IS KILLED IN FALL FROM LOAD OF HAY

Dies on Way For Aid When Picked Up by Man Near Centreville.

Centreville, N. B., Dec. 26—A shocking accident occurred on the Gregg Road, about three miles north east of here, a few days ago whereby Roy Kilpatrick, a well known young man, lost his life.

Mr. Kilpatrick left his home with a large sled load of pressed hay for Centreville. While coming down a hill something must have gone wrong with the harness or else he was dragged off the high load striking something with impact enough to cause serious internal injuries, his death probably resulting from an abdominal hemorrhage.

Dies On Way
The young man was found lying in the road by Guy Carmichael, while the load of hay was over the ditch and the team unhocked from the sled. Mr. Carmichael immediately turned about and picked up the unfortunate man and proceeded rapidly back towards his home, but the young man died on the way.

He is survived by his widowed mother, one brother, Reuben, and three sisters, Mrs. Charles Baird, of Bairdville; Mrs. Willy Grant, of Kiburn, and Mrs. Harry Armstrong, of Lowell, Mass.

MISS ADA WILEY RESIGNS FROM TOWN OFFICE

It has been announced that Miss Ada Wiley, who has been filling an important position in the town office, since shortly after the adoption of the Manager plan of civic government, has tendered her resignation to take effect this month. The position was one of much importance and required good judgment and tact. In carrying out her duties Miss Wiley has gained the universal esteem and confidence of the citizens, both for her business ability and admirable personality. She has undoubtedly served the town with efficiency and conscientious effort, and the best wishes of the people will follow her into whatever line of duty she may take up in the future.

The Observant Citizen

The "Citizen" extends New Year's Greetings to everyone.

When a man can't shoot he thinks it is the fault of his gun.

Women who tell everything they hear manage to hear a lot.

People that know most about raising children never seem to have any.

Some people are always prominent at fires and funerals.

A free country is one in which everybody feels qualified to tell the Town Manager how to do it.

The nomination for the Town Council will test the public spirit of a number of Woodstock's leading citizens.

Winter officially and actually ushered in Sunday, Dec. 20th. The mercury in the thermometers evidently realizing that winter had come proceeded to do its duty, sinking down to a point that allowed no misinterpretation of the season. The stiff cold has been going strong all week.

Hilaire Belloc, famous English writer, contrasts two visits to the United States, one before and one after the 18th amendment, by saying, "Formerly everybody started to run away from the man who reached for his hip pocket, and now they all crowd 'round him'."

The Woodstock merchants this year gave a striking illustration of taste and enterprise in preparing their advertisements for the Sentinel and the Citizen is pleased to note that they were rewarded with liberal patronage. They certainly made generous use of advertising space.

NOT AS HIGH

The total receipts from the sale of non-resident and resident game li-cense in New Brunswick during the big game season of 1924 will not come up to the expectations which were that a remarkably good total would be shown. Returns are not yet complete but the outlook at present is that the total will not appreci-ably exceed the total of 1923.

DUMB BRUTES PERISH THROUGH NEGLECT?

Horses, Cow and Dog Found Dead
---One Horse Hung From a Window---A Terrible Condition That Demands Prompt Investi-gation.

Whether through cruelty, neglect or accident two horses, one cow and a dog were found dead at a place near town during the past cold weather. There is evidence that the poor brutes were starving and were un-able to withstand the intense cold that has prevailed. One horse, in its desperation put its head through a window and becoming exhausted could not stand up and was choked to death, hanging from the window when found. The other horse laid down and unable to get to its feet succumbed. The cow, a very fine animal, and well bred, only four years old, dropped in its tracks. When asked about the dog the reply was "it was only a small dog." If the stories in circulation are true (and the dead animals are evidence that something was wrong) it seems strange that no move has been made by the author-ities to investigate the matter. It is a well known fact that conditions at this place are not, and have not been conducive to comfort of dumb brutes or anything else. What will be done about it?

