Mr. Blair in an interview reported in the St. John Telegraph, denies that he wrote to Father Pelletier, of St. Louis, a letter touching on the religious questions affecting schools in this province. We are reliably informed that Father Pelletier stated to his congregation from the pulpit on the Sunday before the election, that he had received such a letter from the attorney-general. It remains to be seen who is telling the truth in the mat-

magnificent one and THE REVIEW offers its hearty congratulations to the victors.

Throughout the province the result has hardly been satisfactory to either party. The government has apparently secured a therefore very much surprised when he majority of the assembly, but nearly all the best men of the party have been defeated. The greatest surprise was the defeat of the attorney-general in York. The defeat of three of the opposition candidates in Westmorland was also unexpected, but while the government has secured a majority in the country districts, the commercial and business centres of the province went emphatically against it, and without Mr Blair in the house the party is almost sure to go to pieces.

We were sorry to hear Mr. Legere on declaration day make such a violent and abusive attack on THE REVIEW; as we before said, we find no fault with Mr. Legere and Mr. Barnes, personally. We however, deemed it our duty to criticize their political course, and point out to the electors of the county their political faults. We have nothing o'clock p. m. but the kindliest feeling towards these two gentlemen personally and we hope that when their present feeling of disappointment wears away they will look at matters from a common sense standpoint.

Messrs. Phinney and Gogain were there-

Mr. Gogain said it was the happiest him a magnificent vote. His own friends had done the same to Mr. Phinney, and he felt sure that the French and English electors of the county could always count on the utmost good faith on the part of each other. He also addressed the electors in French, returning thanks for the large vote he had got.

Mr. Legere said he stood before them as a defeated candidate. He said he had done a great deal for the county, and he thought the people were ungrateful. He had confidently believed that he would be elected. He had received a majority of nearly 800 only a year ago, and he could not see why the people should change their verdict. His friends everywhere had said to him, "Legere your election is sure. You will lead the poll." He was learned of his defeat. The government, however, still existed and he would have the patronage of the county. THE REVIEW, he claimed, had contributed largely to his defeat. His language towards this paper was very bitter.

Mr. Barnes said that nearly 1300 of the voters of Kent had said they had confidence in hin, though THE REVIEW had stated he was almost unknown. He said he had done his best to win, and had only the best of feelings toward his victorious opponents.

After a vote of thanks had been tendered the sheriff the proceedings closed.
