DAN HEDGEWOOD WON A THRILLING RACE AT CHATHAM

Chatham, N. B., Aug. 1st.—The Maine and New Brunswick Circuit campaigners battled until dark again on the closing day of the Miramichi Driving Club's races yesterday, thirteen heats being necessary to decide the three races on the card.

And the hardest fought battle of the lot was the junior free-for-all, which was won by Dan Hedgewood, 2.04 1/4, hero of many a pacing main on the Bay State Circuit in the past and now owned by the Woodstock, N. B. Driving Club. From racing John R. Braden, 2.02 1/4 and the rest of the top notchers he slid back into the junior free-for-all and he had his troubles winning here today, a fifth heat in 2.11 1/4 being necessary to finally beat out Sacarose, 2.09 1/4, the big Northern Man mare from Presque Isle, which had won the previous two junior free-for-alls.

The biggest upset for the talent was in the 217 trot, when Gleaming Silk, a Guy Axworthy mare owned by A. J. Wills, of Lawrence, Mass., made a cleanup for the Massachusetts delegation. To do it she had to reduce her record to 2.13 1/2 in the first round and cut it a further fraction to 2.13 1/4 in the fourth heat. Bonnie Girl, 2.13 1/4, the Houlton trotter, was second in each heat, including the third, which was won by Helen Witt, of Billy Keys' stable from St. Stephen, N. B., this knocking off the talent again.

Earl North, 2.13 1/4, raced right to his new winrace record made at Fredericton last week in winning the 214 class, after Peter Tanlac, the Houlton entry, had grabbed the first heat. Then Peter the Great pacer was heavily backed, but could not repeat.

It was one of the best day's racing of the circuit season. The track had dried out thoroughly and was much faster and livelier than the course over which the free-for-alls raced. Two heats in 2.15 1/4 were the only ones slower than 2.13 1/4. No where on the circuit this season had there been a fifth heat in 2.11 1/4, illustrating that the junior free-for-alls have been improving as they go along.

THAT CONTRACT AWARD

Award of the big Grand Falls contract for practically less than $500,000 below the engineering estimate prompts the Fredericton Gleaner to say "the opposition critics, the representatives of the Big Interests and the rest of those who have been at tempting to scare the people of New Brunswick by going about shouting that the development of Grand Falls was going to cost much more than estimates of the engineers, should be silenced. Even, perhaps, Mayor Potts of Saint John. The Moncton Transcript sees the contract award as "the beginning of a new and better era for the province of New Brunswick." The Transcript declares "Not only does it mean that the work of harnessing this great water power is to be undertaken at once, but it is to be undertaken at a cost which makes possible the distribution of the current to the consumers at even lower rates than had been estimated by the Government, and at lower rates over a wider area. The promises made of low rates for light and power, for greater comfort and convenience in the homes of the people, for better illumination at minimum prices for stores and offices and places of business and, more important than all, for reduction in the cost of manufacturing in this province, will be more than fulfilled."—Saint John Globe.

KEEP FLOWERS FRESH

Flowers cut early in the morning will last much longer than if cut later in the day, while those taken before they are in full blossom will outlive either. On the other hand, a little powdered charcoal placed in the bottom of the vase will successfully revive the faded ones.

The water should, of course, be changed each day, and it will add much to the lives if the stems of the flowers are wiped before replacing.

Silver vases, it will be found, are apt to make roses fade very quickly and it is a good idea to use a little mortar in the water. A much more satisfactory method, is to use wet sand in the water. Where vases or bowls other than glass ones, are used, it not only keeps the flowers fresh longer than water, but has an additional advantage in keeping the container stable and less easy to knock over. The idea of keeping cut flowers has, by the way, been taken much further. A friend of mine dipped the blooms of her favorite flower in a solution of gum arabic.

Garrulous Granny Graham's garden's gorgeous, green grass, good goose-berries and golden-glow growing gracefully.

Edith Elizabeth Evans, expert English exponent, extends efficient efforts to eventually eradicate entirely Etymological errors everywhere. Excellent!

Sandy Sansom says shy Sophie Saunders shall surely share Sam Sheldon's shelter soon, she's so solicitous Sam's suppers shan't spoil, Sun days.

Andy Anderson ages alarmingly although always an ardent Adam's Ale advocate.

Bachelor Billy Boddy buys bread by blacking boots, building boys' boats and beating Brussels.

Handsome hearty Harvey Harnish has hardly had half his holidays home, has he, Harry?

Timmy Tingley tattled to the Teacher that Tiny Titus talked to-day "Tis told that typewriting thirty-three Tongue-Twisters Thursday tired Tessie Tenyson terribly.

Isaac Ikenstein's incomparable incomprehensible idiosyncrasies invite immediate inspection and indicate institutional incarceration imperative. Lord Lionel Lynden, London lounge lizard, looked languid, listening listlessly to Lieutenant Lloyd Lorington's Loyalist-lore lecture at Lexington lately.

Colonel Charles Charters convincingly contends Chinese children cannot consume Consomme cold.

Cantankerous Captain Capson's continuous conversation concerning Charles Chaplin's capers causes ceaseless caustic comment and constant complaining, considerable contradiction and consequent commotion.

Daredevil David Dayton defies Death daily doing dreadfully dangerous duties dexterously despite disparaging dissuasion.

Mischievous Martin Maunsell made most melancholy music Monday morning mercilessly manipulating a misappropriated melodeon.

Pious penurious Philander Pond, pedagogue and parish politician, peaceably promenading pleasant paths, planning perplexing problems to puzzle progressive pupils, paused, peered, pensively, picked and pocketed a penny pencil, presently proceeding, plainly pleased.

SOLVE MYSTERY

Van Buren, Me., July 31.—It is believed here that there is a strong possibility that the portion of body of a man found in the West Branch of the Penobscot River, near Millinocket, yesterday, may be that of Alcide Pelletier, aged 41, who suddenly dropped out of sight two years ago.

He had notified his relatives here that he was leaving Boston when he left four years ago for Van Buren, but he never arrived here and nothing has been heard from him since, although he is the owner of considerable real estate in this town and usually had ample ready money. His brother, M. M. Pelletier, who lives here, has made efforts to locate him without avail. At Millinocket it is said that the only possible means of identification are a cotton sock and a No. 8 shoe with a rubber heel. The head was missing from the trunk, but search is being made for it.

HAVE ASSIGNED

The firm of King & Smullin, of Woodstock, composed of Arthur D. King and Cecil T. Smullin, has made an assignment in bankruptcy to Ernest A. MacKay, official receiver. The firm's liabilities are listed at $1,556.76 and nominal assets at $460. The liabilities include $400 worth of book debts. R. Wilmot Seely, barrister, has been named as custodian of the estate.
