PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION MEETS HERE

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Pharmaceutical Association met here in the Court House on Wednesday. The first session was held at 10.30, and was largely devoted to business.

The report of the treasurer revealed a satisfactory standing. During the past year, the registrar, E. R. W. Ingham, Saint John, said 119 registrations had been made.

The following resolution was passed:

"Whereas the sale of liquors in drug stores, under the New Brunswick Prohibition Act, has attracted an element that has caused a degradation of the profession of pharmacy in the eyes of the public; and

"Whereas neither can the proper aims of the New Brunswick Prohibition Act be attained, nor can pharmacy regain its proper place in the community under the present system of vendors' licenses in drug stores, therefore,

"Resolved that the New Brunswick Pharmaceutical Association, in annual meeting assembled, do request the Government to take the sale of liquors out of the drug stores and erase the stipulation of the prohibition act that druggists are entitled to vendors' licenses."

TOLERANCE URGED IN MISSION TALK BY THE PRESIDENT

Washington.—"The foundation of all missionary effort abroad must be tolerance and brotherhood at home," President Coolidge declared in his address of 3,500 delegates to the interdenominational Protestant foreign missions conference here during the past week. The President advocated sending only the highest type of workers into foreign mission fields.

"Not everything that the men of Christian countries have carried to the other peoples of the world has been good and helpful to those who have received it," the President said. "Our civilization is yet far from perfect. Its aims are liable to much distortion when it comes in contact with peoples not yet equipped through generations of race experience to absorb, to understand, to appreciate it."

One of the greatest things that a missionary movement could do for the less favored communities would be to assure that all who go out from the Christian to the non-Christian communities should carry with them the spirit, the aims, the purposes of true Christianity.

"We know that they have not always done this. We know that the missionary movements have repeatedly been hampered and at times been trusted because some calling system of farming was followed there would be found also a prosperous and contented people."

Expresses Doubt

With regard to the proposed creamery he was not certain that there was to be found in the immediate surrounding country a sufficiently large number of good type dairy cows to operate a large creamery successfully. His department, however, the speaker remarked, was prepared to do all in its power to assist and facilitate the establishment of a more extensive creamery than that which at present serves the community.

Change in West

Mr. Sutherland spoke on practical problems confronting the proposal and told of sections similar in condition to Carleton county where success had attended the creation and operation of a creamery.

Mr. Belding took occasion to mention the fact that dairying had gained favor in the prairie provinces which had realized the fallacy of following a one crop policy of farming. He quoted from statistics showing the profitability of the dairy products trade which had been inaugurated between Western Canada and the British Isles.

Advocates Conference

The speaker then said that industrially, the Maritime Provinces could not successfully compete with other parts of our Dominion.

"What is needed in Canada is a getting together of the peoples of the four natural divisions of our country to come to some amicable agreement, forgetting our sectional grievances and instill into our conferences a spirit of national upbuilding," he declared.

"General agreement must be reached if this country of ours is to endure," he added.

National Thinking

Mr. Belding brought a question asked in the West to the attention of his audience: Are the Maritimes doing as much as they are capable of doing to help themselves?

"While our provinces, it is true, are working under disadvantageous conditions in regard to tariffs and freight rates, it must be admitted," the speaker continued, "that we ourselves must have faith in our provinces and develop to the fullest extent possible the opportunities that present themselves."

"Much could be done," the speaker thought, "to extend and develop our fisheries and other natural resources."

In closing the speaker stressed the necessity of all thinking nationally.

WOODSTOCK DINERS HEAR OPINIONS ON CENTRAL CREAMERY

The banquet held by the Woodstock Board of Trade Tuesday evening was a very successful function. The 75 guests included the councillors of the Municipality of Carleton, members of the Woodstock Town Council, Hon. D. W. Mersereau, Minister of Agriculture; A. M. Belding, of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal; Mr. Sutherland, assistant superintendent for dairying for New Brunswick; Charles Gray, president of the New Brunswick Farmers' and Dairymen's Association; Colonel Dibblee, president of the Woodstock Agricultural Society, and Colonel Bull, a prominent dairyman of this section.

Purpose of Gathering

The gathering was prompted by the recent action of the Woodstock Board of Trade in fathering a local agitation for a greater interest in dairying for the farmers of this community, with the view of establishing a central creamery in Woodstock to permit A. M. Belding to tell of his observations on his recently completed tour of Canada. The function was held at the Carleton County Vocational School. Young ladies of that institution served the meals.

The Minister of Agriculture, in his address, said that where a general system of farming was followed there would be found also a prosperous and contented people.
