

Sam Small Mauled.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—Rev. Sam W. Small, the well-known evangelist, was assaulted here to-day by Tom Miner, a saloon proprietor who has been made the object of harsh criticism by Small.

Several days ago, in a public speech, Small attacked Miner personally, stating that to sell pop-skull liquor he was neglecting his wife and children and leaving them in want. When Small went into the barber shop to-day to get shaved, Miner accosted him.

"Do you know who I am, sir?" asked Miner. Small replied that he did not. Miner gave him a name and then attacked the evangelist, broke his eyeglasses and knocked out one of his front teeth. By-standers separated them, and the trouble ended.

Mr. Small says it was simply the brutal attack of a thug, and if he had expected it he would have been fully prepared. He was not hurt enough to prevent his appearance at the rally at Prohibition Hall to-night, where he made a speech vigorously assailing the liquor traffic and saloon keepers. Miner says that Small's assault on him several days ago was outrageously unjust to himself and family.

Not in Demand in England.

The ancient ceremony of nominating high sheriffs of counties for the ensuing year took place Thursday at the royal courts of justice. The office of high sheriff is a very dignified one, but fearfully expensive. No salary attaches to it, and the holder has to spend much money to maintain his dignity. Everybody seeks to avoid it, and the crown has to use gentle compulsion to fill it in each county. Lots of magistrates sent excuses, mostly pleading ill health or poverty. One asked to be exempted because he was "the youngest son of a younger son and of small means," another because he was dependent on a small income of his wife's property, had eleven children, whom he sent to the cheapest school in the country and frequently had to borrow money from his bank, and so on.

Mystery of the American Lakes.

Lake Erie is only sixty or seventy feet deep; but Lake Ontario, which is 592 feet deep, is 220 feet below the tide level of the ocean, or as low as most parts of the gulf of St. Lawrence; but the bottoms of lakes Huron, Michigan, and Superior, although their surface is so much higher, are all, from their vast depth, on a level with the bottom of Ontario. Now, as the discharge through the river Detroit, after allowing for the probable portion carried off by evaporation, does not appear by any means equal to the quantity of water which the three upper great lakes receive, it has been conjectured that a subterranean river may run from Lake Superior by the Huron to Lake Ontario. This conjecture is by no means improbable, and accounts for the singular fact that salmon and herring are caught in all the lakes communicating with the St. Lawrence, but in no others. As the Falls of Niagara must have always existed, it would puzzle naturalists to say how these fish got into the upper lakes without some such subterranean river; moreover, any periodical obstruction of the river would furnish a not improbable solution of the mysterious flux and reflux of the lakes.

Going 7,000 Miles to Wed.

Thursday, Miss Hibbert, of Yarmouth, purchased at Digby the first through ticket ever issued at that station to a person going to Hong Kong. The lady came by the Bay of Fundy steamer to St. John, where she took the C. P. R. for Vancouver, thence to Hong Kong by steamer. She is due at Hong Kong on the 10th of December, on which day she is to wed Captain Brown, of Hantsport, but who is now in charge of the docks at Hong Kong. The particulars of the case are a bit romantic. Miss Hibbert visited Hong Kong early last summer with her father. There she met Captain Brown for the first time. She promised to return in the fall and marry him and she has kept her word.

The hog is fed on food that alone is sufficient to kill it, and it is not surprising that the loss is so large. A will barrel placed in the sun, foul in odor, alive with parasites, insects and disease germs, is made the receptacle of the food of hogs, which is more or less poisonous by chemical action. When clean and wholesome food only is given the hogs, there will be fewer complaints of so-called hog cholera.

At Titchfield, Eng., complaint was made against a woman that she was ill-treating her children. A summons was issued ordering her to appear at the Titchfield assizes to answer the charge made against her. The woman was infuriated when the summons was served upon her, and declared that no court in England could compel her to answer the summons. She then re-entered the apartments and calling her three female children about her, killed them by cutting their throats. She then cut her own throat. She still lives, but it is thought she will die.

