

Moncton.

Tuesday, 15th.—Quite a little flurry was noticeable at the I. C. R. works Friday, when it became known that a car containing a corpse, that of a lady who died in St. John of malignant diphtheria, and en route to Shediac for burial, was detained at the station, owing to an accident, and sent into the shop for repairs. The men ordered to do the necessary work refused, while others left the building; after considerable difficulty the break was adjusted and the infectious car removed.

About midnight Friday night the usual quiet was disturbed by an alarm of fire from box 6, which, like an alarm rung in during the day, was maliciously false. At three o'clock Saturday morning another alarm disturbed the quietude, and the lumbering firemen awoke to a sense of immediate duty, as three buildings in one locality were burning briskly, illuminating the entire city. The firemen worked energetically, but at a disadvantage, owing to the absence of Chief Ackman, who was from town. The fires were unquestionably of incendiary origin, the continuance of the rascals' fiendish conduct will be injurious to the best interests of the people, and a discredit to the city.

A journalistic tramp has been spending a breezy vacation in town, cultivating the acquaintance of our hospitable citizens, including the marshal, who knowing him to be a stranger, "took him in."

Mr. H. C. Charters, formerly a dry goods merchant in this city, now permanently situated in Bridgeport, N. S., is in the city visiting friends.

Among the prominent men who are out of town are Messrs Geo. Ackman, W. J. Wetmore, D. C. Sullivan, and Peter McSweeney, the two former in Boston, the latter gentlemen in Montreal.

Mr. & Mrs. Geo. Willet are again ensconced in their city residence, having spent the summer at Shediac.

Miss Taylor is absent in Boston. She was much missed at tennis Saturday, Miss Taylor, like her brother, is an expert player, usually considered the best stroke on the court.

Mr. G. W. Babbitt of St. John began his engagement with the bank of Nova Scotia Saturday, he fills the vacancy made by the death of the late Ernest Olive.

A party of Shediac ladies and gentlemen have chartered the steamer Arbutus and will picnic at "the rocks" to-morrow.

Weather showery.

SILLY BILLY.

All the Signs Point to a Cold Winter.

NORWICH, Sept. 6.—Said the Connecticut weather prophet to-day: "Its going to be a cold, hard, tough winter. You can back up that assertion with lots of evidence. Every sign confirms the prediction, except the goose bone, perhaps, and its not time to kill the goose yet and see what its breast bone says. In the first place there never was so big a nut crop since Connecticut was settled, and that sign denotes that nut-eating animals are going to need a big supply of food before the winter is past. Then if you go into the corn field you will observe that the husks on the ears are extraordinarily thick, and that, also, means lots of cold weather right ahead. Moreover, there are a dozen other signs, not so important when considered singly, but when taken together go to prove that we are in for an old fashioned winter."

A Question of Bread.

The substitution of wheat for rye as the material for making bread in Germany, made necessary by the Russian ukase against the exportation of rye, is undoubtedly destined to cause a good deal of annoyance among the German people, if, indeed, it does not temporarily affect their health. Schwarzbrot, or black bread, is even more generally accepted, as the staff of life in Germany than oatmeal has been in Scotland, and the consternation of the Scottish family over the prospect of having to subsist on wheat bread instead of oatmeal will be recalled by the readers of Scott's novels. That the habit of eating black bread is thoroughly fixed among the Germans is further demonstrated by the fact that Germans in America insist upon being supplied with rye bread, even when bread made from wheat was within their reach.

The Weather and Crops.

The weather has been stormy and broken, with a preponderance of wet. The heavy rains which have fallen have done considerable damage to the wheat and barley crops, and the colder temperature has prevented any great advance towards ripening. The position of Great Britain and Ireland, however, is not so bad as on some continental countries, where crops which have been out are standing among rain showers. From Hungary come reports of the sprouting of the grain, and the most dismal predictions are made of the extent of the French harvest. In the present uncertain state of weather the next series of reports which are due in a few days are looked forward to with interest, as it is doubtful whether the advance which June brought will have been maintained during July. The reports on the attack on the turnip crop which the government are collecting will also be most keenly perused.—Irish paper.

The Exhibition.

Arrangements have been made whereby the stalls at Moosepath, which were erected by the exhibition association last year, will be open for the use of stock raisers wishing to exhibit their horses during the time of the exhibition, either for sale or otherwise. This is done particularly to bring all the animals possible before the representative of the Horse Guards, who will be there with a view to reporting upon the adaptability of the horses for remounts for the British cavalry, etc., as shown by the following letter:

HEAD-QUARTERS' OFFICE,
HALIFAX, 4th September, 1891.
SIR—It having been represented to the secretary of war that a horse fair and sale is to be held at St. John, New Brunswick, on the 23rd inst. and following days, Col. Goldie, chief staff officer in this command and remount agent for British North America, has been selected by his royal highness the commander in chief to report on the horses which will be exhibited on the above occasion, and on the capability generally of New Brunswick to supply horses suitable for army purposes, their quality, size, cost, the numbers in which procurable, the best season for purchasing and shipping to England, etc., etc.

