Deputy Sheriffs Pour a Murderous Fire into a Mob of Pennsylvania Workmen. PITTSBURG, Pa. April 2.—A desperate battle is reported between strikers and armed guards at Morewood. This morning at 8 o'clock three or four hundred strikers approached the works of the H. C. Frieck coke company, and began to batter down the gates. When ordered to desist they fired on the deputy sheriffs, slightly wounding several. The latter replied with their Remingtons and killed seven rioters instantly, while many were wounded. The guards fired two volleys before the rioters retreated. Previous to the raid the rioters had cut the telegraph and telephone wires. The deputies who took part in the riot were all experienced men and were armed to the teeth. Last night Superintendent Pickfid summoned his deputies and told them that a raid was contemplated on the works. He presented each man with a Winchester rifle and cartridges, and drilled them in the use of the weapon, and ordered them on duty. When they were retiring Superintendent Pickfid said: "I will be in command, and I have promised protection to onr men, and I must give it to them. When the raiders come obey me. Fire the first shot into the air. If the raiders do not retreat fire a second shot and keep on firing while you have ammunition. Protect the company's property, protect the men at work and protect your own lives. The man in my employ who runs I will shoot dead on the spot. Any man who is not willing to accept my terms will please drop into the rear and I will send him home under guard." No one dropped back. It is said miners were prepared to blow up the mine at Morewood. Some of the strikers say to-day they had no intention of doing any damage; they simply marched to the works to intimidate those ed at the coal brook works, just south of the J. W. Rainey works. The governor has ordered the Tenth regiment to aid the sheriff of Westmorland county in quelling the trouble in the coke region. The Eighteenth regiment of this city has been ordered to hold itself in readiness. special from Scottdale says the dead men were carried into the company's store. At Morewood the strikers demanded the bodies of the victims but were refused and the place is now surrounded by an armed mob of over 2,000 men, who say they will burn everything on the premises unless the dead bodies are given up. The feeling here is very bitter among the workmen who strongly denounce the action of the deputies. A Greensburg, Pa., special says at 9 o'clock another attack was attempted and three more killed; 25 of the rioters were wounded in this last scuffle. The story is not yet confirmed from Morewood,

What Girls talk About.

"What do girls talk about," I asked one of them, "at their luncheons and during the calls upon each other?"

"Well," she replied, "there are usually two subjects of conversation at gatherings of girls, and they are about equally prolific. One of them is the men, and the other is girls who do not happen to be present. We discuss the men of our acquaintance from every possible point of view, exchange confidences that have been made to us, criticise them with unrestricted freedom, and wonder which of them want to marry, and what kind of girls they prefer. Sometimes we are rather sharp in our criticisms, but on the whole the men get out rather easily. But when it comes to other girls-my "What do you mean by that?"

"Mean that no mercy is shown. For example, we take up some poor unfortunate who isn't with us, and go through the pleasant operation known as picking her to pieces. We discuss her costumes, her complexion, her manners, her sayings her tastes, and by the time we have got through with her the C. eator wou dn't recognize his work. Then we start on some other girl."

"But have you many enemies of this

"Enemies? Bless your innocent soul, I haven't an enemy in the world. I love my neighbor as myself."

"You surely don't intend to convey the impression to my mind that these girls whose characters you discuss in that cannibalistic way are friends of yours?" "Why, certainly. For instance, on the south side the other day we were all talking, at 5 o'clock tea, and having a simply a delightful time picking Maria Jones to pieces. Just in the middle of it all Maria came in. Was she greeted coldly? Well hardly. We all embraced her, gave her a seat near the fire and changed the subject of conversation to Annie Smith. And how Maria did go for her, to be sure ?"-Chicago Post.

Stirring Up Strife. One morning, says a traveller in Java, was standing by a small lake fed by one of the rills from the moantains. Stretching its limbs over this pond was a gigantic teak tree, and ingits thick shining evergreen leaves lay a hugh boa, in an easy coil, evidently taking his morning nap. Above him was a powerful ape of the baboon species-a leering race of scamps, always bent on mischief.

The ape saw a crocodile rise to the surface of the water, just beneath the teak limb where lay the serpent. Quick as thought he jumped plump upon the boa which fell with a splash into the water who were at work. The trouble is expect- just in front of the crocodile. The ape saved himself by clinging to the limb of the tree; but a battle royal immediately began in the water.

The crocodile had fixed its jaws in the snake, which made the water boil by its furious contortions. Winding its folds round and round the body of his antagonist, the boa disabled his hinder legs, and by his contractions made the scales and bones of his enemy crack.

Over and over the combatants rolled, neither being able to obtain a decided and again frisked away. Peshaps ten minutes passed, and the noise of the conflict began to fade into silence. The folds of the serpent were relaxing, and though they trembled along the back, the head hung lifeless in the water. The crocodile also was dead.

The close of the examination of the records of the alleged New Orleans assassins discloses the fact that all but four of the 11 slain were registered voters either by birth or naturalization. The four whom Consul Corte claims are entitled to the protection of the Italian government are Trahina, Bagnetto, Monasterio and Comitz The first-named was a voter in the parish of St. Charles. Bagnetto is a proven fugitive from Palermo and a member of the Esposito band of highwaymen. Monasterio fled from Palermo while charged with murdering a female. Trahina was a robber in Sicily. Of Comitz nobody seems to know anything.
