A COMEDY OF ERRORS

For a comedy of errors the Toronto Sunday World makes the following apology: As a rule we do not hasten to blame the printers for errors that appear in this page, but last week there was one that cannot go unexplained. One sentence mentioned "Haywood Brown, of the New York Tribune." The next paragraph opened with the words "Another New Yorker," but appeared in the paper "another new falker." As we have a great admiration for the versatile Mr.
Brown, whose views are always breezy and interesting, this explanation, is due our readers. While we are about it, perhaps it is well to mention that the title of Clare Kummer's latest comedy, "Rollo's Wild Oat," appeared twice in the department of the previous week. Once it was "corrected" to "Rollo's Wild Oats," to suit the bromides, and the other time it became "Rollo's Wild-cat." To the three correspondents who sent corrections we give our thanks. But really we were not so ignorant as they imagined.

Prohibition

The Manchester Exchange arrived in St. John Saturday morning from Manchester, England. The steamer brought a large shipment of liquor consigned to the New Brunswick Liquor Commission. It is understood the lot was well over 500 cases.

Hard Luck

The Perth baseball team, who were easily the champions of the northern end of N. B. and Maine, played in hard luck during their recent trip meeting, with defeat at St. John and Moncton.
