by Jack Mulherin and want him held for trial" was not allowed.

Duppa Smith was coming up the street and saw a crowd near Bailey's store. He heard McIntyre say "you cut me." Don't know whether he said it to Mulherin or not.

To Mr. Jones—Mulherin did not answer McIntyre. I don't know who he was addressing. Saw no signs of McIntyre being hurt.

Howard Pearis, a member of the 65th battery, was coming down street and had just got in the crowd when he saw Mulherin strike Lee McIntyre and knock him off the sidewalk on his face. He then ran up the street. I did not hear McIntyre make any statement. Saw no weapons of any kind.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Sims made short addresses and the magistrate sent the accused, John Mulherin, up for trial at the court to be held Tuesday, May 7th, for on April 22, in the town of Woodstock, unlawfully wounding Lee McIntyre.
