A NECESSARY EXPLANATION

The public mind appears to be somewhat confused as to the question of prohibition in New Brunswick. In the first place it must be noted that there is a difference between the plebiscite in this province and the referendum in the other provinces. In those other provinces prohibition has been voted on by the people, and is an accepted fact. The referendum in this case relates only to the question of importing liquor from other provinces. In New Brunswick the people have not yet voted on the question of prohibition, which was adopted by the legislature as a war measure. The Dominion government strengthened that measure by passing an order-in-council forbidding the importation of liquor from other provinces. Under the war-time prohibition act the Dominion order-in-council was getting along very well; but after the war was over the Dominion government cancelled the order-in-council, and liquor has been pouring in freely from Quebec ever since. That is why conditions are worse now than when the Dominion order-in-council was in effect; and other provinces are taking a referendum in order to restore the conditions which existed before it was cancelled. After that referendum has been taken in Ontario, for example, the importation of liquor from Quebec will again be prohibited. We in New Brunswick, however, are not so fortunate. A plebiscite must first be taken on July 10, to prove to the provincial government that this province wants prohibition; and then we must wait until the legislature meets and asks for a referendum to stop the importation from other provinces. But after the plebiscite and before the referendum one very important step may be taken. The provincial government, convinced by the vote that prohibition is wanted, will have no excuse for not taking over the vendicution of all liquors for medicinal purposes, and putting an end to the indeterminate sale that is now alleged. And if the province goes strongly for prohibition on July 10, the legislature will have no excuse for not asking a speedy referendum to prevent importation of liquor from other provinces. Thus three steps are necessary if this province wants bone-dry prohibition. It must follow up a good majority on July 10. It must then demand that the government take over the vendicution of liquor for medicinal purposes; and it must ask the legislature for a prompt referendum to shut out liquor from Quebec and elsewhere. Until all this has been done we cannot have real prohibition, and it is up to the people to say whether they want it or not.—Times.

"What is a weed?" We suspect a weed is any plant growing in your garden or field which you try to kill without success until—

The damage by forest fires cannot be determined with any degree of exactness. The value of the standing timber for marketable purposes which is destroyed can be estimated approximately, but the fires retard growth in the devastated sections for years and change many beauty spots to scarred and unsightly scenes.

The sessional indemnity of the members of Parliament are not to be raised this season, not because the members wish to economize, but because, as one of them said, there are so many soldiers wanting gratuities that it might cause a lot of protest if a larger "gratuity" were given the M. P.'s. But they said when things calm down, when they have made the soldiers forget, the indemnity will be raised. It is to laugh.

There are some that believe the Municipal Council can get along without the services of a Chaplain, as there are several members of a pious nature who could take their turn at offering prayer. As there are no lawyers on the Board perhaps most people would agree that a special Chaplain is not necessary.

It seems certain that it was not disease that caused the death of the valuable cows at, or near, the tennis grounds, inasmuch as no cattle have died in any other section. The obsequies of the cause is a problem for calling upon the services of experts to determine whether it was some form of poison, and whether there is further danger. The death of the cows is a heavy financial loss and is extraordinary enough to attract special attention.

Two Boys, a Cow, and Two Calves.

This is a short story of how two N. B. boys, still in their teens, have made some real money in a thoroughbred Guernsey. They paid $200 for the animal when she was two years old, and as their father was a banker and they were away to school, a farmer was induced to keep the animal for them. They owned the cow a little over two years and during that time she had two calves. The boys found a ready market for the calves and have just sold the three animals having been sold for $525. The farmer charged them $125 for keeping of the stock and other expenses, and the boys will net $400 apiece from the transaction. The boys are quite satisfied with their investment and incidentally have become somewhat interested in life upon a farm.

FEW TEARS SHED

There will not, we sadly fear, be any great amount of public sympathy wasted upon individuals who find themselves with large quantities of hides left upon their hands, that they were holding for a rise in prices, now that the bottom has dropped out of the market. It has been pretty generally realized that these people have been reaping a golden harvest during the past year or two, and that the heavy increase in the price of leather has not been altogether due to any extraordinary demand for leather or to any particular shortage in hides. The greater the drop in the price of hides cheaper should leather become, and with it a drop in the cost of boots and shoes.—St. John Standard.

WHAT A GOOD BAND MEANS TO A TOWN

In speaking about bands and town bands in particular, we sometimes hear people carelessly say, "What good is a band in a town, anyway?" Well, first take inventory of the fellow who makes the remark. You may have reason to allow the silly question to go unanswered. But regarding the remark more seriously, let us say that a good band is one of the most useful things a town or community can possess. It is one of the best advertisements a town can have. Emerson says something about the world making a beaten path. Well, a good band will make all the roads leading to the town beaten paths, even though the town's other attractions be not enormous, every merchant is benefited by a good band. Many people come to town to attend the delightful entertainments, and they combine shopping with this pleasure. The promoters of business and musical enterprises always have the satisfaction of knowing that their civic demonstrations from time to time will be successful, because they have a first-class band to lead the parade and attract the crowd. A band composed of able players is a tower of strength to any town or section of country. It cultivates the public ear to a high class of music, and does it right at your door. To every enterprising citizen will boost the band wherever he goes.—Canadian Bandsman.

HE FEELS BETTER NOW THAN IN YEARS

Although a Young Man Dumphy Felt Like an Old One, but is Feeling Fine Since Taking Tanlac.

Few of the ills that flesh is heir to are so distressing or so unfit a man for his daily work as chronic indigestion. Among the many thousands of testimonials received which prove that Tanlac is particularly successful as a remedy for this complaint, is that of Charles Dumphy, who resides at 83 Simonds street, St. John, N. B. Mr. Dumphy is a carpenter who has lived in St. John for many years and is well known to a large circle of friends in his district. This is what he has to say concerning his own experiences with Tanlac.

"Chronic indigestion has been my trouble. It started a little over three years ago. If ever I ate anything like fat meat or cake it used to upset me. Then as I got worse all my food used to disagree with me and my stomach used to sour horribly after every meal. The gas would form so that my stomach would feel as tight as a drum and I used to gasp for breath. This feeling was very bad at night and I often woke with a feeling that I was being smothered. Then I would have to get up and take something like soda to try and get the gas off my chest. Often I sat up for hours unable to get relief. I got so at last that I was afraid to eat anything at all because of the way I used to suffer afterwards. I guess I tried every known treatment for indigestion, but none of them gave me more than temporary relief. I'm still a comparatively young man, but I tell you I was feeling like an old one. "One day a paragraph in the papers caught my eye. It was the statement of a man who had suffered just as I had, and who got wonderful help from Tanlac. I went straight and bought a bottle. Well, sir, I'm here to say that Tanlac did more for me than anything else I ever tried. It seemed to settle my stomach right away. I soon found that my food agreed with me and that I could eat almost anything without having to suffer from it afterwards. I've taken four bottles in all and I'm feeling better today than I have for years. Life is worth living now, and so long as I can obtain Tanlac I shall not fear the indigestion or any other trouble."

Tanlac is sold in Woodstock by E. W. Mair and in Bloomfield by E. L. Field and by all the Leading Druggists in every town.
