JIM'S AT THE FRONT.

Many a soldier at the front today feels stronger and safer because he knows a Christian mother every day at home puts up a prayer that God would cover his defenceless head with the shadow of His wing.

There is a kind of settled gloom—
A sort of all-day valley-mist—
That has a hold, in every room,
Like some unseen antagonist.
And all about the house and farm
The simple joys that were our wont Have disappeared or lost their charm.
Since Jim, our Jim, went to the Front.

I watched the wife a while ago
Setting the table for our tea, Deep lost in thought, with movements slow,
A place for her, a place for me,
And, as in days that have gone by,
The old accustomed place for Jim;
Then, with a smothered sob and sigh
She stopped, and tried to joke of him.

Oh, she is brave! I've tried and tried A hundred times to do the same,
And stimulated joy with pride That Jim, our Jim, had played the game;
And all the while my heart is sore,
And all the while I know that she Prays for the child she bore,
And adds a postscript prayer for me

Last Sunday at the fall of night Another to our fire-side came,
And almost in a manner light
And frivolous she spoke his name.
'It's all right, dear old Mum,' she said,
'Old Jimmer knows a thing or two Don't you go worrying your head,
I know the old chap will pull through.'

But when I'd taken down the Book,
And read the lesson for the day,
She took in her old hands that shook,
And knelt between us both to pray.
Then, to my heart of hearts I felt The strong faith of her youth pass out,
And words forsook me as I knelt,
For I had deadened hope with doubt.

I know that sobs came to me there;
I know I trembled on my knees;
I know I stumbled through 'the prayer—
'Do with him, Lord God, as You please;
But keep him worthy of his race
And the traditions made for him.'
But she, with love-lights in her face, Prayed simply—'Make us worthy,
Jim.'

HILLMAN-TOMPKINS.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard
S. Tompkins of South Newbridge, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, April 17th, when their daughter Sadie was united in marriage to Nelson Hillman of the same place. The bride was dressed in brown tulle with georgette trimmings. The wedding march was played by Miss Edith Sibley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Howard of Woodstock, after which luncheon was served in the dining room. The many beautiful presents from the guests, relatives and friends show the esteem in which the bride was held, one of which was presented by the Grafton Red Cross Society of which the bride is a member.

IF YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanses little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.
Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children, of all ages and for grown-ups.
