沿 LAND Chatham.

The weather here this winter is exceptionally clear and mild; the oldest inhabitant being forced to admit that never in his experience has he seen a winter to equal it in these respects.

Times are dull, 'tis true, but the Chathamites are light of heart, and have a way of laughing in the face of adversity that makes their burdens seem light also.

Marriages this season have been few, owing, perhaps, to the hard times; bache lors preferring to "go it alone" a while

Speaking of bachelors reminds me of the ball which was recently held. It was, I am told, a very enjoyab'e affair, and pronounced by many to be the most recherche affair of the season. The bachelors spared no pains to make it a success and were rewarded by the smiles of fifty or more happy looking ladies who graced the festive scene. Excellent music was furnished by McEachern, Stapledon and Harrington, and dancing was kept up till an early hour. The ladies costumes were charming, and most of the gentlemen looked extremely well. One of the bachelors, in particular, was in an unusually happy mood, and wore on this occasion a faultless dress-suit (brand new) and a smile of Upper Canadian manufacture, which though not new, is remarkably well preserved having been worn but little. The supper was everything that could be desired, the tables being loaded with all the delicacies of the season.

Our popular young electrician, Mr. W White, has left for the West, accompanied of the moa. This immense wingless bird, well liked in this community. Rumor now extinct, seems to have been hunted says we shall probably have a visit from Zealand, and is believed to have stood at ing astrong attraction for him; but Sandy good wishes of all their acquaintances.
