SOME COW

The first cow to give 3,000 gallons of milk in a year has arrived, says the London Daily Mail. She is the British Friesian Brookside Colantha, 8 years and 7 months, belonging to the Hache herd, Worthing, owned by Sir John F. Ramsden and Colonel Thynne. On October 26 at 11 a m, (her second milking of the day, as since January it has been necessary to milk her four times daily) her yield reached 3,001 gallons in 338 days. It is only four years since the Daily Mail announced the arrival of the first 2,000 gallons cow, Eske Hetty, who was greeted as a freak. A few years before that the 1,000 gallons cow was similarly regarded. There are now 59 2,000 gallons cows in Great Britain, of which 55 are British Friesians, 2 Shorthorns, and one each of the Ayrshire and Red Poll breeds. Three-thousand-gallons Colantha is five ordinary cows in one. She has frequently given more than 11 gallons of milk in a day, and her daily average throughout her life is 5½ gallons. She has had five calves and yielded more than 50 times her own weight in milk.

CARLETON COUNTY CASE OF INTEREST

(Gleaner)

In the Supreme Court of Appeal the case of Crow vs Birmingham was taken up yesterday afternoon and this morning. This is a Carleton county case and the defendant is appealing from the decision of Chief Justice McKeown, who entered a verdict for plaintiffs for $1800 upon answers of the jury. The action was brought to recover damages for fraudulent misrepresentation as to the acreage of a farm purchased by the plaintiffs from the defendant

It appeared that the defendant during the negotiations leading up to the sale stated that his deed called for 225 acres, whereas, as a matter of fact, it called for 125 acres. The description of the deed itself showed that 100 acres had been sold off in 1865. The plaintiffs did not search the records but relied on the representation. The jury found fraud.

Mr. R. P. Hartley moved to set aside the verdict for the plaintiffs and to enter a verdict for the defendatn or for a new trial, or,, failing that, for a reduction of damages. Mr. Hartley contended that there was misdirection to the jury as to what constituted fraud; that the jury had not found sufficient elements to establish fraud; that the plaintiffs were grossly negligent in relying on the representation and in not searching the records; that the plaintiffs were bound by constructive notice of what the deed contained and that the verdict was against evidence and he raised several other points of objection.

Mr. C. J. Jones appeared for the plaintiffs and opposed the application, quoting authorities to establish that there was no misdirection, and that the plaintiffs were entitled to rely upon the representation and were under no obligation to search the records. He also argued that constructive notice did not apply as a defence to an action for fraud.

The case involves new and interesting points as to the duty of a purchaser to search the records, and also as to the effect of constructive notice under the provisions of the Registry Act. Judgment was reserved by the court.

CRIME IN NEW BRUNSWICK

(Fort Fairfield Review)

The Review surely congratulates New Brunswick on its fine showing in criminal matters. The total number of convictions in New Brunswick from 1916 to 1920, inclusive, for indictable offenses was only 94, against 28 for Prince Edward Island, 132 for Nova Scotia, 150 for the Yukon territory; 159 for Quebc; 184 for Saskatchewan; 195 for British Columbia 217 for Manitoba; 219 for Alberta and 289 for Ontario, with an average for all Canada of 209. We have already had the dea that the people of New Brunswick are very law abiding folks and these figures seem to prove the belief correct. There is only one province in the whole Dominion of Canada, Prince Edward Island, that has a better showing, in this regard it will be noted.

BIG RAFFLE TO KEEP BUSINESS AT HOME

East St. Louis Merchants Give Chance Tickets with Each $1 Sale —Lasts for Three Months

Ten thousand dollars will be spent by the merchants of East St. Louis, Ill., to encourage the "trade at home' idea. For many years the merchants have seen the cream of their trade go to other cities. This year they will conduct an aggressive campaign to keep East St. Louis dollars at home. The drive started October 2 and will continue until December 31.

The plan will be to give every person who purchases $1 worth of merchandise a ticket for a gigantic raffle which will be held on New Years Eve. There will be 10,000 articles given away. They will range from a high priced automobile to a cake of soap.

A display room has been opened on the Main street, where all of the prizes are displayed. Here also is an enormous barrel, where stubs of the tickets given by the dealers will be placed.

So vast is the undertaking that plans were started July 1 to insure the success of the venture. A committee was appointed by the Downtown Merchants' Association to have full charge of the arrangements. They made it a point to see every prospect and sell them the idea of the "Trade-at-Home Campaign."

Every merchant who gets in the campaign has to purchase $50 worth of raffle tickets. For $50 he receives 2,000 tickets, which are to be given away free with every $1 sale he makes. The men in charge of the arrangements will see that the gifts which are to be given away will be purchased from merchants who are in the "Trade-at-Home" movement.

