ANOTHER GREAT MAN FALLEN.

On Saturday night last, Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, the eminent Baptist minister of London, died.

He will be sorely missed by a large circle of admiring friends.

He was a typical Englishman, possessing and displaying the finest qualities of his race.

He was frank, courageous, enduring and eminently practical.

He was one of the finest instruments ever used by mortal man.

His working power was marvellous. He did a great work, and wielded great influence.

For almost two generations he was a celebrity of world-wide fame.

He exercised magic sway over the largest regularly assembling congregation in the world; and he was held in admiration by millions of men differing from him on important religious questions.

The effect of his labors is likely to prove enduring, but it is doubtful whether the place made vacant by his death can be fully filled again.

RECENT BYE-ELECTIONS.

The Dominion government has been fortunate in recent bye-elections, held since our last issue.

It was painfully exercised as to the possible result in Kingston, but its candidate came off victorious from the struggle there, with more than the average majority, excluding the abnormal majority of Sir John A. last March.

In Halton, its standard bearer won with an unexpectedly large majority.

Cum berland, on Saturday last, went the whole figure for the government candidate—said figure being a round thousand plus some fractions.

In Laval, Quebec, on Saturday, government won by acclamation, the Mercier candidate having backed out the night before.

Since then several other bye-elections have been held concerning which at the moment of writing we have no intelligence.

It seems now certain, what at the outset appeared probable, that the general result of the bye-elections will rather enlarge than diminish the government majority in the House of Commons.

The fact will prove a terrible disappointment to the Dominion opposition.

THE FUDGE ABOUT THE FLAG.

It is reported that an absurd display of feeling took place at Bridgeport on Sunday, on the appearance of the Union Jack alone on the mast of a St. John schooner, entering the harbor of that place.

A crowd backed by a squad of militia flocked round the vessel, in question as she entered her berth, and demanded the lowering of the obnoxious flag, threatening to pull it down themselves otherwise.

The story runs that the captain of the vessel refused to touch the flag, and, revolver in hand, menaced with death the man who should dare attempt to lower it.

If the story is not a hoax the whole exhibition was discreditably to all concerned. The extreme touchiness of the Bridgeport crowd was absurd in a high degree.

They might have borne in mind that their fathers for centuries lived and died under that old red cross flag, and might easily have tolerated it.

THEIR LEGALITY TO BE TESTED.

The Dominion government proposes to test the legality of the license fees which the Newfoundland government exacted from Canadian fishermen in 1890.

Canadian fishermen, paying said fees, are therefore asked to recite their experiences in the matter to nearest collectors of customs.

THE QUEEN'S LETTER.

A letter written by the Queen, expressing in touching terms her gratitude for the wide manifestation of sympathy evoked by the death of her grandson, heir presumptive to the throne, has appeared in the British journals.

THE FINDS OF THE COMMISSION.

The scandal commission last week made some notable finds, of the sort previously unearthed.

The general conclusion forced on one by a study of the evidence brought to light is, that the Mercier government from the hour of its accession to the last moment possible preyed on the provincial treasury unsparingly, sometimes for party benefit, sometimes for personal profit.

Harcourt Notes.

There has been upwards of fifty cases of la grippe in this section of the county lately, and owing to the skilful attention of Dr. Keith, no deaths have occurred, although a number of his patients were very low for some time.

We are sorry to state that the Rev. F. A. Wightman was not able to fill his appointments last Sabbath, owing to a severe attack of la grippe.

H. M. Buckley has been removed from being night agent here to that of day agent at Coal Branch Station, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Fred Sayre, who has been appointed to the office of Registrar of Deeds and Mortgages for the county, and Harry Wilson has succeeded Mr. Buckley as night agent here.

Miller's Extract Factory has resumed operations, and both men and teams arduously taking advantage of the snow, although there is not enough for good hauling, still they are anxious to get the logs off the yards in case the hauling should give out early.

There has been large quantities of oats bought here this season by the Salmon River lumbermen who pay cash.

Although a change was predicted in the staff of teachers for our school here during the present term, we are pleased to state that the school still remains under the control of Mr. J. N. Wathen, as principal, and Miss Lizzie Buckley in charge of the primary department.

Kingston Notes.

From all quarters come accounts of the ravages of la grippe. Mr. John Wright, of Main River, is very ill and but little hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Mrs. Robert Burgess is also quite ill, and so is Mrs. O'Leary. Miss Nina Glencross is reported improving.

C. C. Carlyle is about closing for the manufacture of his newly patented engine with the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. of Ontario.

This is the firm that furnished the machinery for the McLeod mill in Richibucto, and has no superiors as engine builders on the continent.

Prof. E. G. Becket says of the Carlyle engine: It appears to have solved one of the problems that have been perplexing steam engineers for a half century.

That is to govern the engine directly by the load. It is the intention of the firm to begin the manufacture at once.

A very pleasant evening was spent at Mr. Hutchinson's by some of our young people Monday evening.

Willie is a prime favorite among the young ladies. It might be he may not go back alone.

Mr. Watters, of Moncton, with Mr. George Irving were here on a visit, and seemed to enjoy themselves. Come again, we shall be glad to see you.

Newspaper Laws.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers order a discontinuance of their periodicals, the publishers may continue to send them until arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect to take the periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible till they have settled up their bill and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places, without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Ex: At the session of a criminal court just closed in New Brunswick a young woman was sent two years to the penitentiary for stealing, and another got three years for stealing.

Possibly they were servants, and in stealing betrayed a trust, but that is not alleged. It is curious that we have never heard anything about gaol or penitentiary or any of that sort of thing for the men who have been stealing money by the hundred thousand dollars from the public treasuries.

