THE OTHER SCALE NOW GOING DOWN.

A few years ago we used to hear a great deal about an exodus said to be going on from the Canadian Northwest to the U. S. Northwest. Farmers were flocking, it was said, from Manitoba to the Dakotas, North and South; while from other parts of Canada, a tide of emigrants, it was declared, was flowing strongly into Kansas. No doubt much exaggeration was indulged in on these points. But, whatever amount of truth the statements contained, the opposite scale is now descending. Migration from the Dakotas and from Kansas into the Canadian Northwest is now going on. So promising is the situation for an outflow of solid settlers from the Dakotas that Canadian agents are actively operating in them to direct the movement toward Manitoba. The prospect is alarming the classes in the Dakotas most deeply interested in the settlement of their country; and they are showing their feelings plainly to the Canadians at work in promoting the migration. We hear of one Canadian agent being ridden on a rail out of one district in which he had been working with effect. The tar and feathers part of the ceremony, however, seems to have been omitted. We read of other agents of the same sort being solemnly warned by vigilance committees to take an early departure to their own land or elsewhere. We read of indignation meetings called in some localities to denounce parties engaged in the work of alluring citizens from the land underlying the stars and the stripes to soil over which the British flag flutters.

What is the meaning of all this? The meaning is two-fold. It means first that the Canadian Northwest is a better country to live in than Kansas and the Dakotas. The soil is upon the whole better. The climate is decidedly better. Troubles are severest south of the boundary line. Cyclones are destructive and frequent there. North of the boundary, cyclones are scarcely known. A first rate blizzard is a rare visitant on the Canadian prairies. South of the boundary, it comes often and stays long. The Canadian Northwest is, in the main, the better watered country. Its happy combination of deeply frozen ground in winter with timely rains in the late spring, with long hot days followed by cool nights in summer, and with bright, clear, dry weather in the autumn on a soil in the highest degree fertile, renders the Canadian North West, perhaps, the finest wheat growing country in the world. The Jamaica people have lately been regaled to their astonishment and delight on bread, biscuit and cakes made before their eyes from flour manufactured from Manitoba wheat.

In the second place the migration and its attendant circumstances noted means that the superiority of the soil and climate north of the boundary in the great west is being brought home to the people of the States now being deserted. The movement may be expected to gather strength and go on. The change shown is agreeable to Canuck vision.

THE ENSILAGE SYSTEM.

The scarcity of fodder so painfully felt in some parts of Canada this season is likely to have good results in promoting the development of the ensilage system. That system has passed its trial stage most successfully. Under that system one acre of land may be made more productive of nutritious cattle food than three or four acres bearing an average hay crop; and the food is vastly more wholesome, more milk and flesh-producing than hay. Milch cows are in clover in its use. Silos for the storage of ensilage are easily and cheaply made. Reasonable care only is required in the manipulation of the crops.

Considering the facts established in the case, it is wonderful that the ensilage system is not in universal use among our farmers. They should everywhere wake up. Let them ponder these considerations: There is a practically unlimited market accessible for cheese and butter, of first rate quality. Some breeds of cattle are vastly more fruitful in milk production than others. A greatly larger number of cows can be kept at work at full power on ensilage than on hay during a large portion of the year. A large ensilage fed stock means an abundant manure supply, and such supply means a greatly enriched farm. From all this, does it not appear the interest of the farmer to get around him the best milk-producing cattle in the world, to provide for himself a capacious frost and air proof silo, to cram that silo full of carefully prepared ensilage, to give his cattle a plentiful food supply throughout the long winter, to make from the milk of his cows the very best sorts of butter and cheese, and to pack them for market in the best possible fashion. There is money in this business manifestly. Why should not all our farmers get a good share of it?

All good Canadians must hope that the negotiations presently to be opened on behalf of Canada at Washington on the reciprocity question may prove successful. A fair settlement between the two countries of all the questions in dispute—the trade question, the seal question, the eastern fishery question is extremely desirable. But we do not feel sanguine of the early attainment of such a settlement. The most discouraging fact apparent bearing on the matter is that United States politicians have thus far never treated these questions simply on their merits. Their objects and motives have been alike political.

