das in the County of Kent, on Friday, the thirteenth day of February, next, at the hour of two in the afternoon, pursuant to the directions of a decretal order of the Supreme Court in Equity made on the first day of November, A. D. 1890 in a cause therein pending wherein Edward J. Smith is plaintiff and Raphael Casey, Richard Casey, Philip Casey, Adèle Casey, Alvina Casey, Marie

Rose Casey, Marguerite Casey, Colette Casey, Maximilien also called Myrta Casey, Maximilien Maillet and Euphémie his wife, George Leger and Euphémie his wife, Philippe LeBlanc and Esther his wife, Jacques Poirier, Bazeline Poirier and Adeline Casey are defendants with the approbation of the undersigned Referee in Equity the decretal order as follows:—All that parcel of land situated at Casey Cape in the County of Kent and bounded on the north by lands formerly owned by Belony White, on the south and west by lands formerly occupied by Anthony Casey, on the east by the sea shore, containing about thirty acres, being all the land said Francis Casey purchased from Thomas E. Smith and Belony Casey.

Second piece being on the east side of the Grand Digue road and adjoining the marsh, being about eight acres, which was deeded to said Francis Casey by his late father Joseph Casey and the heirs of the late Placide Poirier. Also a third piece or parcel of land situated as above stated in said County of Kent and being the southern half fronting on to rear of lot of land on which the said

Francis Casey formerly resided being deeded to him by his late father Jo Casey containing fifty acres together with the buildings, erections and improvements thereon.

HENRY H. JAMES,

Referee in Equity in and for the County of Kent.

POIRIER & MCGILL,

Plaintiff's Solicitor.

The Irrepressible.

A cross-eyed man in a long linen ulster and a tall hat rang the bell, and when the woman of the house opened the door, she was satisfied he had an eye to the spoons (the straight eye), so she snapped:

"Well, what do you want?"

"Madam, be calm," said the cross-eyed man, in a smooth voice.

"What for?" she queried, suspiciously.

"Madam," said the cross-eyed man,

"have you a child?"

"Yes, I have," replied the woman:

"what of it?"

"A little girl?" queried the cross-eyed man.

"No, a boy," returned the woman.

"Of course—a boy," repeated the cross-eyed man; "a young boy—not very old?"

"About that age," said the woman;

"what about him?"

"Madam, do not get excited," pursued the cross-eyed man; "be brave and calm."

"Mercy on me!" exclaimed the woman, in surprise; "what's the matter?"

"Gently, gently," said the cross-eyed man, in a soothing manner; "restrain yourself. Did not that little boy go out to play this morning?"

"Yes, yes," said the woman, excitedly;

"what—why—is there anything the matter?"

"Is there not a railroad track crosses the next street?" queried the cross-eyed man, in a solemn voice.

"Yes, oh yes," ejaculated the woman, in great fear; "oh, tell me what has happened! what—"

"Be calm," interrupted the cross-eyed man, soothingly; "be brave—keep cool—for your child's sake."

"Oh, what is it, what is it?" wailed the woman wildly; "I knew it—I feared it.

Tell me the worst, quick! Is my child—where is my darling boy?"

"Madam," replied the cross-eyed man, gently, "I but this moment saw a little boy playing upon the railroad track; as I looked upon him he seemed to be—"

"Oh, dear! oh, dear!" screamed the woman, wringing her hands; "tell me the worst. Is he—"

"He seemed to be daubing himself with oil," continued the cross-eyed man, quickly drawing a bottle from his pocket, "and I've got here the best thing in the world—

Lightning Grease Eradicator—only twenty-five cents a bottle, warranted."

There was a broom standing behind the door, and with one blow she knocked his tall hat over his eyes, and with another waved him over the steps and through the gate. And as the cross-eyed man moved swiftly up the street, she shook the broom at him, looking for all the world like an ancient god of mythology with a passion-distorted face and highly excited red arms.

Fins on His Feet.

Billy Barber, sole owner of Barber's

Raft, on Wolf's Pond, Sullivan county,

N. Y., has a peculiar habit of going barefooted the year round, and it is said that he has never had on a pair of boots, shoes or socks.

It is claimed that Barber was found on a raft up in "Old Sullivan" on a cold November day thirty-eight years ago, when he was about ten days old. Billy had not a particle of clothing on at that time, and how he came to be on the raft no one could ever find out. It has been suggested that, Jonah-like, he was cast out upon the raft by a big pickerel. This looks almost plausible, for exposure has caused fin-like appendages to grow out of the sides of his pedal extremities just like the fins on a pickerel, and between the toes he is webbed somewhat like a duck.

When he was found young Barber was taken in, cared for and reared to manhood by a poor but kind hearted Sullivan county fisherman. He has never been away from home in his life, or seen a locomotive or steamboat or heard the tinkle of a telephone bell. He cares for nothing but fishing, and summer and winter you can find him on the pond either on his raft or the ice.

During the present winter this peculiar character can be seen daily standing on the ice bare-footed watching his tip-ups, and he is having a fine run of luck since the new year opened.

A Boston business house, in a recent circular letter, says: Under the new tariff the customs authorities at Washington have issued a circular stating that all goods imported into the United States after March 1st, 1891, must have the name of the country from which they are imported placed on each package, whether barrel, box, crate, case, or bag. This applies to every barrel of fish, bag of potatoes, crate of lobsters or berries, and packages of salmon, halibut, etc., etc. To comply with the law and enable the goods to be entered at the custom house from the provinces, they must each and all have the name "Canada" in stencil or other indelible mark on every package.