In their case there is no doubt about the betrayal of a trust. In almost every case it is "robbery by a servant." It is an everyday occurrence in Canada to hear of poor people getting years and years in the penitentiary for stealing a few dollars' worth of trumpery, but it would be startling indeed to hear of a hundred thousand dollar thief getting there at all.

THE WORLD OVER.

Many women are seeking the cure for intemperance at the Keely institute, and on a recent week over 150 were numbered among the inmates.

Thos. Bell, for many years manager of Bradstreet's commercial agency, suicided Saturday evening at his residence in Montreal. He cut his throat and died shortly afterward.

Theophile Leonard, of Montreal, aged 45, who has been ailing for some days, committed suicide by throwing himself head foremost into a well in the barnyard. He was discovered soon after, but life was extinct.

Unlike all other dyspepsia medicines K. D. C. is not a cure-all or a laxative but is a purifier and healer of the stomach. The seat of nine-tenths of all diseases. For restoring the stomach to a healthy action it is especially prepared.

Dr. Foster, of Bridgewater, recently took from a son of Daniel Rafuse, of Conquer Bank, a tape worm which exceeded 40 feet in length. The Enterprise says young Rafuse ate 8 pounds of beefsteak at a single meal and was still hungry.

The Hebrews of Montana, particularly in Helena, are collecting funds and making general arrangements to settle Russian-Hebrew refugees in Montana. The proposition is to work in harmony, if not in connection, with the Baron Hirsch scheme.

At Virden, Manitoba, on the 18th inst. the thermometer was fifty below zero. Two young men—John and Henry Smith—left on the previous day to look after some lost cattle. Both men were frozen to death. They belonged to Shelburne, Nova Scotia.

Henry G. Dowd, known as "Jack the Slasher," charged with cutting drunken men's throats at New York, was acquitted on the ground of insanity at the time of the commission of the crime. Judge Fitzgerald committed Dowd to the state insane asylum at Auburn.

At Truro, N. S., J. J. Smith, an oil agent of Cleveland, Ohio, hanged himself on Saturday night. He showed signs of heavy drinking, but gave no evidence of low spirits. When found in his room he was suspended by a towel from the bedpost his knees barely touching the floor.

On December 22, in the convent of the Good Shepherd, Quebec, Sister Agnes Bourque died of influenza. Sister Agnes was 28 years of age and was formerly a resident of Moncton. She was a sister of Mr. John Bourque of the I. C. R. round house and of Mrs. John O'Brien, St. John.

At Pollet River, on Wednesday, Gorham Smith, a step-son of Alexander Stiles, met with a bad accident. He was sawing stove wood with a horse-power and circular saw, and slipping fell, one of his hands coming in contact with the saw so badly mangled that it was found necessary to amputate it.

Millions of people are suffering from dyspepsia. Now is the time to be cured. The best dyspepsia medicine ever offered to the public—the world-famous K. D. C.—is now within the reach of all. Do not suffer longer, but ask your druggist for it or send direct to the K. D. C. Company, New Glasgow, N. S.

It is believed the war office in England is contemplating a new department in utilizing the route of the Canadian Pacific Railway. This time it is expected a trial will be made of the suitability of the route for soldiers, and it is not unlikely the regiment at present on foreign service in China will, at the expiration of their time, be returned via Canada.

The Odessa correspondent of the Daily News says hunger and typhus are spreading with alarming rapidity in large towns in that region; all the hospitals are filled and private buildings are being converted into hospitals. Another correspondent at Siason declares that the more fanatical and superstitious portion of the peasantry believe Count Tolstoi is anti-Christ and decline to accept his bounty through fear they will thus commit their souls to perdition.

The annual meeting of the North American Life Assurance Association took place at Toronto, Thursday. It happened to fall on the 70th birthday of the president, Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, ex-premier of Canada, and the directors took the opportunity to heartily congratulate the veteran statesman on the event, and to present him with a substantial token in the shape of a well-filled purse, in recognition of his valuable services to the company since its incorporation.

The solitary saloon at Burlington, Ind., is a wreck. One night this week a crowd of men entered the place and destroyed the establishment, breaking the bottles, damaging whiskey barrels, smashing the mirrors, and breaking up the pool tables. Burlington is in the centre of a strong prohibition settlement. The saloon has been a great eyecore to these people. Three weeks ago they roused the bartender out of bed at midnight and gave him ten minutes to dress and get out of town. He walked twelve miles across the country and has not been seen since.

Stranger Than Fiction.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The facts regarding the sequel of an elopement case so extraordinary in their character as to discount the most imaginative writers of sensational romances have just been made public.

Three months ago at Deptford, a suburb of the metropolis of the Thames, three miles southeast of London Bridge, a couple of rooms in a dainty cottage were taken by a middle-aged man and his daughter, a girl of eighteen. The man, whose name is John McKenna, was out of employment and lived on a few shillings a week his daughter was able to earn at shirt making.

In the beginning of December the girl was seized with influenza and died. McKenna himself was dying with the same disease, when one day a fashionably-dressed lady called at the house and enquired for him. On being ushered into the poverty-stricken room, she fell on her knees beside the sick man's bed, exclaiming, "Oh, Jack, forgive me." The visitor then went to work and devoted herself to nursing the patient carefully until he was well. She then fell ill herself and subsequently died leaving McKenna a fortune of £65,000 ($325,000).

The explanation of the mystery is that the wealthy lady was the wife of McKenna, who had deserted him twenty years before. Her companion took her to Lower California, where he died after having made a fortune. Repenting her transgression, she returned to England just in time to save her husband's life and to render his old age comfortable.