More is probably to be expected on the trade question from a rectification of the United States tariff than from any reciprocity negotiations that may be undertaken.

Church Meeting.

The annual meeting of the parishioners of St. Mary's church, was held on Monday the 30th day of March being Easter Monday. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Rev. H. Hackenly. The church wardens, Messrs. Hudson and Smith, submitted their reports which were found to be very satisfactory showing the finances of the church to be in a healthy condition and on motion the retiring wardens were tendered the thanks of the parishioners for the able and efficient manner in which they had fulfilled the duties of their office during the past year. The parishioners expressed much regret that Mr. Oswald Smith, the rector's warden, was about to sever his connection with the church. In the retirement of Mr. Smith the church loses one of its most zealous and painstaking members who was ready and willing at all times to do all in his power to advance the interest of the church whose welfare he had so deeply at heart, and wherever Mr. Smith's lot may be cast he will carry with him the best wishes of the rector, church wardens, vestrymen and parishioners of St. Mary's church. A good citizen, a zealous churchman, and a right jolly good fellow is about to sever his connection with us which we regret very much.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year.

Church wardens—Wm. Hudson, J. H. Abbot.

Vestrymen—Charles J. Sayre, Robert Hutchinson, Q. C., David Palmer, W. A. D. Steven, J. M. Upham Bliss, Allan Hains, Thomas Dickenson, J. F. Atkinson, Dominique Percy, John Stevenson, Jonathan Forster, W. A. P. Rhodes.

Delegates to synod—John Stevenson, W. A. D. Steven. Substitutes—David Palmer, J. M. Upham Bliss.

Vestry clerk—J. M. Upham Bliss. Sidesmen—J. M. Upham Bliss, John Stevenson, W. A. D. Steven for Richibucto. Jonathan Forster, David Palmer for Kingston.

Auditors—John Stevenson, W. A. D. Steven.

Organists—Miss Hannah, St. Mary's church, Richibucto; Miss Dickenson, St. John's church, Kingston.

Sexton—Mr. Cochrane, Richibucto; Mr. Forster, Kingston.

A vote of thanks was tendered the rector for the able and efficient manner in which he had conducted the business of the meeting.

Fire broke out at Amherst at 3 o'clock Friday morning in Robb's foundry, which was destroyed last fall. The boiler shop, being the only building saved at the first fire, and the moulding shop lately built, with its valuable contents, including hundreds of patterns, were all destroyed in 20 minutes after the alarm. The fire is supposed to have caught from the forge in the blacksmith shop. The loss is supposed to be from $7,000 to $10,000, and the insurance on the buildings and stock destroyed is about $1,300 in the Eastern Insurance Co.

The court of appeals at Toronto has dismissed the appeal of the Canadian Pacific railway from the verdict rendered against it in the court for $250,000 in favor of contractors Conmee and McLennan, who constructed the Lake Superior section of the road.

Fire was discovered in the livery stables of Harry Phillips at an early hour Saturday morning, and before it could be snuffed sixteen valuable horses were burned to death. A large number of carriages were also consumed.

Thirty bodies were recovered from the "Utopia" wreck on Thursday; so far 130 bodies have been buried on shore and 179 at sea.

A new form of drunkenness, the ginger habit, has, it is said, become already prevalent in Philadelphia and other communities in the United States. It is taken in the form of tincture of ginger and is, it is stated, worse, because more rapid in its effects, than the ordinary liquor habit.

Two sailors, Savage and Beaton, were standing on a scaffolding at work on the side of the steamer Amarynthia, at Halifax, Thursday. Ice was being taken aboard on a gangway above when one of the large blocks fell and, striking the scaffolding below, precipitated the two men into the water. Savage sank and was drowned, but Beaton was rescued.