Senor Mendonca, Brazilian minister at Washington, has received a cablegram from the Brazilian minister of foreign relations dated Rio, Nov. 14th. It affirms that complete tranquility reigns in all states except Rio Grande, where conflicts, provoked by local politics, occurred, with which, in virtue of the constitution, the federal government could not interfere. It denies all rumors of secession and says the idea is condemned by all Brazilians. It affirms that no state thinks of seceding, and denies that the members dissolved congress. Thus far the government has taken no violent measures.

The term mother country is used to signify one's native country, but the term applies especially to England, in relation to America and the colonies. The inhabitants of North America, Australia etc., are for the most part descendants of English parents, and therefore England may be termed the mother country. The Germans call their native country fatherland.

For oyster macaroni, wash and boil one quarter of a pound of macaroni; when done line a baking dish with it, then add a layer of bread-crumbs, seasoned with butter, salt and pepper, next a layer of oysters, letting the last layer be of bread-crumbs. Pour on one glass of milk and place in the oven.

Miss Maggie Clark, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Anderson, Kensington, P. E. Island, drowned herself in a pond near the Anderson house a few days ago.

Charlottetown Examiner: A sad case of drowning is reported from North Cape, P. E. I. Stephen Cahil, a young and highly respected resident of Kildare, in returning from a business trip to New Brunswick in a schooner owned and commanded by Captain Miller, of Tignish, entered a dory which the schooner was towing at her stern, and which required some attention to be made secure. In the act of putting matters right he fell out of the dory and was drowned. The schooner was several miles to the westward of North Cape when the fatal accident occurred, and sailing along to a smart breeze. The captain and small boy on board were helpless to render assistance. Young Cahil belonged to one of the most respectable families in Kildare.

Hundreds of persons are dying daily from influenza in the famine stricken districts and in the large towns in the south of Russia.

According to a newly published medical theory, the influenza, which is again on its way westward in Europe, has its germ in Russia, being propagated in the churches where the atmosphere is "breathed over and over again thousands of times by the dirtiest and most distressed people in Europe." Whether the theory is correct or not, there is no doubt that foul air propagates the germs of all contagious diseases. Why human beings should have such a fear of pure air and not of disease is a mystery in other countries besides Russia.

The best thing for swollen hands or feet, is Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; soothing. Try it.

It looks like a water famine in New York. There is now less than eight days' supply in the reservoirs, and the city will then be entirely dependent on the daily flow of the Croton river, which, however, has now fallen so low that not more than 25,000,000 gallons can be depended upon, while the daily consumption under ordinary conditions is 140,000,000 gallons. In view of the serious outlook, the most rigorous measures have been taken by the public authorities to stop waste. Street sprinkling has been abandoned, the use of private hose has been prohibited, and the fire companies may use no water except when actually engaged in extinguishing fires. It seems a little remarkable that after the expenditure of millions for a new aqueduct, adequate storage basins have not been supplied to meet a crisis like this. This has not been done, however, and, unless rain comes speedily, the city must endure the consequences of her neglect.

In the case of Yorke vs. Canada Atlantic Steamship Company in the Supreme Court at Halifax, the jury returned a verdict of $1,500 in favor of Yorke. He brought an action of $10,000 for the loss of his wife, who died from the effects of falling into the company's dock owing to the wharf not having sufficient lights. The company intend to appeal.

Too Important.

A reasonable degree of self-confidence is almost essential to one's comfort and efficiency, but if a man has a very exalted opinion of his own abilities, he will do well to keep it to himself.

An exchange relates that a certain dry goods clerk was in the habit of saying to his associates that the concern would find it pretty hard to get along without him. These remarks came to the ears of the senior partner, and he called the clerk into the inner office.

"Mr. Jenkins," he began, "you have been very efficient and we highly appreciate your services, but we have heard it said that if you were to die the business could not possibly survive the loss. This has worried us a great deal, for you, like all the rest of us, are liable to drop off suddenly."

"We have concluded, therefore, for our peace of mind, to experiment while we are both in good health, and see if the concern can bear up under your loss. You will accordingly consider yourself dead for one year, and we will try and get on without you for that length of time."

Gents.—My daughter had a severe cold and injured her spine so she could not walk, and suffered very much. I called in our family physician; he pronounced it inflammation of the spine and recommended MINARD'S LINIMENT to be used freely. 3 bottles cured her. I have used your MINARD'S LINIMENT for a broken breast; it reduced the inflammation and cured me in ten days.