BLING OFFICIAL RETIRES

After serving the stipulated period, and four years additional, Mr. B. Shorten retires from the C. P. R. service. His retirement will be felt by the railway and the public, especial-ly as he is still vigorous and able to "carry on." That the genial "Ben" will be missed must be admitted. Always courteous, obliging and popu-lar with the travelling public, and with a strong sense of duty, he goes into retirement covered with honors and best wishes from a host of friends all over the country. Those who travel from Woodstock will miss the cheery announcement that made it impossible to "go wrong," as the train neared the stations. Pleasant recollections will be carried of the closing admonition "and don't forget your parcels!"

Woodstock people will especially miss Conductor Shorten who spent most of his time here, recently, when not on his train.

His retirement dates from Jan. 1st 1925.

Christmas Tree

The annual Christmas tree for the Sunday School children of St. Ger-trude's church was in evidence on Thursday evening and Santa Claus distributed the presents at 8 o'clock in the parish hall of the church. About 100 children were gladdened with gifts. The committee in charge from the Women's Aid of the Al-tar Society were Mrs. M. McManus, Mrs. Owen Kelly and Miss Helena Mulherrin. Finley Beaton represent-ed Santa Claus. Presents from St. Gertrude's choir were on the tree for Rev. F. M. Lockary and Rev. Father O'Sullivan who took ad-vantage of the occasion to address a few remarks to the children.

N. B. DEALER FINDS CUBAN PRICES FOR POTATOES LOWER

Tubers Selling in Havana For $2.30 Per 180 Pound Bag—Market Glutted at Present Time—Ship-ments From Province This Sea-son Greater Than Ever Before.

(Telegraph-Journal)
Potato prices in Cuba have slump-ed during the last few weeks and the market there is now glutted, so O. R. Estey of Woodstock, well known New Brunswick dealer, said last night.

At the present time potatoes are selling in Havana for $2.30 per 180 pound bag, or a drop of almost 30 cents per bag from the top price paid earlier in the winter.

Dealers, however, expect a firmer market in Havana within a week or two, according to reports received from the brokers.

Heavy Shipments
According to Mr. Estey potato shipments from New Brunswick, through the port of St. John, this season are far in advance of any previous winter. It is due to these large shipments that the Havana market has become glutted, he says, and naturally prices have fallen off somewhat.

New Brunswick potatoes have been shipped as far west as Regina this winter though, Mr. Estey said, while a few shipments have gone forward to Ontario and Quebec points. The shipments to Reg-ina were made possible by a special freight rate given the dealers by the C. P. R.

German Potatoes
Reports from Great Britain are to the effect that a large quantity of German potatoes is being bought there and these shipments are com-ing into competition with the New Brunswick potatoes.

Recently unofficial reports have been received by New Brunswick dealers to the effect that an embargo has been instituted in Britain against the American potatoes, due to the fact that beetles have been noted in some of the shipments from the United States. The beetle or, as it is known in New Brunswick, "potato bug," is unknown in England and the authorities there are taking every precaution to prevent the insect get-ting into the Old Country.

MAY NOT RACE JOHN R. BRADEN

Fort Fairfield, Me., Dec. 24.—A re-port has gone out that John R. Braden, 2.02 1/4, the Presque Isle hero-racer, may not be on the turf next season. Probably that remains to be seen. Some of the figures made John R. about 16 years old, though others claim he is less. Doubtless if he appears next summer to be in as good condition as for the past few years, he may be raced again. But of course no horse and no man can go on forever at the maximum of efficiency. Whether he races or not, however, one thing is certain—that nobody besides his present owners will ever have a title to the great John R. Braden.

Walter E. Johnston, Fort Fair-field's successful young horseman, has bought of P. H. Reed the bay three-year old pacing mare Moy Vo-lo, by Peter Voio, 2.02, by Peter the Great, 2.07 1/4, dam Moy, 2.07 1/4, dam of Moy the Great, 2.13 1/4, Little Anna S., 2.11 1/4, recently burned to death in her owner's barn, and other good ones. Moy Volo is a large, rangy, easy-going mare, who ought to make a good name for herself on the turf in the not distant future.