A feature of the drive is the "Saturday Sale" every week of the drive. On Friday nights the merchants advertise unusually attractive bargains, stressing the point that every dollar spent will entitle the purchaser to one chance on the automobile and the other prizes.

The "trade-at-home campaign is being widely advertised. It is expected that hundreds of out-of-town shoppers will be attracted through these efforts. Free parking spaces, as well as free rest rooms, will be opened for the convenience of the shoppers from near-by towns.

In selecting the committee for the drive great care was taken to get men from the various branches of the retail trade; for instance, on the committee were a drygoods dealer, a shoeman, a grocer, a florist, a restaurant keeper. These men are holding weekly meetings.

DR. PABST ADVISES WOMEN TO USE POWDER AND PAINT

Atlantc City, Nov. 18—"Keep right on using powder and rouge and enjoy yourself" is the advice to the young woman of today given by Dr. Charles F. Pabst, New York skin specialist and member of the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

"Generally speaking, there is no danger in using cosmetics if proper care and hygiene are observed," he said. "Sailors are victims of same skin dis orders which affect women, I found while serving during the war. And it can hardly be claimed that those men used powder and paint."

SILVER THE STOVE

Many people have their kitchen walls and woodwork done in white, while their stoves are black. To help the color scheme along, one can also have the stove a light color by painting it with aluminum color paint, which is very easily applied and dries in a jiffy. L. L.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright, and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive.

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co, Brockville, Ont.

QUEEN OF ALL THE REST

I would sing UTOPIA, sing of thee,
Of your granite beaches that bordered be,
By mountain, stream and waving tree
Of your waters pure that dance and roar,
When lofty winds are o'er thee bore.
Of the quiet calm that mirrors there
When the skies are stilled by scented air.
Of your green clad islands lying where
Nature fixed a glorious lair.
Of brooks that tumbled over stone
And feed you water from Heaven's Throne.
Of your wonderful Outlet and Inlet too
That God has given only to you;
Of the speckled beauties that round you glide,
The epicure's fancy, the angler's pride.
When nature formed you she did her best
And made you Queen of all the rest.
Of lakes that in our land are placed
None are with such beauty graced.

To sooth the soul and please the eyes
And give to each a glimpse of Paradise.
I sing, but language fails to make
A picture of our beautiful lake.
Would I could sing the thoughts I feel
And paint thee only true and real.

Goodnight Utopia! today the angels came below
Decking the heavens with a tinted glow,
And every shade of the Rainbow's hue
Was taken boldly up by you
And wafted back for Heaven's view.

THE REVEREND HAD A LITTLE LAMB

The pastor of a colored church in Tennessee was hailed before the board of deacons on serious charges. It was alleged that although married he had been caught in the act of embracing a comely female member of the congregation, in the vestry room. The evidence against him appeared to be conclusive. Three presumably unbiased witnesses testified to the fact.

The accused was asked whether he had anything to say in his own defence. He answered at length and with eloquence. He led off by pointing out that the word "pastor" was a Latin word meaning "shepherd." He also called the attention of the court to the fact that in pictures and paintings and more frequently in stained glass memorial windows the Master Himself was shown as a shep herd carrying a lamb.

Now then, he contended, it naturally followed that when he, as the shep herd, took a member of his flock in his arms, he was carrying out the Scriptural example.

In the minds of the deacons there seemed to be no way of controverting these arguments. Accordingly they went into executives session and drew up resolutions exonerating the preacher. But they added a proviso.

The concluding clause of the document, as read by the senior deacon before the congregation on the following Sunday night, ran as follows:

"And be it finally resolved dat in futre, if our beloved pastor should feel de desire stealin' over him to tek one of de lambs of de flock in his arms, dat he shall tek a ram lamb!"

TREES

(This charming poem was written by Joyce Kilmer, who made the supreme sacrifice in France)

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast.

A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray.

A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair.

Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

GIVE THOUGHT TO KITCHEN

The treatment of the walls, floors and ceiling of a kitchen is quite as important as any question pertaining to the drawing room. Painted walls and ceilings are next best to tile, though there is a hard-finished plaster that is enamelled and so becomes almost as sanitary and nonabsorbant as tile. Good smooth floors covered with the best grade of linoleum cemented to the floor is a highly satisfactory floor, preferred by many to a tiled floor which is cold and slippery.

POTATOES CHEAP OUT IN MICHIGAN

Gaylord, Mich., Nov. 23—The price of potatoes fell to eighteen cents a bushel today at producing centres throughout northern Michigan, this being the lowest figure paid by buyers in years. The low price is due to over-production and inability to obtain freight cars in which to move the tubers to the larger consuming centers.
