The eccentricities of fate are curiously and painfully illustrated in the experience of a Mr. Yarrington, who has recently become very much disheartened. He was at work in Johnstown when the big dam broke. The flood washed away all his earthly possessions and one of his children was drowned. He then moved to Arizona and was getting along successfully, when another flood carried away everything he had and drowned another child. Once more he removed, and he fixed upon a spot in the Indian Territory, where he thought he was beyond the reach of disaster. But a third time a flood swept through the town and he was beggared. Moreover, he lost a third child by drowning. He is almost crazed with grief at these repeated bereavements and losses.

Election Card!

To the Electors of the County of Kent, GENTLEMEN :-

O. J. LeBlanc, M. P. P., having accepted a nomination for the late election for the Commons, his seat in the House of Assembly has thereby become vacant and you will soon be again called upon to elect a member to represent you at Fredericton.

The large vote (1203) which I received at the election in January, 1890, (when I was comparatively unknown in some sections of the County) with the solicitations and encouragements I have lately had from a very large number of you, induce me to again offer you my services. I have since that election continued to represent my Board, and have been honoured with an unanimous election as Warden of the Council, I have therefore become more intimately acquainted with the business and people of the County, and have confidence thas I can faithfully serve your interests in the higher position to which I aspire. If honored with a majority of your votes my chief aim will be to advance the interests of my native County, and for this purpose I will be prepared to favor all legislation, no matter by whom introduced which in my judgment may tend in tha

Your local wants with reference to roads and bridges shall not be overlooked by me, and I will do my utmost to secure for Kent a fair share of public money.

I therefore solicit the active support of all who so generously assisted me in my former contest, as well as all others who are are now willing to trust the representation of the County in my hands.

I will endeavor to make a thorough canvass of the County, and trust to have the pleasure of explaining my views to a large number of the electors.

Again soliciting your votes and support I am, gentlemen, Your obedient servant, JOHN B. GOGAIN.
