The Girls of Ninety-One

They tell me 'twas the fashion,
Oh, long and long ago,
For girls to look like lilies white,
And sit at home and sew.
Forth strode their sturdy brothers
On many a gallant quest;
But the maids behind the lattice
Their weary souls possessed.

To-day the times have altered,
And pretty Kate and Nell
Are playing merry tennis—
In south they do it well.
They ride across the country,
They climb the mountain-side,
And with ears that feather lightly,
Along the river glide.

If they've not been to college,
They are going by and by,
To shake the tree of knowledge,
Though its branches touch the sky.
For all their Greek and Latin,
And pouring over books,
With faces smooth as satin,
They keep their dainty looks.

Do you want a happy comrade,
In study or in fun?
Be sure you'll find her quickly
Mid the girls of ninety-one.
She'll keep that bright head steady,
Unharm'd in any whirl,
And not a lad will love her less
Because she is a girl.

Superstition takes some very peculiar forms in Hawaii. For instance, some of the natives believe that if they cross the threshold of the royal palace with the left foot first, a train of bad luck will follow them in some way either in health or business. The average Hawaiian would as soon welcome the sight of an ocean of hot lava pouring over the country from Mauna Loa as to see a foreign warship anchor in the great harbor. The natives believe a warship brings bad luck.

ALL SORTS.

Only one man in 203 is over six feet in height.

There is a doctor by the name of Miller in nearly every town in Missouri.

Chicago has 2,048 miles of streets, four times as many as New York.

Nearly four-fifths of the sugar plantations of Hawaii are owned by Americans.

The Colorado cliff dwellers are said by scientists to have existed ten thousand years ago.

From the American aloe tree is made thread, ropes, cables, paper, clothing, soap, sugar and brandy.

A hen turkey in Morris county, Penn., has produced an egg a day for 115 days consecutively.

After a brief and unaccountable illness a horse in Sherman County, Mich., died. The stomach was opened, and in it was found a half bushel of sand.

San Francisco is to have a miniature model of the Brooklyn Bridge. It will span the main driveway in Golden Gate Park.

A rooster struts around Carnesville, Ga., with the aid of a wooden leg. He lost one of his limbs by an accident.

Under the new law in Georgia, when a doctor is convicted of drunkenness he can no longer practice medicine in that state.

Railway schools for children of railway employes are maintained by the railway companies in India, at a very small expense to the pupils.

Late developments in electro photography indicate it may be possible to take photographs of views located many miles from the camera.

The majority of recent calculations of the sun's pace place it at about forty miles per second, or nearly three thousand times as fast as an express train.

It has been estimated recently by a shoe man that the people of the United States spend $450,000,000 annually for shoes.

Lord Salisbury has made twenty-one new peers since he has been in office, besides raising the rank of several more.

A Kansas man has been compelled to pay a fine of fifty dollars for kissing the hand of a beautiful lady who objected to the familiarity.

More railroad trains pass Clapham, a suburb of London, than any other station in the world. Between 7 a. m. and 10 p. m. fully one thousand trains pass—an average of one in every fifty-four seconds.

Thomas Walker of National City, Cal., exhibited ten big onions, the product of his farm, in the San Diego chamber of commerce a few days ago. The largest onion weighed five pounds, and the aggregate weight was twenty-four pounds.

It is said that between Madagascar and the coast of India there are 16,000 islands only 600 of which are inhabited. A man can support a family in luxury without working more than twenty-five days in a year, nature does so much.

A church in an Arkansas town has this legend in conspicuous letter in the rear of and a little to the right of the pulpit: "The Lord will Provide." To the left and equally conspicuous, is the request: "Please do not spit on the floor."

A canal to cost $45,000,000, and which will connect Manchester, England, with the sea, is about three-fourths completed. Its length will be 32½ miles; depth 26 ft; width at the bottom, 120 feet; width at the surface, 230 feet.

White roses can be converted into blue ones by watering the trees during the winter months with a solution of Prussian blue. If you desire to have them green, water them with a solution of sulphate of copper.

For many years Robert James, aged seventy, of Blue Lick, Ind., has been blind. Several days ago his wife was taken dangerously ill, and in his distress he wept incessantly. Suddenly his sight came back to him, and now he sees as well as ever.

One of the latest developments of western civilization is a club of young women in Moberly, Mo., who have organized a ten cent bank, into which they put a dime every time they are kissed, the dime very appropriately being contributed by the kisser.

