

"German Syrup"

Here is something from Mr. Frank A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tenting Hotel, Brunswick, Me. He met the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and he Hereditary often coughs enough to make him sick at Consumption his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Boschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market."

Truro, N. S.

Truro is a fine town. The citizens are very enterprising and progressive, having an eye to business and a right royal welcome to strangers. It has been said that before a place can prosper that all classes creeds, and conditions of men living in that particular place should have one common object in view, viz, the advancement of the town in which they live. This appears to have been the case with Truro. In three years twenty-two places of business have been opened (fifteen of them within the last twelve months). During that time three failures are cited, and four business places closed. Two new churches have been built, and a third in the course of construction, an academy has been built, and about two hundred new buildings of more or less pretensions, and meetings are now being held, with the view of building a public hospital. All the denominations are well represented, and have large and commodious churches wherein to worship. The Oddfellows, Foresters, and last, but not least, the brethren of the mystic tie of the Hod Carriers, as some vulgarly call them, are very numerous, and the grip is royally given those within the circle.

The Review came to hand this morning, bright and newsy as usual.

H. Price Webber, Richibucto's old time favorite, is playing here to crowded houses.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Commeau (Mr. T. W. Bell's popular agent), at the station the other day.

Politics are quiet. Not a ruffle on the political sea.

Insurance business is good all along the line, as the people are convinced that man is productive, and there is nothing more certain than that he must die, and to provide for this absolute certainty they insure their lives. Fire insurance is protection against a possible calamity, but life insurance is a protection against an absolute certain calamity.

Pugwash and Springhill are making rapid strides. There are 1494 men and boys employed in the collieries at Springhill, and the company paid out $29,500 in wages at the last fortnightly pay day.

Truro, Dec 4, 1891. B.

Disastrous Fire.

A destructive fire broke out Sunday noon in the stable of the Point du Chene House, totally destroying it together with all the buildings. A strong northwest wind was blowing at the time and communicated the fire to Mrs. E. Keith's store and dwelling. Her loss was also large in household goods; no insurance. Mrs. James McDonald's hotel, The Seaside, was next destroyed. This building was insured, but the loss in winter stores and household goods was very heavy. The fire then crossed the street to the house and barn of Robert Reed of Oxford, N. S., which was totally destroyed; it is believed he was insured. John McDonald's store, dwelling and barn were destroyed. The building and stock were insured for $1,500. William Smith's two dwelling houses and barn were destroyed with most of his effects; no insurance. Geo. Hanington's barn in this range, also Andrew Simpson's dwelling and outbuildings and considerable furniture were destroyed; no insurance. Charles Harper's house and outhouses were all destroyed; partly insured. The most heroic efforts saved the rest of the Point. Water was supplied from the tideway.

Point du Chene losses are: Point Hotel loss $6,000; insurance $2,800, and $1,300 on furniture; Widow Keith's loss $2,000, severest loss of all; Mrs. James McDonald $800; John McDonald $1,500; insurance $500; Harley House $1,000; Smith's two houses $1,200; Andrew Simpson $400; Charles Harper $1,800, insurance $1,000; J. C. R. Driver Moore's house damaged $400, insured; schoolhouse damaged.

The Influence of Mind on Mind

That the influence of mind on mind is ordinarily imperceptible does not prove that it can not be universal. There are well ascertained material influences which are of universal operation, yet too feeble to be felt; and in some cases these, even if more powerful, would still be ordinarily unfelt because they act in many directions at once, and tend, therefore, to neutralize one another.

That matter has weight has always been known, but never till within the last few centuries could it have been suspected that, gravitation being universal, every human body must exert an influence upon—for it has an attraction for—every other human body, however distant—an influence which would in certain cases be felt if the mass of the earth and the inertia of matter were very greatly less than they are.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Enjoying a Blessing.

DEAR SIRS,—Last summer my younger sisters were taken very badly with croup, indeed we were almost in despair, having little hope of curing them. Finally we applied Hagyard's Yellow Oil, and to our great joy it cured them perfectly, and they are now enjoying the blessing of perfect health.

Cochineal.

Cochineal, the dyestuff of a beautiful crimson color, is prepared from the body of an insect which feeds on various plants of the cactus family, particularly on one of them, which is closely allied to the prickly pear. It is a native of Mexico and other warm parts of America, and is carefully cultivated for the sake of the insect which finds its food in the leaves. It is a tiny little thing, one pound weight of cochineal being calculated to contain 70,000 of the dried insects. It is tedious work to gather them, being accomplished by gently brushing the branches with the tail of a squirrel. The insects are filled by being placed in ovens, and when once dried may be kept for any length of time without injury. One insect placed in a glass of water will color the whole liquid a beautiful carmine. Cochineal forms one of the most important exports from Mexico.

THE WORLD OVER.

A colored lad named Edison, aged about fifteen, was found drowned in a gutter, at Digby, by two peddlers. The boy was subject to fits and it is thought while in that state met his death. The body was found face downward.

Edison is at work on a phonograph for the use of blind children that shall do away with the raised letter books hitherto used in their instruction.

The Saltan Lake, which appeared in the Colorado desert some time ago, and caused so much speculation, is now rapidly drying up. It was really nothing more than an overflow of the Colorado River.

The Salvation Army in St. John has in contemplation the erection of a $16,000 building.

The secretary of the United States navy, and for the matter of that every other citizen of the republic, went into a fluster some time ago about the need of new cruisers to protect the coast. They hastened to commence building the ships, but being inexperienced hands at the work, they have not succeeded very well. The new cruiser "Philadelphia" has been built top heavy, and it is feared that if launched she may roll over on her side or turn bottom upwards. The experts have no remedy to suggest. However, the building of a new ship in her stead may be conducted with more success.

Those who appear to know say the Dominion Parliament will be called together about the middle of February. The people's representatives will thus have been pretty well kept in harness since the beginning of the new parliament. The wonder is so many business and professional men can be found to make such sacrifices.

It is announced from Ottawa that there are already eight notices of applications for divorce to come before the Senate at the next session. This divorce business seems to be on the increase in this country.

Two million dollars' worth of ocean derelicts are now drifting about the north Atlantic ocean in the direct path of the fast ocean steamships carrying cargoes of human freight to and from Europe. The fact that these vessels are lumber laden, which cargo keeps them afloat, means a greater danger than if they were hopeless and worn-out hulks. There are many wrecks along the Jersey coast, especially in the vicinity of Capes Henlopen and Henry. They are drifting with the current of the Gulf stream to the northward, and will soon be in the path of the ocean greyhounds. Not a single derelict has been towed into port for a year.

Five boys while playing on the beach at Southampton, England, found a bomb embedded in the sand. They did not know what it was and began playing with it, tossing it from one to the other and rolling it along the shore. While they were engaged in this sport the bomb exploded and pieces of it flew in every direction. One of the boys was instantly killed and the other four will die.

A Christmas Greeting.

Those who wish to select a Christmas Souvenir to send to friends abroad could not make a more fitting choice than the Christmas Number of The Dominion Illustrated, which will be out in ample time and which will be the most beautiful and interesting purely Canadian publication ever issued. The supplements, the illustrations, the stories, poems and sketches are all Canadian and will cheer the heart of many a one who cannot come to Canada for Christmas, but who will gladly welcome such a Christmas greeting.

The Best Yet.

DEAR SIRS,—My mother was attacked with inflammation of the lungs which left her very weak and never free from cold, till at last she got a very severe cold and cough. She resolved to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and, on so doing, found it did her more good than any other medicine she ever tried.
