Abrum's Trip to Buctouche and Ba k in Fourteen Hours and Fortytwo Minutes.

The Emperor of Germany has sat down on and flattened out the old school system of his country; he has ordered his people to study up their lessons, and learn about Germany past and present, especially the present. He thinks one live language is better than ten dead languages. He says for military purposes it makes no earthly difference whether William Tell knocked the apple off his son's head, or young Tell's hair stood on end with fear and pushed it off. He says from a German standpoint it don't matter whether Leander swam the Hellespont, or paddled over in a dug-out; he would likely do the same amount of lying to his girl in either case. And after considering all things new and old under the sun, William has concluded Germany plenty good enough for any German.

Now, Mr. Editor, I endorse William's sentiments, at 1 if the paper is made payable, here, I an ready to write my name square across he face of his conclusions. The Empero believes in Germany in general and Berlin in particular; I believe in Canada in general and the county of Kent, N. B., in particular; hence the similarity, so to speak. Are we not a free people, and do just as we like? yea, more than we like. Have we not hills and valleys and beautiful rivers? Do we not pay taxes and curse the assessors, the same as other folki? Do we not grumble about the weather, the same as other people? Are we not all politicians, the same as other people? yea, verily, we are just the same, and more so. Do we not have the same franchis law, and the same system of political lying as other people? yea, just the same. Have we not a political history? Have we not an agricultural history? Have we not a social history? Have we seven and three-quarter inches deep, board river and drowned itself.

by the Morrel field when David was pelt- hungry; I told her if she would give me ing stones at Goliah? Where was Nabal a drink of milk I would let her pray for when his pretty and affectionate young me; she said her mother-in-law had sent wife rested her beautiful little curls and her some fresh buttermilk, which she gave crimps on David's broad and youthful me, and when I had drunk several pints bosom ; pleading with him not to go and of it, and considered her very great kindkill the old man; but he died all the same ness, I felt, as it were, too full for utterpoor old fellow, and the sad event did not ance, but, mastering my feelings, I said, seem to debilitate his charming young lady, I am a poor orphan building up an widow very much either; but, as I told honest name so I can get credit sufficient Mrs. Abrum, when that other pretty little to go into insolvency, and when I widow, Mrs. Uriah, some few years after, get through, even though I should find with her bonnet basket waltzed up to myself worth half a million dollars, you David's to board, Abigail wouldn't likely can depend upon it I will not let pride feel so unanimous.

and the bulls and bears of New York, lady, adieu; she lifted the corner of her when that little country bull had charge apron and brushed away a tear, and said of St. John, New Brunswick, for three farewell; and I went on my way, and oh, solid hours, standard time? Where was how I longed for the millenium to come, J. A. Balcom when the cashier of the when all mothers-in-law would be good bank counted and handed over to some and kind, like unto that lady's motherperson or persons, the sum of four hun- in-law. dred and twenty-five dollars, all cash? Where was truth, when that infernal lying old Theysay declared the McDonald government was buried under two million feet of solid snow, packed down and jumped on. Where was loyalty, when fifty thousand people left the United States, and settled in old Nova Scotia, where the English flag was waving, and where free bread was baking; they were a peaceable cople, not constitutionally or otherwise given to fighting, especially otherwise, and whose descendants may be seen and heard even to this day, yea in this very County of Kent.

Doubtless, Mr. Editor, you will not consider this last question vitally identithat peace loving old refugee stock, hence my curiosity; see. Now, sir, Kent for Kenters is ay beacon star. If any man is seized with an unflinching desire to travel, let him take the over land route to that nestling and picturesque town of Buctouche. The route admits of five modes of conveyance; one can go with his own horse; a hired horse; by mail stage; foot it; or walk it; which ever is most seemly so to do. For various reasons I chose the latter mode of conveyance. Now Mrs. Abrum would and did argue that walking it and footing it were one and the same thing, but as I told her, discussing this question was as different again as discussing religion or politics; they being speculative so to speak, while walking is entirely operative, as it were; and could only be discussed from a standpoint of experience and furthermore I said, Mrs. Abrum will you say eating and drinking is one and the tion, she just laid her hand on my shoulder one year for only one dollar. and in the calmest and most confidential manner said, Abrum did you ever see a man eat himself drunk? I made up my mind there and then it was no use to try and convince a woman, and I went out to the barn, and I just felt like giving the calf a good kicking.