A curiosity has been found in Washington. It consists of a very large wooden horn grafted in the base of a tree. It has been in that position for years, as the tree has grown around it so as to get such a grip on it that cutting the wood away is the only means of separating the two.

The cigarette shaped bullets which were used by the insurgent army in the battle near Valparaiso, and proved so destructive to Balmeada's forces, have great penetrating power. In some cases the bullets passed through one man and lodged in the soldier behind him, killing both.

The largest steam shovel in the world is digging out phosphate in the mines at St. John's Island, near Charleston, S. C. Its weight is fifty-six tons. It can dig to a depth of ten feet below its track and to a distance of forty-five feet on either side. The dipper which can swing through two-thirds of a circle, has a capacity of one and three-fourths cubic yards, and about two dippers full can be handled in a minute.

Fashion Notes.

Necklaces are coming into fashion. Seal-skin plush will be considerably worn later on.

Black chiffon frills are worn with white dresses.

Diagonal or serpentine stripes are a Parisian fad just now.

Beads and metal fringe from 4½ to 18 inches in depth are used as trimmings.

Nothing will be as standard in colors as brown for fall and winter dress goods.

Dress goods fabrics are now made in which scallops are woven in the material itself.

Sleeves are put in as high on the shoulders as ever, and are made very full about the top.

Flannelettes will be much used in England for drapery goods the coming fall and winter.

In Paris waistcoats are now being substituted for the prevalent loose chemisette or blouse.

Rough fancy cloths promise to be very fashionable throughout the autumn for long cloaks and mantles.

Jackets, which have been worn rather plain of late, are for the next few months to be heavily laden with gimp arabesques, richly braided or embroidered.

What Women Should Know.

That benzoin is an excellent polish for the finger nails.

That vaseline taken a half a tea spoonful at a time, cures a cold.

That superfluous hairs may be made less plainly visible by bleaching them.

That an excellent beautifier for the complexion is a hot water bath, followed up by dabs of eau de cologne upon the face.

That people who are unable to sleep after drinking tea or coffee find that they can enjoy the sweetest kind of repose after drinking cocoa.

That a mixture of tincture of benzoin and rosewater is an excellent remedy for tightening the skin where it is inclined to form wrinkles.

That a change in the weather will often cause disagreeable spots upon the complexion in summer. The remedy may often be found in simple, cooling drinks.

That the hands may be kept from perspiring by powdering them with finely pulverized starch perfumed with orris root or sandalwood powder or anything else that may be preferred.

Founded on Fiction.

"Hist!" grated the Boy Avenger to his dog; "I hear a voice walking this way!" The faithful dog histed.

"If we are seen we shall all be discovered," continued the Avenger thoughtfully.

At that moment nine Indians, led by Old-Fourteen-Stomachs, charged up the glen. The faithful dog slipped his pipe into his pocket and drew a bead on the foremost, and one after another, four red demons bit the dust.

To his horror, the Boy Avenger found that there was but one cartridge in his rifle. But he was able for the occasion, and, thrusting the steel ramrod into the weapon, he fired full at the necks of the remaining Indians, who were advancing in single file. The ramrod pierced their necks and strung them up like eels on a stick.

When all was still again, the Boy Avenger turned and thanked the faithful dog for his bravery.

"Aw! That wasn't nothin'!" returned the intelligent animal modestly; "you jest ort to see me durin' the Custer campaign!"

The brusque and fussy impulse of these days of false impression would rate down all as worthless because one is unworthy. As if there were no notes in sunbeams! Or comets among stars! Or cataracts in peaceful rivers! Because one remedy professes to do what it never was adapted to do, are all remedies worthless! Because one doctor lets his patient die, are all humbugs? It requires a fine eye and a finer brain to discriminate—to draw the differential line.

"They say" that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have cured thousands.

"They say" for a weak system there's nothing better than the "Discovery," and that the "Favorite Prescription" is the hope of debilitated, feeble women who need a restorative tonic and bracing nerve. And here's the proof—

Try one or both. If they don't help you, tell the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., and you get your money back again.

The royalties from Moody and Sank-ey's famous "Gospel Hymns" have amounted to $1,200,000, every penny of which has gone to charitable purposes.

Four masked men entered a jewelry store at Spokane Falls, and covering the clerks with revolvers took twenty-four watches and $2,000 from the safe and escaped.

Mayor McShane has entered a fifty thousand dollar action against the Toronto Empire for stating he had shared in the alleged Quebec court house boodle.