I have therefore the honor to request that you will be so good as to afford Colonel Goldie, who will arrive at St. John on the 22nd inst., every facility in your power for carrying out his duties and to render him every assistance you can in obtaining the information called for by the secretary of state of war.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) J. ROSS.

General commanding in Dominion of Canada.

His Honor the Lieut. Governor of New Brunswick, St. John, N. B.

There will not be any charge for stalls or entries, but each exhibitor will have to pay for the fodder his exhibit may consume; also for such bedding as may be required, and take entire charge of his own animals. Arrangements have been made for providing fodder and bedding at low prices. Regular entries are not required, but it will be necessary for parties intending to send stock to notify either J. A. S. Mott, secretary to the agricultural society, or Ira Cornwall, secretary to the exhibition association, at the earliest moment possible, in order that stalls may be reserved either in the city or in the grounds at Moosepath. Quite a number of stalls have been offered by citizens for use in the city.

Admirable arrangements have been made for cheap rates upon animals sent to the city during the exhibition, as will be seen by the following extract from a circular issued by the Intercolonial railway, and the same instructions have been issued to the agents of all other railways and steamers connecting with St. John.

All livestock, merchandise, implements, etc., intended for exhibition as above set forth, will be conveyed on the line of the Intercolonial railway, including eastern and Cape Breton sections, to St. John, and returned to the points of shipment, at single tariff rates, provided they remain the property of the original owners. The freight charges must be prepaid, and receipts will be given for the same. These receipts, with certificate from the secretary of the exhibition to the effect that the property has not changed hands, must be produced when shipped on the return journey to entitle the original owner to have the property returned free of charge. The above arrangement will take effect on the 13th September, and remain in force until ten (10) days after the close of the exhibition. Traffic shipped in the same car by different owners must be way-billed separately, and charged at tariff rates.

The above arrangements will also apply to shipments from Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways over Intercolonial railway. Men in charge of livestock, in less than car loads will obtain tickets in accordance with arrangement made by passenger department. Exhibits of all kinds are carried subject to general conditions of transport.

Russian Poles.

Among the second class passengers on the Taymouth Castle to this port yesterday were eleven Russian Poles. It seems these people first went to Buenos Ayres, but, being unable to obtain work there, they walked to Demerara, and from there went to Barbadoes. Some persons residing in the latter place, wishing to get clear of them, started a subscription fund and secured sufficient money to pay their passage to this port, and put them on board the Taymouth castle. The captain was informed that they had money, but such is not the case.

There is a law in this country to prevent such people in destitute circumstances from coming here. A boarding house keeper provided them with lodgings last night and breakfast this morning. Mr. Samuel Gardiner, emigration agent, has telegraphed to Ottawa for instructions as to what he should do with them.—Gazette.

A Provoking Woman.

He had married her for her money, and their domestic life was not the most harmonious.

"I was sold when I married you," he said to her one day in a tone of disappointment.

"Possibly," she replied very quietly; "possibly. I wouldn't undertake to say; but if you were, dear, you haven't realized any cash on the sale yet, have you?"

He picked up his hat for answer, and went out where he could take a long breath.—Detroit Free Press.

In felling a big tree at Ivoryton village in the Connecticut valley, the other day, the woodman drove his axe into a big round stone exactly in the heart of it. With difficulty he exhumed the rock, which weighed thirty of forty pounds. How the stone got into the tree trunk is a mystery to all the farmers who have noted the phenomenon. Still more curious is the fact that the stone had not effected tree's growth.

K. B. FORBES.

M. Janssen, the French savant who is endeavoring to establish an observatory on the summit of Mont Blanc, will find it rather difficult to carry out his very laudable project. M. Infeld, the Swiss engineer whom he has employed on the work, writes to say that the weather is awful on Mont Blanc, and that he realizes only with the greatest difficulty that he is in August and not in mid-winter. Some of the workmen have had their feet frozen, and the others only have been retained through a promise of higher wages. The spot occupied by the engineer and his men is swept daily by violent snowstorms, and they have been utterly unable to get near the summit of the mountain.

A well-known chemist announces as a result of numerous experiments that the lather from a bit of common soap will instantly reduce the swelling and remove the pain from a mosquito bite. The remedy is so cheap that it will pay the afflicted person to give it a trial.
