NEW CONSERVATIVE LEADER

Hon. John Bracken, for many years premier of Manitoba, has been chosen as the new leader of the Conservative party. Hon. Mr. Bracken is one of the best known figures in public life, but oddly enough, while he has been asosciated with both Liberals and Progressives, he has never before been identified with the Conservative party. He has also brought to the party a new name, and hence forth they are to be known as Progressive-Conservatives.

A few years ago it would have seemed incredible that Mr. Bracken would ever have been named to lead the Conservatives, but politics, especially wartime politics, make strange bedfellows. Many people, rightly or wrongly, profess to see in this selection a rebuke to the government for their policy, or lack of policy, regarding conscription. For some reason they consider Bracken's selection as more than a hint that the country disapproves of the strong influence over the government of anti conscriptionists in Quebec.

If they are right in their opinion it will be a wise thing for the government to take stock of their position and to consider whether their present man power policy is in accordance with the will of the majority of the people whom they govern. The result of the plebiscite last spring indicated that it is not.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY

Twice within the last few days the whole continent has been shocked by appalling dance hall tragedies, the first in Boston, the second in St. John's, Nfld. In each case the loss of life has been severe. In each case most of the deaths occurred among persons struggling at the exits.

The double tragedy serves to bring home once more the oft repeated axiom that it is impossible to guard too strongly against fire. All places of this nature should be provided with proper exits easily accessible at all times. At this season of the year when so many inflammable decorations are about precautions should be doubled. Two tragedies of this kind are two too many. It will be the fervent hope of everyone that there will be no repetition.

A POPULAR MOVE

The government has moved during the past week to prevent inflationary prices becoming prevalent. In spite of all precautions that could be taken the price of commodities was rising. A vigorous step has now been taken to drive them down again. We do not want a repetition of last war's experience when sugar sold for thirty cents a pound and men's suits retailed at $85. Unfortunately we have with us at all times people who are willing to profit by their country's misfortunes. They will find a way if at all possible to boost prices in such a way as to line their own pockets.

The public must cooperate with the government to ensure that any tendency toward undue inflation is checked. If they stop buying any commodity that rises above a reasonable price that commodity would soon drop back to its previous level. The inflation bogey can be dealt with if the authorities and the people get together and resolve that they will not stand for such financial tactics as made the past war decade a nightmare and paved the way for the following decade of depression.

Upper Woodstock

Mr. and Mrs. John Foren, had the misfortune to lose their warehouse and all its contents one day last week, when a fire broke out at midnight. It was only with the whole hearted help of neighbors that they were able to save their dwelling.

The very next night the potato house of Clinton Clark caught fire. It is feared that an incendiary is at work in this village.

Mrs. Guy Clark is confined to her bed with heart trouble.

NEWNHAM and SLIPP will close their store all day CHRISTMAS and NEW YEARS.

THE BABY'S STOCKING

Hang up the baby's stocking,
Be sure you don't forget,
The dear little dimpled darling,
She never saw Christmas yet,

I told her all about it,
And she opened her big blue eyes,
I know she understood it,
She looked so funny and wise.