But, to resume my journey, my business being urgent, I made all haste, and passed the many beautiful scenes and interesting spots with my eyes shut, as it were. I carried my census book under my arm; it seemed very heavy; I thought perhaps it was owing to so much age being condensed into such small numbers as were recorded in the book, and I wondered if the scapegoat felt his load as heavy, when he carried all the lies and sins of the children of Israel out into the wilderness. My, my, how the world changes. If they lived in these days, they could press them up into bundles on the same principle the Sackville christians bundle up their hay; they could just throw in a few long and tough old Pharisaical prayers to make a kind of shell, and then fill it up with all kinds of cussedness, and ship the whole thing off to the benighted heathen, to show them the moral beauties and benefits of Christian civilization.

when the squeaking crank of an old draw well aroused me from my pensiveness, and looking up I observed a lady drawing water, like Rebecca of old; I went near and said, lady, I am a wayfaring man, and though a fool, I do not wish to err, but I have a longing desire to see the old oaken bucket hanging in the well; she said she was sorry, but it was a new bucket; the old one leaked so badly they had to get a new one made. I asked was the old bucnot a romantic history? We do not say ket anywhere near, that I might see it; Richibucto is as old as Damascus, but at she said she believed it had got broken up. the same time, we would ask, what is the I said, pardon me, kind lady, is there no matter with our antiquity? Is Mars' hill part of that bucket you could show me; any older than Kouchibouguac or Black she said she thought not. I then asked if River hills? let Mr. Chalmers answer that | she had any piece of antiquity or bric-a-brac question in his next geographical report of she could show me, even to see her grand-New Brunswick. Where, I ask, was mother would have a tendency to allay Leonidas, and the Pass of Thermopylæ, my excited, antiquated spirit. She said when that great ice cake successfully held | there was an old pig trough; said I, where, every pass on this vast northern continent, kind lady, oh where? She pointed it out including the Richibucto beaches. Did to me, and I stood beside it and deeply Leonidas ever secure and hold a railway meditated. Oh, how fresh and vivid it pass? no sir, he never had sufficient brought to my memory the pig I bought political influence to obtain one. SHELBURNE, May 8-The Budget publishes the following confession under the heading "one hundred dollars reward:" "Some months ago two young ladies called at our office and stated that a young married couple in their locality wished us to insert in this paper a notice of their marriage. We made a memorandum of the names of the parties, of the officiating clergyman, and places, and date. The notice appeared accordingly. But it was soon discovered that no such marriage had taken place. The statement made by the young ladies was entirely false. We fied with the destinies of this county, pro thought of some severe measures which nor con, but my wife is a descendant of might be a lesson to the offenders, but, as they were very nice young ladies, we finally concluded to let the offence pass unpunished. Two or three weeks ago we received a communication under the heading of Churchover, which had the name of a responsible party appended in the usual way. It now appears that the name given us was a forgery. The fraudulent action of the writer of that article was a cause of annoyance to the parties to whom it referred, and was an imposition upon us. We propose to pay $100 reward for the discovery of the offender who committed the forgery, and for his or her imprisonment, conviction in the court, and incarceration in the Dorchester penitentiary. We are glad to get correspondence for our paper, but the articles sent should not be written for malicious or fraudulent

Peters' Mills, Kent County, N. B. Election Card!

To the Electors of the County of Kent,

GENTLEMEN :-O. J. LeBlanc, M. P. P., having accepted a nomination for the late election for the Commons, his seat in the House of Assembly has thereby become vacant and you will soon be again called upon to elect a member to represent you at Fredericton. The large vote (1203) which I received at the election in January, 1890, (when I was comparatively unknown in some sections of the County) with the solicitations and encouragements I have lately had from a very large number of you, induce me to again offer you my services. I have since that election continued to represent my own parish (St Marys) at the Municipal Board, and have been honoured with an unanimous election as Warden of the Council, I have therefore become more intimately acquainted with the business and people of the County, and have confidence thas I can faithfully serve your interests in the higher position to which I aspire.

If honored with a majority of your votes my chief aim will be to advance the interests of my native County, and for this purpose I will be prepared to favor all which in my judgment may tend in tha direction.

Your local wants with reference to roads and bridges shall not be overlooked by me, and I will do my utmost to secure for Kent a fair share of public money.

all who so generously assisted me in my former contest, as well as all others who are are now willing to trust the representation of the County in my hands.

I will endeavor to make a thorough canvass of the County, and trust to have the pleasure of explaining my views to a large number of the electors.

Again soliciting your votes and support I am, gentlemen, Your obedient servant,

JOHN B. GOGAIN.
