merly a millionaire, and the last member

A Voice from Grangeville.
Mr. Editor—Can you tell me what has become of the by-road appropriation for this parish. Is Mr. Blair holding it back till he sees how the election goes? Or is the public chest entirely empty? If it is not used this month it might as well go into his election fund; it might then do a few individuals some good, but it would not alter the verdict of the people to any great extent. I see by the Miramichi Advance, which was mailed to me, an attack on Mr. J. D. Phinney. As far as my observations go, Mr. Phinney is both useful to the county and an ornament judging by the way he answered Mr. Smith in your last issue. I might observe that any literature of that kind is entirely thrown away by being sent here. I consider that Mr. Phinney is the best English representative we have had for many years, and I believe would conscientiously look after the interests of friends as well as foes to the best of his ability. I think that is the opinion and sentiment of the people of this place.
And now I will close hoping you will find room in your columns for this bit of scribbling, I remain yours, etc., No. 100.
Grangeville, Kent Co., Aug. 17.

Moncton.
August 18th, 1891.—The Blair-Weldon wedding on Tuesday was, as it had been promised, the most brilliant of the season, and brought Moncton's "four hundred" out en masse. Seldom has St. George's church seated a more fashionable audience.
The bride, who is a rarely pretty girl, was gowned in white corded silk, and looked as if she belonged to some forgotten age of romance, or had stepped out of some ancient picture into the unreserved glare of the 19th century. She was given away by her brother, Mr. James D. Weldon, of Shediac. Her bridesmaids, Miss Harris, of Moncton, and Miss Blair, of Chatham, sister of the groom, moved up the aisle with graceful stateliness, and looked han-some in modish gowns of rose pink heraldine. The maids of honor, little Misses Weldon and Ryan, were attired in pink and white, and carried floral baskets of the same colors, a pretty innovation. Mr.
Whitehead, of Halifax, was best man, and he, with the ushers, Messrs. W. W. Weir, E. W. Jarvis, J. H. Higgins, A. W. Boyd, A. E. Taylor and J. F. Grant, made a notable group of handsome men, and discharged the duties of their important function with praiseworthy efficiency.
After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. E. B. Hooper, assisted by the Rev. Canon Forsythe, of Chatham, a reception was given at the bride's home, where the festivities lasted until the departure of the C. P. R. express, when the happy pair started for a tour through Nova Scotia. Showers of rice and the customary slippers, as the train moved out, made a position on the platform an unenviable one. Mr. Blair is accountant in the Bank of Montreal in this city.

Arrangements have been perfected with the Chicago female base ball team, the champion ball tossers of the world, for a game with the Victorias this afternoon.
To the disappointment of the many admirers of the game, the association have refused the use of their grounds and the exhibition which is truly moral, but looked upon by so many as disreputable will be given on the common. The frenzied gossip of our goody, goody people together with the admiration evinced by the frisky bloods has created unbounded curiosity and it is safe to predict, judging from the demand for seats in advance, that the pavilion which is being erected while I write will not contain the curious throng. The divinely spouseless athletes, from the city of pork stabbers, are said to "take their bases" with considerable dexterity. They understand the different systems thoroughly, when the umpire calls a foul ball, they swoop down on him with sympathetic emotion, the result if not satisfactory is at least amusing.
Should the afternoon be favorable, with sufficient zephyr to fan their kilted skirts, the spectacular novelty will be a bona-fide success.

The Pacific express better known as the "dude" express from the fact that it carries the dude populace out of town every afternoon, to Poi t in Chene whither they go to enjoy a sea l sh is still largely patronized. Some of the boys have acquired very nautical airs the result of their frequent visits to the sea shore.
A moonlight excursion on the harbour last night was enjoyed by as large a crowd as the Arbutus will carry.
The weather, as Mark Twain says has been overhauled and regulated and will not need repairing for some time.

Mr. W. R. Johnson, assignee of the estate of George Lewis, has disposed of the bankrupt stock to two private parties, and as business will not be resumed in the Lewis store, we count one store less; however I hear we are to have an additional bar room, so I suppose we must not grumble. Trade in some lines is flourishing, and we ought to be satisfied,

I suppose. Mr. Wallace Hopper's Comedy Company appear in the Masonic Hall, to-night in the comedy drama "Reclaimed." Their chances for a large audience are speculative, I fear, for their admission prices are far too high for a small town.
Classes were resumed in the different schools to-day. Miss Meahan looks much better after her visit to Boston, and Miss Elhatton's trip to Caraquet has improved her looks very decidedly.
Mr. Thomas Kearney, for many years collector of taxes, died on Saturday, after a long illness.
The failure of the firm of Messrs. J. P. and H. C. Read of Clifton, has effected our small commercial world, especially the break was entirely unexpected.
There are a great many visitors in town just now; but so many of our own people are spending the summer months from home, that there is little to report in society.
Mr. K. F. Burns, our M. P., arrived home on Saturday. PAUL VASHER.

Treat Them All Alike.
MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—The Star, says, "If Canada is not to be ruined morally and financially by the bad example and rascally practices of her public men, Canadians of all sections and of all political parties must unite and insist upon the immediate purification of both the Dominion and Quebec governments. The protestations of the Conservative organs of the good intentions of the Cabinet amount to nothing, in view of the desperate and frantic efforts of the ministers to screen each other. The resort to legal quibbles, the demand for specific charges, the great aversion to 'Fishing for evidences' are all highly characteristic of the Hon. John C. Abbott's methods of holding such investigations, but they are not characteristic of men really anxious to get at the whole truth and a good deal of fishing for evidence has been allowed in the Senate investigations into the Baie de Chaleur scandal. All that the ministers object to is fishing for evidence in Conservative waters."

At Campbellton, on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Lacasse's family while driving over the lower railway crossing, were run into by a special train. The horse was killed and the carriage completely demolished. There were six occupants, and all were more or less injured. One child had her arm cut off above the elbow and another had her collar bone fractured.
