Subscriptions are running to date about 25 per cent more with a falling off of 15 per cent in the amount received. The committee in charge are not content with achieving the minimum objective but have raised their sights to the $500,000 mark.

Mr. Baker was born in Woodstock on May 20, 1858, the son of James and Catherine Baker. For fifty-five

Woodstock Branch Bank of Montreal

Shown above is the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, which for more than half a century has been doing business here.

Fifty-three years ago the Bank of Montreal came to Woodstock. Half a century is a long time in the life of any community, and during the years that have passed since the establishment of this great institution here it has come to fill an integral part in the business life of the town and the surrounding district.

So complicated has the modern system of finance become that the attitude adopted by our banks toward this or that industrial project frequently is the deciding factor as to whether or not the project can be successfully undertaken. This is perhaps more true of the great industrial centres than it is of smaller communities such as ours.

In one respect, however, the small town bank fills a greater place than the bank in the great city. The small town banker gets to know his clientele, their capabilities, their moral responsibility to a much greater extent than can be possible with the officials of banks occupying a larger sphere.

The small town banker fills an intimate place in the business life of the merchant, the lumberman, the farmer; almost as much so, in many cases quite as much so, as does the clergyman, the doctor or the lawyer.

Since its coming here the Bank of Montreal has been in charge of a succession of capable managers, men who by training and ability were able to appreciate the problems that were peculiar to this community, and to apply their knowledge and ability to administering the affairs of the bank, which are inextricably allied to the affairs of the community.

The present manager, H. P. Boucher, has been here since 1935, and since that time has been prominent not only in business circles, but in the social and community life of the town.

In speaking of the library bill, Coun. Hay thought it was out of the town's province to pay it.

Victoria County exceeded its minimum quota, $250,000 in the Third Victory Loan on Wednesday, and expects to get 20 to 25 per cent over subscriptions before the end of the week, J. D. Winslow, organizer said today.

The Plaster Rock district has exceeded its quota by 75 per cent, is already flying four pennants and is going after the fifth. The Perth-Andover district has exceeded its minimum quota today by 25 per cent. All districts in Victoria have exceeded their quotas save one, the organizer said.

IN KENYA COLONY

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hannah, Jacksonville, have received a cable from their son PO Ralph Hannah telling of his arrival in Kenya Colony, Africa.

Hallowe'en Passed Quietly In Town

Citizens who were down town on Sunday were pleased and startled to see by the bulletin board in front of the Post Office that Woodstock had exceeded its Victory Loan quota. Investigation disclosed, however, that the sudden increase was due to youngsters celebrating Hallowe'en, and not to any sensational rise in subscriptions. Otherwise Hallowe'en passed uneventfully in town. The number of children calling at houses was noticeably less and they refrained from asking for candy as in other years. The latter was probably due to warnings of parents and teachers.

MOST SUCCESSFUL

The test blackout held here on Thursday evening of last week was most successful, and local officials expressed themselves, as highly pleased with the results. A. H. Hetherington, chairman of the local C. V. C., said that the blackout was the most successful yet held. Although no previous warning had been given, as soon as the sirens sounded lights went out all over town, and within a matter almost of seconds the blackout was complete.
